HEAVY LOSS OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN SMASHUP OF LIFE BOATS

ADA BIGGS GUILTY OF MURDER, GETS TEN YEAR TERM

Jury at Farmington, Mo., Out 40 Minutes in Trial of Girl for Slaying of Her Stepfather.

SHE TESTIFIED THAT HE ATTACKED HER

Also Threatened Her With Death, She Declares — Former Sweetheart Gives Evidence for Her.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

FARMINGTON, Mo., Nov. 14.—Ten years in the penitentiary is the penalty Ada Biggs must serve for the killing of her stepfather, Bill Simpson. The verdict was returned by a jury in court here today, after brief deliberation.

The jury, which was out 40 minutes, found her guilty of murder in the second degree. Simpson was slain by Ada, who is 20 years old, last July 14.

Four hundred persons filled the big court room today. Prosecuting Attorney Abernathy opened the arguments, declaring that he was only doing his duty and trying to be fair to the girl. He used homely phrases.

"If Ida Lee Biggs killed Bill Simpson," he said, "she deserves to be punished."

In one dramatic phrase, Abernathy said, "out of the blackness of the night there came the thunder of a gun and Bill Simpson was hurled into eternity."

Meanwhile Ada sat impassive, eyeing the prosecutor.

Abernathy pointed out that Ada had not related her story of persistent abuse by Simpson until the trial. He said he always had regarded womanhood as sacred but when "Ada blew Bill Simpson's brains out she lost any claim on you men and became a killer."

Jealous of Stepdaughter.

Simpson was 51 years old and habitually soaked in moonshine whisky. He abused his family, cursed constantly, caused scenes in his home and was exceedingly jealous of Ada, daughter of Mrs. Simpson by a previous marriage. He suffered from locomotor ataxia for which he used the makeshift steam box. He had a ramshackle garage in Bismarck.

Mrs. Simpson, who is 42, and her brother, Oscar Greenwalt, 33, who resided with the family, have been quoted as saying that they were tired of Simpson's treatment. They deny complicity now.

Ada was induced, it is charged, as the best shot, to go outside one Saturday night and pull the shotgun trigger as the family deliverer. Greenwalt and Mrs. Simpson are in jail here awaiting trial on the same charge the girl faces—first degree murder. Their position in the case is somewhat different as the alleged instigators of the shooting.

Pleads Unwritten Law.

Dry-eyed, with tight lips and drooping mouth, Ada related her sordid story late yesterday afternoon before a crowded courtroom in the fine new country courthouse. She pleaded the unwritten law in self justification, declaring that Simpson (she called him Bill) had forced his unwelcome and illicit attentions on her for a year and a half.

Ada is 5 feet 6 inches tall, a bit chubby, with dark simply bobbed hair framing her round face. She addressed the jury calmly, quietly, repressing tears which she said afterward might have been released to the satisfaction of her lawyers. Her frank recital of her shame was given as if she was unaware of the throng of straining, intent spectators. She wore a simple green dress to court and when she went back to jail in custody of a deputy Sheriff she donned a fur-like plush coat and a tan felt hat.

She twisted a yellow handkerchief nervously sometimes. Even when the prosecutor cross-examined her severely she was restrained, and added a "sir" to her

5,000,000 SHARES OF STOCKS SOLD ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

Boom Continues With Frenzied Speculation; Issues Go Up, Then Sag Somewhat.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Frenzied speculation continued on the New York Stock Exchange today, piling up total sales of more than 5,000,000 shares for the fourth time in history.

A wide assortment of specialties were brought forward by the "bull" party in the last hour of trading to counterbalance weakness which cropped out in a few of the old line favorites. American International and Stewart-Warner were tossed up $5 to $9 a share. Sears Roebuck made a gain of $8, only to lose it in profit taking in the last hour.

Radio sagged about $4 and General Motors, General Electric and others about $2. United States Steel, which was taken up by operators for the advance yesterday to steady the market against heavy selling, was again bid up, going into new high ground above $170.

The ticker was hopelessly lost as usual these days, falling behind the trading by an hour.

Dwight F. Davis Announces Lower Mississippi Route Covers Losses of Rest of System.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Operations of the Inland Waterways Corporation for the first nine months of the year were pictured today by Secretary of War Davis as very satisfactory.

While the Warrior River and upper Mississippi divisions have been operating at a loss, he said, the lower Mississippi division has been making money and covering those losses. Operations of the entire system were said to have resulted in a net income of $277,782 in the nine months, compared with $45,507 for the same period a year ago.

The lower Mississippi division netted $540,000 in the nine months compared with $255,000 a year ago; the Warrior River division showed a loss of $65,000, compared with a loss of $173,000, and the upper Mississippi division showed a loss of $198,000. The Warrior River terminal operations showed a net profit of $33,358, compared with a loss of $13,681 a year ago.

WAVES UPSET ONE; ANOTHER STOVE IN BY FALLING DAVIT

Craft With 30 Passengers Washed Overboard, Then Flooded and Capsized by Heavy Seas.

30 KILLED WHEN GEAR COLLAPSED

Two Infants Lost Lives in Launching of Boat No. 6, and Third Was Thrown Into Water.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The story of how many of the women and children aboard the Vestris perished when the ship sank was brought to New York today by Frederick Gill, Negro seaman, who was rescued.

Gill was on duty in lifeboat No. 6, one of the first which the crew of the Vestris attempted to launch. There were almost 30 women and children in that lifeboat, he said.

"They crawled down the side of the ship to get into the lifeboat," he related. "We had orders not to cut the falls oft he boat until he was in the water, because if we did, we'd all drown

Tells How Boat Capsized.

"Finally a big wave washed us overboard and flooded us. We cut the falls then and drifted away from the ship. We were flooded with every wave. Finally two of the air tanks broke away and the boat capsized.

"Before that, two small children had been killed, and another had been washed overboard. One woman was drowned in the boat.

"The boat turned over and over. I saw a raft floating 100 feet away. Pearman, one of the greasers, and I swam over to it. We told three women who were clinging to the edge of our lifeboat to hang on; that we would try to swim back to them with the raft. We couldn't do it, though. The craft kept drifting away from us. When we finally got to the raft, we couldn't see the boat any more.

Floated in Sea Four Hours.

"We floated around for four hours and a half with a steward who joined us. Finally we were picked up by lifeboat No. 3."

George Amsdell, the ship's storekeeper, was a hero, as his comrades saw it. He was in command of the lifeboat that was crushed by a falling davit. Perhaps 30 women and children were said to have lost their lives in that blow.

Amsdell's arm and shoulder were crushed and he lost consciousness. Supported by his life belt, he floated until his senses returned and then he hailed lifeboat No. 5, which took him aboard. One arm dangled useless, but the storekeeper steered the craft without relief until it was picked up hours later.

NAVY'S NEW SEAPLANE BURNS; TWO FLYERS ESCAPE INJURY

Engine of PN-11 Springs Gasoline Leak While on Test Flight Near Washington.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Navy's newest patrol seaplane, the PN-11, was destroyed by fire today near Bellevue, D. C. Its crew, Lieut. S. W. Calloway and Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson landed the machine and escaped injury.

Recently brought here from the naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia, the machine sprung a gasoline leak in its left engine on a test flight. Calloway observed the leak and motioned his companion at the controls to land. As the machine struck the water, the gasoline was ignited by the engine exhaust and flames spread over it.

The flyers managed to beach the plane and escape before the fire got into the cockpit. The PN-12, which holds several load-carrying records.

SAYS IT TOOK TWO HOURS TO LOWER FOUR LIFEBOATS

Vestris Survivor Declares One of These Was Stove in as It Went Down, Two Others Capsized.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—T. E. Mack, a construction engineer from Wyoming, who was on his way to Brazil on the Vestres, today told of the storm preceding the disaster to the vessel.

"The hurricane," he said, "started Sunday at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Soon after there was a decided list of the ship which continued all day. Sunday night the ship started to roll like a bottle and she began to list more and more to the starboard as each hour passed.

"The passengers became nervous. All the paraphernalia on the port side was ripped from their fastenings, but at 6 a. m. Monday, when the sea became calm and the gale died down, the starboard list continued more heavily.

"In fact, the deck was dipping into the sea. Capt. Carey ordered all passengers on deck and ordered that life belts distributed. Then the crew began to lower the lifeboats.

"It took two hours to lower four lifeboats, Nos. 4, 6, 8, 10, and while No. 8 was being lowered she crashed into the side of the ship, stoving in the lifeboat.

Negro Quartermaster Saved 20 Struggling in the Sea After Vestris Went Under Lionel Licorice Jumped Out of Boat to Make Rescues — Only Officer He Can Praise, Says Survivor.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A little Barbadoes Negro, Lionel Licorice, a quartermaster in the Vestris, was hailed today as one of the outstanding heroes of the disaster.

Alfredo Ramos, young Argentine swimming star, who was rescued after swimming and floating 14 hours, said the quartermaster saved 20 lives.

"That little Negro did what the officers of the Vestris failed to do," said Ramos, who was rescued by the American Shipper. "He took charge of boat No. 14 and not only saved the passengers but occasionally jumped out to catch an oar or helpless passenger floating in the water. By the time the American Shipper picked up the boat, he had saved 20 lives.

No Praise for Officers.

"I cannot say that the officers of the Vestris could be praised for their endeavors to save us. The quartermaster was the only member of the crew who exerted himself in our behalf."

Quartermaster Licorice sat unnoticed, swinging his legs on the rail of the American Shipper, until he was introduced to newspaper men by Ramos as a hero of the rescue. He was reticent about his own exploits, but said the Vestris began "taking water" a few hours after it left New York.

"One of the starboard hatch holes was not made fast and water came through it," he said.

Tells of Captain's End.

Definite word of the fate of Capt. William J. Carey, master of the Vestris, was brought today by the rescue ship Berlin. Alfred Duncan, second steward of the Vestris, said he and Carey were standing on the bridge up to a minute or so before it sank. Duncan wore a life belt, but Carey had none. The steward jumped for his life and saw no more of the master.

He and the Captain, he said, were the last to leave the ship.

"We stood by the railing," he said, "and all the lifeboats had gone. We were the last to jump.

"'Jump,' he said.

"'You'd better jump, sir,' I said.

"'Hell, no! You jump!'" he said.

"I jumped then, and I think he jumped after me. But I never saw him again."

He said the ship flopped over on its side and lay there a minute, then slowly disappeared.

Last Saturday's storm, Duncan said, battered in a half door on the side of the Vestris, flooding the coal bunkers and stopping the engines. Early Sunday morning the ship began to list and the crew was ordered to bail with buckets. Passengers did not know just what the trouble was until almost the last minute, Duncan said. The captain ordered everyone on the boat deck.

It was then apparent that the ship was sinking and the order, "take to the boats" was issued.

Found Three Boats Full

George Santanna of New York also told of Carey's disappearance. Santanna asserted he tried to reach three lifeboats but each denied him entrance. He had put on a lifebelt before the ship sank.

"I found myself on the topside," he continued, "alone, save for Captain Carey. He was wearing a heavy topcoat but no lifebelt. The ship began sinking fast. You could feel her going down beneath you.

"Then we went down; it seemed a huge wave was pouring over us and the captain and myself were both in the water. We were drawn down by the suction. I

LEAK OR SHIFTING OF CARGO CAUSED VESSEL TO SINK

Passenger Declares Capt. Carey, Who Went Down With Ship, Was Guilty of "Criminal Neglect" in Delaying S O S Call — Inquiry to Open Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Through the joy over the 220 passengers and sailors saved and sorrow for the 108 lost when the Vestris went down at sea Monday, a strong note of criticism predominated as the survivors reached New York today.

Stories of the weary passengers, some of them slowly recovering after hours in the water, blamed Capt. William J. Carey, Master of the Lamport & Holt liner, who went down with his ship, for the extent of the disaster. Passengers and sailors joined in praising the Captain as a brave sailor while many indicted him on charges of bad seamanship.

The charges against Capt. Carey were that he waited far too long to summon help.

All in position to have knowledge of the facts said that the Captain was on his vessel when she sank, agreeing that he died like a sailor whatever may have been his shortcomings in the time of stress.

The survivors did not know what crippled the ship and an explanation may not be found. Some thought the shifting of the cargo caused the disaster, while others thought the cause was a slight leak, growing greater as the hours went by.

Ship Began to List on Sunday.

The Vestris, bound from New York for South America, was abandoned in a sinking condition 240 miles off the Virginia capes at 1:25 p. m. Monday.

At 4:05 a. m. Tuesday the first of the survivors were rescued by the American Shipper.

Soon after the Vestris sailed from Hoboken, N. J., Saturday afternoon trouble developed. Pumping and bailing went on Sunday morning when the vessel began to list, but no S O S was sent for nearly 24 hours.

If assistance had been summoned a day earlier ships would have been standing by when the boats were launched with the chances against any loss of life, passengers said.

The Vestris sank when only about 80 of its 334 passengers and crew had got away in lifeboats, after two boatloads of women and children had been hurled into the sea, most of them to die, while the rest were leaping from the ship's sides and swimming for their lives lest they be dragged down with the foundering hulk.

Survivors told today that the traditions of the sea had been scrupulously observed as to giving first place in the lifeboats to women and children, but fate had turned gallantry into disaster. And they told an appalling story of inadequate preparation for disaster.

Women and Children Flung Into Sea.

The first two boats were filled with women and children—there were 37 women and 13 children on board—and the crew started to lower away. Then the sinking ship lurched, the boats crashed against its side and women and children were flung into the sea. Reports available today indicate that all the children perished and only 10 of the women were saved.

On the whole, the 125 survivors arriving today on the American Shipper and the 23 on the Berlin agreed that in intention the officers and crew of the Vestris had been beyond criticism, but many of them blamed the Captain, who was lost with his ship, for indecision, which they saw as one principal reason for the large loss of life.

Many passengers said that when the captain did decide to abandon ship, shortly after the first SOS call, the tackle of the lifeboats was found to be faulty. It took hours to lower them, the ones with the women and children crashed, and another was stove in and put away with a gaping hole in its side.

Only two boats were successfully launched, although others broke loose as the ship sank and were caught by swimming survivors. The greater number of passengers and crew had to fling themselves into the water. One man told of seeing the ship sink two minutes after he jumped from the deck and there was a general feeling that others did not jump in time and were carried down.

Most of Crew Saved.

Of those who did get into the water and survive the actual sinking of the ship the majority of those eventually saved were members of the crew, the greatest loss of life being among the passengers. This was thought to have some explanation in the theory that the crew were men accustomed to hard labor, more able to withstand the freezing hours in the waves, and not to any effort on the part of the crew to take positions of comparative safety in the boats rightfully belonging by the law of the sea to the passengers.

Inquiry to Start Tomorrow.

Charles H. Tuttle, United States attorney, stated this afternoon that he would commence an investigation tomorrow afternoon of the wreck of the Vestris.

On the basis of latest reports, the Lamport & Holt Line offices here estimate that 220 persons were saved from the steamer Vestris and that 108 were lost. Eight bodies have been recovered. There were 37 women and 13 children on board.

The American Shipper brought 125 to shore today and the Berlin 23. The Myriam, due tonight, reports 64 on board and the battleship Wyoming saved eight.

Although there were at first thought to be more on board the line's latest information is that there was a total of 328 when the

SURVIVORS TELL OF TERRIFYING EXPERIENCES WHEN SHIP WENT DOWN

STORY OF RESCUE OF 125 TOLD BY STEAMER CAPTAIN

Master of American Shipper Picked Up Five Boat Loads of Survivors of the Vestris.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—This is the story told today by Captain Schuyler Cummings, master of the steamer American Shipper, which brought to port 41 passengers and 84 of the crew of the Vestris.

"On Monday, Nov. 12, at 11:06 a. m.," he said, "we received an S O S from the Vestris and immediately changed our course to the southward and proceeded at utmost speed to the position given. After the S O S attempts were made to get the true position of the Vestris by the use of the radio compass, but signals became so weak that we could not get bearings. We, therefore, had to rely on the position given by the steamer Vestris, and radio positions relayed from shore stations.

"About 7:30 p. m. we arrived at one of the positions given by some shore stations, but nothing was in sight, and we continued on a southerly course to the position given by the Vestris, which was approximately 30 miles south of the radio stations' position. We reached the position given by the Vestris at 10:30 p. m. and immediately sighted a white light which shortly proved to be the masthead light of another searching steamer.

"From 11:08 p. m. until 2 a. m. on Nov. 13 we searched the area where the Vestris was supposed to have gone down, but not finding any wreckage in the area indicated, we decided to extend our search further to the east and south, figuring that the drift of the current might have carried the lifeboats further east.

Rescued Five Boatloads

"This calculation fortunately proved to be correct, and at 3:40 a. m. we saw a flare from a lifeboat almost right ahead, and at 4:05 a. m. we came alongside a lifeboat from which we took 24 survivors. When these survivors were taken aboard no other boats were in sight, but at 4:30 a. m. cries were heard and by using our searchlight we located a lifeboat, No. 1 of the Vestris, and rescued 19 persons.

"It appears that this boat had used up its flares and, therefore, could not signal its position. Shortly after this boat was located another flare was seen toward which we proceeded at full speed, and at 5:15 a. m. arrived alongside lifeboat No. 3, saving all persons on board.

"From 5:30 a. m. until daybreak, about 6:30, nothing further was sighted, and then lifeboats Nos. 10 and 14, and by 7:30 we had taken aboard all the persons in these boats. At this time the radio communication with other searching vessels led us to believe that all the lifeboats which had got away from the Vestris were accounted for, so we decided to continue the search for a life raft or for survivors in life belts.

Cast Adrift Own Boat

"At 9:46 we sighted two persons in the water in life preservers and we lowered our No. 2 lifeboat in charge of Second Officer Ohman. This boat succeeded with considerable difficulty in saving two persons, one of whom proved to be a woman and, it appears, that both these survivors had been in the water since the Vestris sank almost 20 hours previous. In carrying out this rescue it was necessary to cast adrift our own lifeboat, as meantime the sea had greatly increased and there was a possibility of injury to our lifeboat's crew if we attempted to get it aboard."

"During the rest of the forenoon we maneuvered through the wreckage at slow speed, searching it thoroughly for additional survivors, but finding none. The battleship Wyoming and the steamship Berlin also took part in the search. At noon, in view of the fact that several other Government vessels had arrived on the scene, and considering the large number of persons we had on board, some of whom required hospital treatment, I decided to abandon the search and to proceed to New York, where we arrived at 7:30 this morning.

Heroine of the Wreck.

"The following is a list of the injured requiring hospital treatment: Passengers—E. Keiser, amputation of the left hand; E. M. Walcott, fractured ribs; William W. Ulrich, fractured leg; W. W. Davies, acute bronchitis and shock; Miss Henrietta Cubbin, shock

"Crew—Henry Carpenter, fractured leg; George Amsdell, fractured arm; Jean Gladianes, severe lacerations of the hand; Reginald Bannister, lacerations of the foot; John Hogg, fracture of both arms; John Kewn, lacerations of the hands; Lorando Moore, stewardess, shock."

The outstanding heroine of the wreck of the Vestris, in the opinion of Capt. Cummings, was the stewardess of the Vestris (Mrs. Ball), who was the woman referred to as having been taken out of the water after having floated 20 hours. She insisted on the man, who was in the water with her, being taken aboard the ship first, and when she got on board the steamer insisted that she was well enough to stand up.

Captain Blamed for Loss Of Life in Vestris Wreck

Vestris sank, 199 members of the crew and 129 passengers.

Eight Bodies Recovered.

The destroyers Acushent and Tucker are steaming in from the scene of the wreck today with the bodies of eight victims.

All of the bodies are those of men. Four have been identified. They are: Ralph P. Whitehead of Woodstock, N. Y., and Tom Jones, barman on the Vestris, both aboard the Achusnet.

Jose Gonsalvez Rua of New Bedford, Mass., and Raymond Garcia Pelal of New York, both on the Tucker.

Rua was accompanied by his wife and their 2-year-old son. The name of Pelal does not appear on either the passenger or crew lists. Each destroyer has two other bodies, unidentified.

The destroyers will arrive here tonight.

In Water 24 Hours.

At least two passengers, a man and a woman, were in the water for almost an entire day. P. A. Dana, a radio corporation official, and Mrs. Clara Ball, a stewardess, were saved after they had maintained a precarious hold on floating wreckage for nearly 24 hours.

Mrs. Earl Devore saw her husband, an automobile racing driver, sink as she vainly tried to induce occupants of her boat to give him a hand.

Michael J. O'Loughlin, chief wireless operator, although bound by no such tradition of the seas as that forcing Capt. Carey to stand by his ship, died with his commander after doing all that he could to tell of the desperate plight of the Vestris and to summon aid.

The radio man sent his last message "Help! Help!" as the lifeboats were being lowered. He was asking help for others, but not for himself.

Criminal Neglect.

Capt. Frederick Sorenson, a passenger of the Vestris who holds a master's license, was particularly bitter in his criticism of what he called the "criminal neglect" which he said marked the disaster.

"I know about ships," he said. "The reason the vessel foundered is criminal neglect. The captain did everything wrong. He should have had ships standing by us long before he did. Not a passenger should have been sent overboard before other vessels were standing by."

Slow in Calling Aid.

E. J. Marvin of Mount Clair, N. J., a representative of the Standard Oil Co., of New Jersey, said the responsibility would rest with Capt. Carey. Marvin said the skipper had been derelict in not summoning aid 24 hours earlier.

"One of the doors to the coal bunkers on the starboard side, or the side that went under water when she began to list so heavily, was in defective condition," said Marion. "It is the consensus that the S O S should have been sent on Sunday, for if it had been sent then steamers would have been alongside on Monday morning.

"It was also the opinion of some of us—and I have talked with most of our group—that not one lifeboat would have been lost if the S O S had been sent on Sunday, and if the lowering of the life boats had not been left to the last minute. "As a matter of fact one lifeboat went down with the ship. It was No. 6, and did not get a chance even to clear."

Searchlights Missed Them.

Monday night, Marvin said, there were thunder, lightning, rain and heavy seas, but the worst ordeal of the catastrophe in open boats was watching the searchlights appear and disappear without spotting the boats.

Marvin saw the body of a man floating near his lifeboat. Then it suddenly sank. When it came up one arm was missing—gulf stream shark were waiting.

Passengers Tell of Experience on Sinking Ship.

Wearing borrowed clothes, worn and unkept, 23 of the 220 survivors of the disaster came back to New York on the Berlin at almost the same time that the others were arriving on the American Shipper.

Among the survivors on the Berlin there was considerable difference of opinion as to the cause of the disaster.

Archibald Bannister, Negro boatswain's mate, thought that the sudden shifting of the cargo in stormy weather was responsible for the leak that tipped the ship over on its beam ends.

Other opinions were that a leak, small at first, enlarged for no particular reason as the ship proceeded and caused an inceasing list.

There were reports among the survivors that the pumps had not worked well when the hold began to fill and some even told of frantic efforts to bail out the great ship with hand buckets.

No Panic.

All agreed that there was no panic and that women and children were given precedence in obtaining positions in the life boats.

Carlos Quiros, chancellor to the Argentine consulate general, who was a passenger on the Vestris and was saved by the Berlin, said that the outstanding hero of the disaster was Alfred Duncan, second steward of the Vestris. Duncan, he said, conducted himself with utmost composure throughout the trying hours and helped many of the women and children to the boats.

Quiros said that perfect order did not prevail at all times, in one instance five Negro third class passengers taking a life boat all to themselves in their haste to get away from the sinking ship.

There was some difficulty in lowering the lifeboats, according to Quiros. Two boats were filled with passengers as they hung in the davits, then it was found impossible to lower them to the water. The passengers had to scramble back to the tilting wave washed deck to wait their turns in other boats.

Swam for Several Hours.

Duncan, the steward, reported to have been the last to leave Capt. Carey on the bridge of the Vestris and the man so highly praised by Quiros, told of seeing to the needs of the passengers. He said that before they took to the boats each passenger received some sweet crackers and a bunch of bananas, biscuits and water.

After he leaped into the water, Duncan continued his ministrations to the passengers. Swimming to one lifeboat crowded with almost 100 persons, he ordered some of them out, to swim to another partly filled boat, lest the overloaded craft be swamped. The steward swam around for several hours before he was picked up by lifeboat 13.

Mrs. Earl Devore, who was on the American Shipper, saw the lifeboat in which her husband, an automobile racer, was sitting, go down. The small crew of Negro seamen in her own boat, she said, refused to go to the aid of those struggling in the water after their craft had been lost. It would be dangerous to let so many additional human beings clamber into their boat, the Negroes told her, Mrs. Devore reported.

She called them cowards, but they were sullen.

"Sit down!" they shouted and she had to obey.

Leaking Boat Launched.

Mrs. Devore, overcome by grief over her husband's death, said she felt it imperative to make a statement on what had happened. She held Capt. Carey responsible for not having called aid sooner and for not ordering the lifeboats lowered when the danger was less than at the time the ship was abandoned. This is her story:

"Saturday the weather was fine. Sunday it was rough. There was a swaying and listing of the ship. On Monday morning my husband examined the register in the room and said: 'I have never been on a ship where there has been such a list. It looks to me like serious trouble.'

"We dressed quickly and with difficulty found an officer. He assured us that everything was all right. By noon everything would be fine and dandy and we would be under way. The ship's officers went about and explained that everything was all right. Then came the order to take to the lifeboats.

"I was in Lifeboat No. 8, with my husband and Mr. and Mrs. Norman K. Batten of Los Angeles. Norman is an automobile driver. He was going to South America to do some racing. This boat had a hole in it and five minutes before it war lowered this hole was patched with a piece of tin and some nails. Several of us called to the Captain and asked: 'Isn't it dangerous to send people out in a boat in this shape?' He turned around and walked away and said nothing.

Blames Lifeboat's Crew.

"We had nothing else to do but take the boat. We got into it. As soon as it got into the water it began leaking. We were overcrowded. The boat shipped water. She was filling fast by now. Lifeboat No. 1, with four Negro seamen in it, came by. We called to them to give us aid and take some of us out so that all might be saved. They drew near and my husband urged me to jump. I did so. Then they pulled away from No. 8. A sea came in between us. When I saw No. 8 again it was capsized and everyone was in the water. I begged the men to go back and pick up my husband and my friends but they would not do it."

Mrs. Devore said that during the launching of the lifeboats there was pandemonium below decks, and from this she judged the crew was being held back until the passengers could be placed in the lifeboats. She knew her husband must have gone down when No. 8 boat was swamped and was bitter about the crew of No. 1, which boat, she said, could easily have taken care of all the men and women in No. 8.

Alfredo Ramos, an Argentine student who was returning home on the Vestris after a vacation here and in Europe, told of the distress of the passengers placed in lifeboats which could not be lowered to the water. He was in one of four such craft, he said, swung out over the waves on the davits and then left hanging there. He with some of the others took to the water, trusting to their life belts. He never saw the others again.

David Cook, vice president of the Lamport & Holt Line, said that the line would have nothing to say about criticism of officers of the Vestris until there had been a full investigation and until both those making the charges and those who will have to answer them have had a chance to get a complete rest.

Five Taken to Hospitals.

Ten minutes after the American Shipper docked five survivors were on their way to hospitals.

Henrietta Cubbin, 45 years old, a stewardess of New York, was suffering from exhaustion and exposure. Ernest Carpenter of Liverpool, 39, had a broken leg. George Ansell, 38, of Liverpool, storekeeper of the Vestris, had a broken arm; Lloyd Keizer, Negro, of Washington, two fingers amputated, and William Hogg of Liverpool, assistant bedroom steward, both arms broken.

Ambulances with clothing and supplies from the Red Cross were also at the pier. Nurses and doctors treated about 30 persons for shock and minor injuries.

Myriam to Dock at 2 A. M.

The Myriam, due off Sandy Hook at 10:30 o'clock tonight, will transfer the 64 survivors of the Vestris to a tug. The tug will land the survivors in Brooklyn probably about 2 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Officers of the Lamport and Holt Line said representatives of the company were making every effort to provide for the comfort of the Vestris' survivors. Out-of-town passengers brought here today were sent to hotels. The rescued members of the crew were taken to the Seamen's Church Institute.

Denies Abandoning Passengers.

Joseph Alexi, able seaman, denied that he and other Negro members of the crew rowed lifeboat No. 13—in which they got after it broke away from the Vestris—away from passengers struggling in the water.

He said the boat was rowed away from the ship to keep it from being demolished by a swinging spar and that this action probably saved the lifeboat, in which 22 men were rescued.

S. Sadowskia a Los Angeles seaman, declared every porthole on the Vestris was defective, that the scuppers were plugged and that the bulkhead doors were not watertight.

Frank Johnson, chief officer of the Vestris, was asked whether he could definitely say what had caused the disaster.

"I have nothing to say," he replied.

Carl Schmidt, a third class passenger from Chicago, would say nothing at all about his experiences. Schmidt was in the water for 22 hours, and was found drifting among wreckage of the Vestris clinging to two lifebelts. Captain von Thalen of the Berlin said that despite his long exposure Schmidt was lively and talkative when he was dragged from the water.

When the Berlin docked David Cook, vice president of the American agents of the Lamport & Holt Line went aboard and thanked Captain von Thalen for his rescue work. Von Thalen replied that what he and his men had done was only in line of duty and that as long as ships sailed the seas there would be tragedies like the sinking of the Vestris.

Capt. von Thulen said his steamer had passed the floating body of a man, but that he had not attempted to pick it up because of the heavy sea, not wishing to risk the lives of the crew for the dead.

Several husbands and wives were aboard the ship and the incomplete list of those saved shows that many of them were separated, in each case one of the pairs apparently being lost. The rule of the sea that women and children go first into the boats would account for their separation.

Two wives, Mrs. Norman Batten of Los Angeles, wife of the famous race driver, and Mrs. Yashio Inuoye, wife of the Japanese Consul at Buenos Aires, were rescued while their husbands are missing. "I am alive after terrifying experience," Mrs. Batten wired relatives in California. "I thought I would never live to see you again."

The 1097 sacks of mail which were lost on the Vestris included 3000 registered letters and 10 pouches of diplomatic mail destined for embassies in Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo and Buenos Aires.

The letter mail included matter posted Nov. 7 for Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay, Nov. 3 for South Brazil and Barbados, and of Nov. 8 for other islands of the West Indies.

Parcel post for Barbados only also was carried.

Five days before she was lost, the Vestris underwent a complete inspection and received a certificate testifying to her seaworthiness and lawful equipment, the steamboat inspection service of the Department of Commerce said today. On Nov. 7, authorities said, inspectors examined the hull, boilers, machinery and equipment in a dry dock in Brooklyn and everything aboard was found in order. Vessels are inspected once a year.

SAYS IT TOOK TWO HOURS TO LOWER FOUR LIFEBOATS

were women and children, tumbled into the water."

"It was a horrible sight," Mack continued. "Confusion soon overwhelmed the passengers who had not yet got into the life boats. From every side there came the screaming of women and children.

"One woman in lifeboat No. 8 had two children with her. When the boat tumbled into the water her life preserver was torn from her and all three fell into the sea. They disappeared.

"Throughout all the panic Capt. Carey appeared calm, but he also appeared undecided as to what to do. Lifeboats No. 4 and No. 6 were lowered so late that they capsized."

Mack said his watch stopped at 2:35 p. m. on Monday and from this fact he fixed the time of the sinking of the Vestris.

Swam for 2½ Hours.

He said some people who jumped from the ship were sucked in with the swirl as she went down. Mack accounted for the heavy loss of life among women and children by the fact that the first three boats to be launched were wrecked and that the ship went down almost immediately after dragging the swimming passengers after it.

Swimming in the water for two and a half hours, Mack finally located O. L. Maxey, his traveling companion.

"We had been pals so long we decided to die like pals," said Mack, "so we swam on together. Maxey was very courageous."

Maxey said the same thing about Mack. Mack said that he and Maxey swam alongside lifeboat No. 13, and that the passengers wouldn't let them in. Finally Chief Engineer Alvard Adams made room for them and they were saved.

P. A. Dana, South American representative of the Radio Corporation of America, and Mrs. Clara Ball of Pleasantville, N. Y., a stewardess, had clung to debris for nearly 24 hours before they were picked up. It was these two whom Capt. Schuyler Cummings of the American Shipper had called "two of the pluckiest people I ever met."

Dana was in the next to last lifeboat to leave the Vestris. The little craft turned over as it hit the water and its passengers, including 10 women and several children, were scattered by the waves.

Dana himself was swept a distance of 100 yards. Then he looked back and saw the women and youngsters clinging to the boat. He tried to swim back, but at that moment the Vestris went down and he had to swim for his life to escape the terrific suction.

A few minutes later he and several other men tried to right the overturned boat. As they tugged at her, the body of a woman floated out from beneath.

The effort to turn the boat over failed, for, Dana said, the air compartments had come out and the craft was falling apart. He managed to reach a plank from the Vestris' raft. As he grasped it he saw a woman's leg. He grasped that, too, and tugged. The woman was Mrs. Ball.

With one arm supporting her and the other clinging to the raft, he encouraged her and finally she found strength to hold on for herself.

Dana and Mrs. Ball were in the water from 1:30 p. m. Monday to noon on Tuesday. Drifting throughout the long night they could see the searchlights on big ships, poking through the darkness to find survivors, but none of the light-stabs fell on the weary pair.

The battleship Wyoming slipped along their horizon at dawn, but she didn't come their way.

Then the American Shipper slipped into their narrow field of vision. Dana tore off his shirt and waved it, frantically, desperately. Sharp eyes aboard the Shipper saw the signal, and Dana and Mrs. Ball were picked up.

The woman's nerves were so badly shaken when the rescue ship docked that she could not talk.

Dana, a tall, gaunt man, with eyes reddened from the brine, wore heavy bandages around his neck, for the muscles were tired from their task of holding his head above water for so long.

Mack said that about 8 o'clock Monday night those in the lifeboat with him sighted three other boats being rowed and two with sails up. He learned later that other passengers who jumped from the Vestris had, like him, found boats broken loose when the Vestris went down.

Six boats kept close together until 9 o'clock when a sleet storm separated them. Shortly after that they saw searchlights and rowed toward them. At 2 o'clock in the morning he said, his boat reached the ship with the searchlight and a tanker lying near it.

Rode Out Night in Small Boat.

They rowed around the tanker and shouted, but were not heard. They had to ride out the night in their little craft, although the sea was rough and they had serious doubts that they could be taken aboard even if they could attract attention of a rescue ship.

At dawn they sighted the battleship Wyoming and several other craft, including the Berlin. The Berlin swung along side in what Mack said was a masterly fashion and took them aboard.

Mack said he was absolutely sure that only two boats had been lowered successfully from the Vestris and he thought that No. 8, the one stove in, must have sunk almost at once.

Bodies held on the surface by life belts floated among the living, and the few boats were terribly overcrowded, he said. He passed one boat, he said, in which the occupants were sitting up to their waists in water.

Mrs. Laurenda Moore of Jersey City, an elderly stewardess, had sought to comfort a woman passenger who had seen her husband tossed into the ocean from one of the lifeboats.

"He will be picked up," Mrs. Moore assured, "keep a good heart."

Just then she saw a frail woman with a baby, trying to clamber into a lifeboat.

Mrs. Moore took the infant to help the mother, and was getting into a lifeboat with it when the guy line broke or slipped from a seaman's hands. The child was catapulted into the water and Mrs. Moore followed. The baby was not found.

Mrs. Moore was picked up by a lifeboat in which there were five persons. They had some hardtack to nibble, some water, a lantern and some wet flares.

What happened after that Mrs. Moore doesn't know, for she lay in a coma in the bottom of the boat.

ST. LOUIS BACKERS OF BOOKKEEPING DEVICE REWARDED

FIRM IS SOLD AT $400 A SHARE

National Cash Register Co. Buys Out Concern—James Nicholson One of Those to Profit.

A group of St. Louisans who indorsed an idea 25 years ago and risked their money on a young lawyer's invention of a combination adding and bookkeeping machine will make a substantial profit in the sale of the Ellis Adding Typewriter Co. to the National Cash Register Co., which was announced yesterday in New York.

Under the plan of sale, to be confirmed at an early meeting of the directors of the National Cash Register Co., holders of the 10,000 shares of Ellis stock will receive approximately $400 a share for their holdings, a total of about $4,000,000. About 25 per cent of the shares, it is understood, are held by four or five St. Louisans who were in the company from its early and unsteady days.

The activity of the Ellis company has attracted little public attention during the 25 years of its existence and its local origin has been known to few except the organizers. James Nicholson of 7131 Maryland avenue, dry goods commission broker, who is one of the principal St. Louis stockholders and a director of the company, related today that the machine was invented early in the century by Hal Ellis, a St. Louis lawyer, who made a hobby of calculating machines in his spare time.

Ellis interested St. Louis capital in his idea and in 1904, with additional assistance from New York, sufficient money was raised to organize a company. The first model was built by hand in a small plant at Bridgeport, Conn. Subsequently the company built a factory at Newark, N. J. The company expanded to a nation-wide institution with representatives in 25 cities.

After a few years, Ellis sold his patents to the company and moved to Paris, where he died in 1913. Although the company was directed from New York, other St. Louisans continued as stockholders to the end.

Nicholson declined to name his St. Louis associates in the company and would not estimate the amount of profit that had been made beyond saying it was "substantial." He explained that the company had been financially successful during its career although handicapped by large sales expenses because of the fact that the company sells but one machine, a $1500 device, which has a restricted market.

The distribution problem, Nicholson said, was an important factor in the decision to sell out to the National Cash Register Co., which has a large sales organization in a position to handle the adding typewriter in addition to its other lines.

Syracuse, N. Y., Federal Court Hears Contention That Congress Exceeded Powers.

By the Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Charges that the Volstead act is unconstitutional in declaring possession of liquor illegal were made in Federal Court here today.

Irving K. Baxter of Utica, former United States Commissioner, made the charges preliminary to the trial of John Berben of Pittsfield, N. Y., accused of unlawful possession of intoxicants. Judge Bryant immediately adjourned court and considered Baxter's contentions.

Congress exceeded the authority given it by the eighteenth amendment in making possession an offense, the Utica attorney maintained, "for the amendment specifically declares merely that the manufacture, barter, sale, transportation, exportation or importation of intoxicating liquors should be unlawful."

None of the other workmen was injured.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Charges that the Volstead act is unconstitutional in declaring possession of liquor illegal were made in Federal Court here today.

Irving K. Baxter of Utica, former United States Commissioner, made the charges preliminary to the trial of John Berben of Pittsfield, N. Y., accused of unlawful possession of intoxicants. Judge Bryant immediately adjourned court and considered Baxter's contentions.

Congress exceeded the authority given it by the eighteenth amendment in making possession an offense, the Utica attorney maintained, "for the amendment specifically declares merely that the manufacture, barter, sale, transportation, exportation or importation of intoxicating liquors should be unlawful."

SHED AT SOULARD MARKET COLLAPSES, WORKMAN HURT

Framework of Structure Being Razed Gives Way; Other Men Uninjured.

Carl Pruett, a laborer of 1004 Chouteau avenue, was cut and bruised when the framework of a shed at Soulard Market, Seventh boulevard and Carroll street, which he and other workmen were tearing down collapsed at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon.

None of the other workmen was injured.

Zeppelin Stowaway Had Grand Time, but Says U. S. Is Best Place After All

Clarence Terhune of St. Louis Thinks He Is Cured of Stealing Rides and Wandering Around.

By CLARENCE M. TERHUNE.

(Copyright, 1928.)

This story is published exclusively in St. Louis in the Post-Dispatch. All news articles from members of the Zeppelin party, or from special correspondents assigned to it, will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Of the hundreds of thousands of folks who pass the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor every year on their return trips from Europe, I'll bet there was never a person more glad to get back to the good old United States of America than I am.

I have had a grand time in Europe and also have done what I set out to do—that is, to be the first trans-Atlantic aerial stowaway. In addition to that I had a fine trip across Germany, Belgium and France and a wonderful ride home on the steamer Ile de France, and all this leaves me feeling pretty good, as I come home a little more than two weeks after that Sunday night when I climbed in among the mail bags on the Graf Zeppelin and put one over on the fellows who were watching against such a happening.

After seeing Europe I feel there are many very fine folks over there, and that it is a nice place to visit, but give me America every time as a place for my home. On Nov. 20 I will be 20 years of age and I predict that there is no 20-year-old youth in this country who feels any prouder than I do at the present time.

Cured of Wandering Around.

I think now that I am cured of wanting to wander around the country by the stowaway route. Since taking this trip to Europe by air I don't think there is much else left to accomplish in the way of going to places free of charge any more. I wouldn't take $10,000 for my experiences on this trip. The ocean is bigger than I ever thought it was.

I think I prefer Zeppelin travel to riding even such a magnificent liner as the Ile de France. I like the speed the Zeppelin develops and I also like the absence of seasickness. It was a new experience for me to have my breakfast served every morning in bed. I think I would rather get up each day and go after my own breakfast.

I had a very novel experience while in Berlin which I wish to tell you about. It started, you might say, in Friederichshafen. When I landed there I received a telegram from Michael Bohnen, the opera star who used to sing at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. He said he admired my nerve and that, if I needed help, he would pay my way back home. So when I went to Berlin I telephoned him and he invited me and my friends to come to the theater where he was playing in "Casa Nova."

I went to see the show and between the acts he sent for me and I went back to his dressing room. Then he asked me if I would go on the stage and let him introduce me as the "blind passenger," which is the German name for a stowaway. I accepted the invitation and when I came on the stage I was well received and replied in a short speech in English, which I guess not many of the big audience understood. That was my first stage appearance and I hope not my last one.

CLARENCE ("RED") TERHUNE on the deck of the Ile de France as she docked last night at New York.

Went to "Bierstube"

After the show Mr. Bohnen and his wife, who is better known as Mary Lewis, the American singer, invited me and my friends to go to an old beer drinking place, what is called a "Bierstube, where Wagner, Bismarck and many famous Germans used to drink their beer. We had a very enjoyable time there, but I could not drink much of their beer, as I do not like it.

My big hope now that I am back in America is that I'll be able to go into moving pictures. I think that's what I'll do, if somebody gives me the chance. I would prefer that to going into vaudeville, as I think I would be more at home before a camera than before an audience. I think I will stay in New York a few days and then go out to St. Louis to be with my sister and some of my friends. If I am lucky enough I'll go from there to Hollywood for a while. Mr. Casto of Columbus, O., who was one of the passengers on the Zeppelin with me, said that if I would stop off at his city for a day or so he would send me to St. Louis in an airplane which he owns. I think I will accept.

One of the first things I am going to do is to get some American clothes. I am now wearing a suit which I bought in Germany and I feel funny in it. I think it is cut wrong and it hasn't the right color, and I honestly hate to come out in the street wearing it. I wish I could put on the old red sweater, the corduroy trousers and the leather jacket which I wore across on the Zeppelin. I feel much easier in clothes of that sort than I do in the kind they call "street clothes."

Thought He Was a Girl.

Speaking of these things, reminds me of a good joke I had on some of the Zeppelin passengers. When I was discovered someone immediately spread the report that I was a girl disguised in boy's clothes. I don't know how they could think such a wild thing after one look at me, but some of them seemed to believe it. An American reporter came up to me and insisted on feeling my beard to see if it was the real thing or if it was something I had stuck on my face with gum to help deceive someone. I guess one feel of my chin and cheeks convinced the reporter as he had no more doubts about me.

There is one person I'd like to see in the United States when I have a chance. It is Betty Simpson, the girl stowaway, who calls herself the "Queen of Stowaway." She has crossed the Atlantic in the hold several times and the last I heard of her they had her in jail in England for 60 days as a vagrant character. If she's the queen of the stowaways, then I guess I'm the king of them all, and the king ought to meet the queen.

ADA BIGGS GUILTY OF MURDER, GETS TEN YEAR TERM

responses. Her twentieth birthday came five days after the shooting.

Questioned by Ben H. Marbury of Farmington, her lawyer, who is aided by Earl E. Roberts of Steelville, she related that she was 11 or 12 when her mother married Simpson and that she had six stepbrothers and stepsisters, the youngest Simpson child being 3.

Tells of His Advances.

"Did your stepfather make any advances to you before Dec. 15, 1926?" Marbury asked.

"Yes," she said.

"Tell the jury the circumstances."

"Well, gentlemen of the jury, he would come to me and try to take me out in the car. When all the family were away he would put his hand on me. I tried to fight him off but that didn't do any good."

"Did you tell your mother?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did she say?"

"She didn't believe it and said she'd whip me if I said anything more like that."

"What happened the night of Dec. 15, 1926?"

"He took me out in the car and attacked me."

"Did you get in his car?"

"I had to."

"Where did you go?"

"He drove me off on some road that wasn't used, took a revolver out of his pocket and told me to get in the back seat, but I refused."

"What did he say?"

Says He Threatened Her.

"He said, 'If you don't I'll blow your damned head off.'"

"I said, 'Oh, don't do anything like that, Bill.'"

Ada continued with a recital of the attack, saying she beat her stepfather on the face in her struggles.

On the way home, she continued, he told her "if you say anything about this I'll kill you and the whole damned family."

She left home after that and went to reside with Simpson's sister in St. Louis, Mrs. Mary Wiley.

Soon, however, she related, her mother wrote her to return immediately or Simpson would have the police send her to the State reformatory at Chillicothe.

"After you got back, what happened?" Ada's attorney asked.

"The same thing again," she said.

"Tell the jury how you felt and what you thought after these attacks."

"Gentlemen of the jury, after I'd been driven to do this, after my honor, my virtue, had been taken, I realized I could never marry. My social standing, my character were ruined. That was what drove me to the insanity that I did. If there had been any way out of the hell I was living in I'd have taken it.

"He said he would follow me wherever I went and kill me."

"Ada, you shot this man?"

"Yes, sir."

"At the time you did it, did you know right from wrong and the consequences of your act?" "No, sir. From the hell I'd lived in I didn't know."

At this point the defendant was turned over to the State for cross-examination by O. Lee Munger, assistant to Prosecuting Attorney Earl V. Abernathy.

He elicited the statement that Simpson's health had been failing though Ada, who thought the trouble was something like rheumatism, did not know just what was the matter. She admitted she had not told anyone about the attacks after they occurred.

Ada insisted, in answering the prosecutor, that Simpson in forcing his attentions upon her held his .45 caliber revolver in his crippled right hand and laid it beside him on the car seat.

Munger asked if she hadn't refused to accompany Simpson. She said she had but was intimidated by his threats to kill her.

In conclusion she said she had been graduated from Bismarck High School last May.

On being excused from the witness stand, Ada returned to her chair calmly and watched the succeeding witnesses. Her signed confession, obtained by county authorities immediately after the tragedy, had not gone into her story of attacks. The only other defense witnesses were Emmett Belmath, former Mayor of Bismarck, and Mrs. George Hawthorne and Richard Dennis of Bismarck, who declared that Ada had enjoyed a good reputation for virtue and truth.

Former Sweetheart on Stand.

On cross-examination, Dennis said he had been her sweetheart.

"And she used to be an honorable girl with you?" Attorney Marbury demanded promptly.

"So far," said Dennis.

SAM HALEY QUITS STATE POST TO RESUME OLD FEDERAL JOB

Federal Prohibition Administrator Resigns Post With Public Service Board.

Sam Haley, Federal Prohibition Administrator who has been serving as assistant counsel to the Public Service Commission, at Jefferson City while on a 30-day leave of absence, resigned the State post at Jefferson City today and is on his way to St. Louis to resume his Federal duties.

Haley made no explanation of his action in taking the State job when he was questioned about the matter by reporters, and Gov. Baker at Jefferson City today said he did not know why Haley had given up the post.

As Prohibition Administrator, Haley was summoned to Washington in September and there resigned, following his failure to fill examination requirements for the job. Later he returned to Washington, withdrew the resignation, then went on the leave of absence.

PLANE UNMOVED IN AIR AN HOUR

Chicago Pilot Holds Craft Motionless by Heading Into Gale.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Heading into a 60-mile gale, Pilot Howard Stark of the National Air Transport today amazed spectators at the municipal airport by keeping his plane virtually motionless, as though suspended in air, for an hour.

When he encountered the gale on a test flight, Stark nosed into it and then throttled the motor so that the pull of the plane equaled the pressure of the wind, keeping the plane stationary. Pilots said they thought he had established a record for motionless flying.

STOWAWAY BACK IN AMERICA FROM TRIP ON ZEPPELIN

Clarence Terhune of St. Louis Lands in New York From Germany — Avoids Crowd at Pier.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Clarence Terhune of St. Louis, Zeppelin stowaway, came back to his home country yesterday. He went away as the first aerial stowaway, but came back as a first cabin passenger on one of the most luxurious of present-day Atlantic liners, the Ile de France of the French line, sharing a three-bed room in the first cabin. He was one of the first passengers to get off the boat when it docked about 6:45 last night and immediately left the pier.

He met his sister, Mrs. Hall, with whom he lives in St. Louis, and pending conferences with her was unable to commit himself as to any definite future plans, beyond expressing a liking for the motion pictures, if he could get an engagement.

Terhune was received informally today by Mayor Walker. Terhune was without coat and hat.

He was accompanied to city hall by six of the passengers on the Zeppelin: Don M. Casto, Columbus, O.; Hans Noldc, Reading, Pa.; Paul Marko, Brooklyn; William Ullman and Joseph D. Jessel, New York, and John C. Ingram, newspaper correspondent.

While obviously very proud of his achievement, Terhune was modest in his manner and speech. His purchases abroad, made with the proceeds of the stories he wrote for publication, were very modest, including a German suit of clothes for himself and some trinkets for members of his family. He was in such a hurry to get away from the ship that he left without waiting to take his baggage with him.

DIES OF INJURIES SUFFERED IN TRYING TO BOARD TRUCK

James Coleman, 33 years old, a Negro, 2635 Lucas avenue, died at City Hospital No. 2 at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon of internal injuries and fractured legs suffered at noon when he slipped when attempting to jump on a moving motor truck at Tenth and Chestnut streets. A wheel of the truck passed over his body.

The truck was being driven west in Chestnut street by Paul Miller, a Negro, 115 North Thirteenth street.

Salesman Drowned at Florence, Ill.

FLORENCE, Ill., Nov. 14.—Driving off the dock into the Illinois River while waiting for the ferry, W. R. Hackaby, 71 years old, a salesman of Jacksonville, was drowned today. It was not known whether he purposely drove into the river or lost control of his car. The ferry was on the other side of the river.

MOTHER SOLVES BANK THEFT SON WAS BLAMED FOR

Mrs. Nora Galbraith Traces Missing Janitor Through Post-Cards and Causes His Arrest.

When Bernard Ray, janitor at the Jennings North Side Bank, found himself alone in the cashier's cage with $3475 last Aug. 29, and was overcome by temptation, he did not reckon with Mrs. Nora Galbraith, widowed mother of four, who lives at 5622 Jennings road.

Mrs. Galbraith is the mother of Philip J. Galbraith, 21-year-old assistant cashier at the bank, and when Ray picked up the few neat stacks of currency and disappeared, Mrs. Galbraith made the loss good, because her son had left the money in his cage at the bank when he left for the night.

Mrs. Galbraith is employed at the main Postoffice, Eighteenth street and Clark avenue, as a clerk in the directory department. When she and her son had scrimped the sum stolen, she determined she would find the missing janitor.

Arrested in Detroit.

Yesterday, less than three months from the night that Ray abandoned his flourishing window cleaning business, his house-full of furniture, and with his wife, and set out, a fugitive from justice, the former janitor was arrested in Detroit and confessed the theft.

There were only three bald statements in the telegram received by Sheriff Wilmas of St. Louis County from Chief of Detectives Fox of Detroit. Ray was arrested. He had confessed. He was willing to waive extradition. Nothing was said of the persistent letter writing —the numerous talks with secret service men—the indefatigable sleuthing of Mrs. Galbraith.

Since Mrs. Galbraith is employed at the postoffice, her first efforts at tracing Ray were through the mails. She knew of two friends of the former janitor and thought the fugitive would communicate with both. She learned Ray was in Niagara Falls a month ago, through a tell-tale postcard. She wired East. One of her operatives picked up the former janitor's trail and followed him to Detroit, where the arrest was made.

"It's been a long chase," Mrs. Galbraith said today. "Now I hope I get back my $3475. Of course, there was never any question of our restoring the money. I felt, and Philip felt, that we had to restore the money, because it had not been locked up. I don't know whether the bonding company or the insurance people are liable now that Ray has confessed. I suppose they are. We certainly could use that money. It isn't easy, raising a family of four. Philip is the eldest."

Janitor Disappeared.

When Galbraith missed the packet of currency on the morning of Aug. 30 he reported immediately to his superiors. Ray was sent for, but could not be found. His Annie avenue house was closed and locked. His wife also was missing. Bank officers were ready to admit the suspicious absence of the janitor and the likelihood that he had taken the money. But on the other hand Galbraith had been careless, they pointed out. He had left the money in his basket, exposed it to theft. He was really responsible.

"That's one way of looking at it," Mrs. Galbraith said. "We'll make the money good, all right, and then we'll try to find Ray."

Ray, who is 35 years old, engaged in a fairly profitable business, and had no previous record of crime.

F. H. Koch, president of the North Side Bank, was not at his office today, and could not be reached. There was no question, apparently, as to the fitness of young Galbraith for his job, despite his one lapse of carelessness. He and bank officials took the attitude that Galbraith had had a $3475 lesson. He has worked every day since April 29, and has never again left a packet of currency, a $1 bill, a 10-cent piece, or even a penny outside that cage.

NEGRO QUARTERMASTER SAVED 20 AFTER VESTRIS WENT UNDER

came up and reached for a floating box. I didn't see the captain again. I don't know how long I floated, but finally was picked up by lifeboat No. 5.

"I had been swimming after the boat for some time, but the Negro members of the crew rowed away.

"Other people were begging to get aboard, too, but the Negroes didn't seem to want any more aboard. But Chief Engineer Adams made them stop and we swam to the boat and were taken in."

E. M. Walcott of Halifax, N. S., was among the last to see Capt Carey.

"When I came up in the water," said Walcott, "I found the captain near me. He had on no lifebelt. He just came up and went down again."

Walcott was picked up by a lifeboat.

Carey was senior captain of the Lamport & Holt line. He had been with the company more than 30 years, rising from the ranks. He was about 55 years old.

He returned from a vacation with his family in England last Friday, the day before the Vestris sailed. At Buenos Aires he was to leave the Vestris, which he had commanded for several years, to take the bridge of the Voltaire, the crack liner of the Lamport & Holt fleet.

The Voltaire, coming north over the course the Vestris was following south, reported by wireless today: "It appears Capt. Carey and Radio Operator O'Loughlin went down with their ship."

INVENTOR DIES VICTIM OF HIS LUMINOUS PAINT

Death of Dr. Sabin von Sochocky Attributed to Radioactive Poison.

By the Associated Press.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 14.—Dr. Sabin von Sochocky died today, a victim of the luminous paint which he had invented for the painting of watch dials in the plant of the United States Radium Co., formerly in Orange.

Deaths of a half-dozen women, who were employed in the plant to paint watch dials, have been attributed to the assimilation of radioactive substances.

Aplastic anemia was given as the cause of the inventor's death. He had been ill for several months and 11 blood transfusions had been resorted to in an effort to save his life.

Last May the United States Radium Corporation allowed five women, alleged to be suffering from the same poisoning, the sum of $10,000 each, annuities of $600 each and the cost of legal expenses and medical treatment. The allowances were made in settlement of suits for $1,250,000.

Stricken last August, Dr. von Sochocky denied from his bed in Orange Memorial Hospital that he was suffering from any form of radium poisoning. Dr. Harrison Martland, then county physician of Essex County, announced that the scientist was suffering from anemia, which "approached the aplastic stage."

Dr. Martland said today that deposits of radio-active matter in the bones of the victim had stilled the action of the blood supply agencies of the body and caused death.

Dr. von Sochocky was technical director of the United States Radium Corporation. He had been associated for many years with institutions using radium in the treatmen of disease. He was 45 years old and a native of Austria. He came to the United States 12 years ago and invented his formula for luminous paint in 1920.

Dr. Martland said Von Sochocky was the second research worker to succumb to the disease. Dr. Edwin Lehman, an associate in the corporation's laboratories, having died in 1925. Dr. von Sochocky had been suffering from the poison for more than three years, but was not aware of it, Dr. Martland said, until tests were made about a year ago.

Among them are:

Maj. Yoshio Inouye, en route to Buenos Aires to assume the post of Japanese Consul. Mrs. Inouye was picked up by the battleship Wyoming.

Earl F. de Vore and Norman K. Batten, automobile racing drivers, who were on their way to South America to take part in a number of meets. De Vore had with him his $40,000 racing machine, the "Nickel Plate Special." De Vore lived at Altoona, Pa., and Batten at Dayton, O.

Charles M. Henrotin, mining engineer, who for years was manager of the Kimberley diamond mines in South Africa. He was on his way to British Guiana, where he has represented J. A. Sisto & Co., Wall street bankers.

Trade Expert Missing.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fletcher of San Francisco, the former a foreign-born trade expert who was enroute to Buenos Aires to take charge of the South American sales force of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. Fletcher is a son of the Rev. Alfred Fletcher, Episcopalian clergyman of Los Angeles.

Mrs. O. S. Stevens, wife of the manager of the Buenos Aires branch of the First National Bank of Boston, who with her husband was returning to Argentine after a three months' honeymoon in this country. She was the former Gladys May Holt of Buenos Aires. Her husband was picked up by the American shipper.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brownfield of Louisville, Ky., who were on three months' trip to Brazil where Brownfield was to introduce the product of the Kentucky Asphalt Co., of which he was chief engineer.

To Seek Their Fortune.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leuthhauser of Jersey City who were bound for the Argentine to seek their fortune.

Sidney S. Koppe, New York advertising agent for a number of South American publications, who was en route to Buenos Aires for a conference with officials of the newspaper La Nacion.

Mrs. S. J. Goodman, who was rejoining her husband in Barbadoes, where he is manager of a sugar plantation, after visiting her son, Louis Goodman of White Plains, N. Y., her daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Burr of Forrestville, Conn., and a sister, Mrs. Charles Keith of Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mrs. Margaret Daugherty of Philadelphia, who was en route to Buenos Aires to visit her daughter, Mrs. Leila K. de Repetto, wife of a retired Spanish naval officer.

Mrs. John M. Mills of Los Angeles, a widely traveled tourist, 65 years old and the widow of the Rev. John M. Mills, formerly a pastor at Evanston, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jackson, missionaries of Richmond, Va., and their son, Cary, who were returning to South America after a several months' visit to this country.

Going to a Wedding.

Vincento Murri of Philadelphia, who was on his way to Buenos Aires to attend the marriage of his sister to Gaetano Abbadini, also of Philadelphia, who was aboard the ship but was saved by the Berlin.

Isaac Nahen of the Bence Tourist Agency of New York, who had postponed an earlier booking on the liner American Legion.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Franke and two children, a daughter, 20 years old, and a son, 8. Franke was en route to Buenos Aires to take over the branch there of Korting Bros., manufacturers of compressor engines, of Hanover, Germany. For the last 15 years Mr. Franke had been in charge of the firm's Mexico City branch.

Two families with three children each were among the missing passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Alleyne, formerly of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. James Headley, Negroes, formerly of New York.

DENIES WIDOW HAD PART IN $27,000 LOAN TO MATLOCK

Attorney for Woman Who Killed Husband Says She Did Not Introduce Him to Miss Deeken.

How "Good Time Charley" Matlock became acquainted with Miss Catherine Deeken, who lent him $27,000 without security, is the subject of conflicting statements by attorneys for Miss Deeken and Mrs. Helen Matlock, who shot and killed her husband a week ago yesterday as he walked into a Guild Hall apartment where he had established a 21-year-old model and night club entertainer as another "Mrs. Matlock."

Sarpy J. Noonan, lawyer for the self-made widow, who is ill at her ome, 3801 South Grand boulevard, today said she had no part i arranging the loan and knew nothing of it until informed by Miss Deeken about 10 days before the killing.

"When she learned about the loan it was a great source of worry to her," Noonan said. "She had not introduced her husband to Miss Deeken and was in no way responsible for the making of the loan."

Says Wife Arranged Loan.

Previously, Edward W. Foristel, attorney for Miss Deeken, who is ill at her home, 4587 Carter avenue, had stated she was introduced to Matlock by Mrs. Matlock, who said her husband was "hard up" and needed money to start an automobile agency. Foristel said his client made the loan solely as a favor to Mrs. Matlock. Matlock established the Consolidated Motors, Inc., a $20,000 corporation, which failed recently.

"I have been unable to discover any assets, will or insurance," Noonan said "I have found considerable pecuniary obligations, which, however, are not of public interest. There will be no necessity for an inventory as I feel certain that when Matlock's obligations are cared for, there will be nothing left of the estate."

Doubts He Had $22,000.

Attorney Noonan expressed the belief that Matlock's assertion that he had $22,000 left after the failure of his automobile agency was merely an idle boast, such as Matlock was wont to make.

Miss Rose Jokerst, in whose apartment Matlock was slain, recalls that after Matlock's company failed, she asked him what he planned to do, and he replied:

"Baby, I may be down, but I'm not out. I've got $22,000 laid away and when all this is settled up I'll still be ahead. The creditors will be taken care of."

A key to a safety deposit box rented by Matlock has been found by Attorney Noonan and now he is trying to find the bank where the box was rented.

Patrolman Andrew Matlock, father of "Good Time Charley," said Miss Deeken visited Mrs. Matlock 10 days before the killing, but he did not learn the nature of their conversation. He did not know of the $27,000 loan. The policeman said he knew of no estate left i his son other than a Government insurance policy.

"Good Time Charley" enlisted in a medical unit at Jefferson Barracks at the outbreak of the war and served overseas, being demoted at his own request from Sergeant-Major to private in order to be discharged sooner, according to the father.

RECENT VISITORS HERE MISSING FROM VESTRIS

Alfred C. B. Fletcher and Wife Were Guests of Webster Groves Relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. B. Fletcher of San Francisco, who are named as among the missing in the sinking of the Lamport & Holt liner Vestris, were guests two weeks ago at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Macoy, 412 Somerset avenue, Webster Groves. Mrs. Macoy is Mr. Fletcher's sister.

A message sent to Mrs. Macoy yesterday by another brother, in San Francisco, gave some hope that the Fletchers had been rescued, but the brother wired again last night, saying he had been unable to confirm his first information. He said that inquiry among shipping men gave him little hope for the safety of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher.

Fletcher was a representative of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., and he and Mrs. Fletcher were on their way to Buenos Aires, where he was to be in the company's Argentine office. He was 41 years old, and had traveled widely. In Antwerp, after the close of the war, he was in charge of Belgian relief work, under direction of Herbert Hoover. He wrote a book, "From Job to Job Around the World," which had a considerable sale, and had prepared a new edition, to be published shortly.

The Vestris, one of the best known ships in the South American trade, carried a St. Louis Business Men's League delegation on a good-will tour to Brazil in the spring of 1914. The league was the predecessor of the Chamber of Commerce.

ENRIGHT PAVING OPENS NEW ROUTE TO THE WEST END

Motorists Advised to Use Franklin to Grand, Enright to Taylor.

With the completion of the paving of Enright avenue, between Vandeventer and Taylor avenues, in about two weeks, persons living in the West End can follow a new and quicker route in driving to and from their homes and the downtown district, Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks pointed out today.

Brooks suggests that by using Franklin avenue, which is paved, to Grand boulevard, Enright to Taylor avenue, and then going north to McMillan and west to Walton avenue, persons can drive from downtown to the West End Delmar boulevard district quicker and with less congestion than if they use Washington and Delmar boulevards.

TWO MEN BURNED TO DEATH

Six Others Missing After Blaze in Brooklyn Building.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Two unidentified men were burned to death and six or more others may have perished today in a fire which swept through the six-story building of the Eppe Trading Corporation in Brooklyn.

Twenty men are thought to have been in the building when the fire started. How many escaped could not be determined. An hour after the fire started two bodies were found.

Going Up!

Nightly, now, her smile is winning new hearts all over America. She is lovely Corrine Burton, whose New York home is the New Weston Hotel. Her march to fame includes a season each in "The Music Box" and "The Scandals;" and now, under Chas. Bowers' direction, she's going up in the movies!

"I don't believe in overlooking any point which may help make your presence pleasing," says Miss Burton. "Recently I learned the method of caring for the hair, which is all the rage among New York girls, now. It's so easy. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush every time you arrange your hair. It makes my hair so easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It has gotten rid of my dandruff. It keeps my scalp and hair so clean and comfortable that I don't shampoo half as often as I used to. It gives my hair such a silky, soft and lustrous appearance that friends comment on it."

Danderine is not oily. It removes the oily film from each strand of hair, restores its natural color, gives it new lustre. It dissolves dandruff, cleanses and invigorates the scalp. It is delightfully refreshing. All drug stores have the generous 25c bottles. Locate a nearby one and a healthy scalp for a few cents.

JEWELER RESISTS MAN WITH PISTOL, TWO ROBBERS RUN

Russell H. Wooster, Walking With Wife, Strikes Holdup Man in Face and Grapples With Him.

Russell H. Wooster, a jeweler, 2158 Union boulevard, successfully resisted an armed holdup man, who, with a companion, attempted to rob Wooster and his wife in front of 5110 Vernon avenue, at 8:45 o'clock last night.

When one of the men pointed a revolver at Wooster, the jeweler struck the robber in the face, then grappled with him. The second robber fled, followed a minute later by his companion, who broke Wooster's hold and got away.

Two men of the same general description held up John Dugan and William Patterson, 5544 Pershing avenue, in front of 5770 Pershing avenue half an hour later. They took $2 from Patterson. When Dugan said he had only some change, they let him keep it.

Mrs. Joseph Ganz, wife of a painting contractor of 1339A Bayard avenue, reported she was robbed of $480 cash and a number of checks by a man who snatched her purse near Bayard avenue and Page boulevard at 8:30 p. m. Mrs. Ganz said she was walking with Philip Miller, 1339 Bayard avenue, when the robber stopped them and asked directions to an address on Bayard avenue. As she started to answer, the man seized the purse and fled through an alley. The money and checks represented receipts of Ganz's painting business and was not insured.

Shoe Store Robbed of $53.

Two men, who entered the shoe store of David Lipkofski, 4268 College avenue, held up Lipkofski for $53.

One of two Negroes who ordered cigars in the grocery of John Molinard, 2631 Wash street, drew a revolver and took $20 from the cash drawer. They escaped.

Ross Bonnie, a driver for the Pevely Dairy Co., reported he was robbed of $40 by an armed man, who jumped on his wagon yesterday afternoon at McKinley and Taylor avenues and seized his cap in which he had been counting the money.

Eugene Setchfield, a grocer, said he was held up in his store at 5765 Maffitt avenue last night by two men. He lost $40.

When Lewell S. Genung, 3802 Westminster place, stopped his automobile at Sarah street and Westminster place at 11 o'clock last night two youths, one carrying a revolver, jumped on the running board of the car and demanded money. Genung handed over $8 and when the youths jumped off and ran he followed them in his car to Culver way and then on foot to Olive street, where he lost track of them. Genung said one of the robbers seemed to be about 15 years old.

Two in Grocery Held Up.

An armed man, who entered a Piggly-Wiggly grocery at 1914 Union boulevard yesterday afternoon, held up J. L. Patterson, the manager, and a woman customer, and escaped with $40, which he took from the cash register.

Samuel Jacobs, attendant at an oil filling station at 8740 Jennings road, St. Louis County, reported he was held up by a white man who had his face blackened, at 10 p. m. and robbed of $12.

Mrs. Mary Uykosky, 1021 Rutger street, discovered her purse open at Broadway and Washington avenue yesterday afternoon and $200 missing.

Mrs. Letty Omohundro, 43 years old, 5037 Union boulevard, reported to police that she was seized by two men at Broadway and Olive street at 9:30 p. m., forced into an automobile and then taken home after being robbed of $2.40. Mrs. Omohundro said she had just left a theater when the men forced her into their machine. They drove around for two hours and a half, she said, and agreed to take her home when she promised to give them $10 in addition to the $2.40 which they took from her purse. The men threatened to return and kill her if she failed to get $10 from her husband, she said. While she was relating her experience to her husband the men drove away.

Samuel M. Jenkins, proprietor of a filling station at 8740 Jennings road, was held up by an armed man at 9:30 o'clock last night and robbed of $12.

A squat man wearing smoked glasses obtained $50 in a holdup of a Kroger store at 1239 Sutter avenue, Wellston, yesterday afternoon.

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA., AIRPORT TO HAVE DIRIGIBLE HANGAR

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Nov. 14.—Construction of a dirigible hangar at the Municipal Airport here as the southern base for the Goodyear-Zeppelin Co. of Akron, O., was authorized yesterday by the St. Petersburg Board of Commissioners. The hangar is to be completed by Jan. 15, when the Puritan, baby dirigible, is due here from Akron, on the longest continuous flight yet attempted by an airship of its size.

The hangar is to be constructed for a dirigible now being built at Akron, which will accommodate [illegible] passengers and which the Goodyear-Zeppelin Co. announced would be placed in St. Petersburg-Havana service.

GOV. SMITH SAYS HOOVER SHOULD HAVE FAIR CHANCE

In Last Message to People, Broadcast Over National Chain, He Tells Party to "Carry On."

LEAVES TODAY FOR VACATION IN SOUTH

With Raskob and Other Friends, Will Seek Relaxation at Biloxi, Miss., on Gulf of Mexico.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith told the country over the radio last night that the principles of the Democratic party were as great in defeat as they would have been in victory, and that it was the party's duty "to carry on and vindicate" the principles for which it had fought.

Standing before a microphone in a National Broadcasting studio, the defeated Democratic presidential candidate delivered what many had called his political valedictory.

His speech, broadcast over a nationwide hookup of stations, urged united support of Herbert Hoover —although he did not mention the President-elect by name—asserting that the man selected by the people last Tuesday to lead the country was "not the President of the Republican party, but President of the United States."

It would not do, said Gov. Smith, to let bitterness, rancor or indignation over the result "blind us to the outstanding fact that we are Americans."

To Rest at Biloxi, Miss.

Gov. Smith announced last night that his vacation would be spent in Biloxi, Miss. He said he did not know how long he was going to stay. "What I want to know," he said, "is how the golf is down there."

He left New York for Biloxi at 10 o'clock this morning, over the Pennsylvania Railroad, accompanied by John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, and his close friends, William F. Kenny and James J. Riordan.

Text of Address.

The text of Gov. Smith's address follows:

"Now that the dust and smoke of battle have cleared away, I am grateful for the privilege extended to me by the Democratic National Committee of speaking to millions of my fellow-citizens and of presenting to them some reflections of the campaign just ended.

"The Democratic party is the oldest political organization in the United States, so well defined are the doctrines and the principles upon which it is founded that it has survived defeat after defeat. In the 65 years that have passed since the Civil War, only two Presidents were elected on the Democratic ticket. No political organization otherwise founded would have been able during all these years to maintain an appeal to the people that brought to the polls on last election day—14,500,000 voters, subscribing once more to its platform and renewing their pledges to the principles which it has upheld throughout its long history.

"The verdict of the American people last Tuesday was not a crushing defeat of the Democratic party that some of the headlines in the public press would have us believe. On the contrary, let us see what the facts are. Take the popular votes:

Democratic Party Still Strong.

"A change of 10 per cent of the total number of votes cast would have changed the popular result. Considering it from the viewpoint of our Electoral College system, a change of less than 500,000 votes spread around the country would have altered the result. We have, therefore, the assurance from the election returns that the Democratic party is alive. A vigorous and forceful existence of such a party is necessary under our system of government. The people rule negatively as well as affirmatively, and a vigorous and intelligent minority is a necessary check upon the tyranny of the majority. Experience has always shown even in our small political subdivisions that when the minority party is weak and hopeless, grave abuses creep into the structure of government and the administration of its affairs.

"When the majority party believes that it has everything its own way, it loses its fear of reprisals at the polls for mismanagement or misconduct of the government. A political party is organized to help the country and not merely to achieve victory. It survives not on the basis of the reward it secures for its followers but on the strength and the soundness of the principles for which it stands. A political party can

A Wife's Gratitude

"I wish," she writes, "you would make all husbands carry large policies."

Her husband is totally and permanently disabled but receives a life income of $200 a month because the agent persuaded him to take a $20,000 policy instead of $5,000, which would have paid only $50 monthly. No wonder she is grateful to the Agent.

At her husband's death the wife will have $20,000 instead of $5,000; or, at 5%, $1,000 a year instead of $250.

only justify its existence insofar as it operates for the purpose of promoting the welfare, the well-being and the best interests of the people.

'Duty to Carry On.'

"The principles for which the Democratic party stands are as great in defeat, as they would have been in victory, and it is our duty to carry on and vindicate the principles for which we fought. The Democratic party today is the great liberal party of the nation. It leads the progressive thought in all the countries. It holds out the only hope of return of the fundamental principles on which this country was oulit and as a result of which it has grown and thrived.

"To the young men and women of the country, the Democratic party with its fine traditions, and its breadth of vision, offers the only inspiration. The Democratic party would not be in a position four years from now to solicit the confidence and the support of the American people, if during the period it neglected to build up a constructive program and relied entirely upon the failure of the opposition party. That cannot be done by the minority party permitting itself to become a party of destruction and opposition for political purposes only. We have seen too much of that in this country and in many of its civil divisions. It has been particularly noticeable in the State of New York, where great forward-looking constructive measures were delayed for years by partisan opposition seeking to withhold from the Democratic party credit for their accomplishments.

"The party responsibility for such obstruction tactics has been rebuked by the people at the polls no later than last Tuesday. Too often the minority has attempted to ride into power by taking advantage of the fairure of the majority that led into an actuality he campaign promises upon which it sought the suffrage of the people.

"While it is true that every patry must adhere to its fundamental principles, obstruction and blockade for the sole purpose of embarassing the party in power are not calculated to promote the best interests of the country. It would be regarded as a constructive achievement if the Democratic party at Washington were to formulate a program adapted and offered to the Congress of the nation and there defend it, and a refusal on the part of the party in power to accept it, or their inability to bring about party unity for the solution of these problems would then fix responsibility and make a record upon which a successful campaign can be waged four years from now.

Progress . . w.

"In other words, the Democratic party would not be acting in good faith with the people of the country, nor in good faith with the millions of those who rallied to its support if it were to sit by and adopt a policy of inaction with a hope of profiting solely by the mistake or the failure of the opposition.

"What this country demands is constructive and not destructive criticism. A constructive program embodying the declarations of the Democratic platform should be promptly delevoped. Above all things the function of a minority party is educational in character. It will not do for the rank and file of the American people to be intensely interested in the issue and party program for a couple of months before election and then permit that interest to die out when the result is announced. Political platforms and political promises are not self-enacting.

"The political history of the United States clearly indicates that every progressive step, every Government reform, has been won only after a period of persistent effort and by the slow process of educating the electorate.

"The first and indispensable element of education is information. A full and complete presentation of the facts is easier to do today than it was years ago with the use of the radio and the increasing interests of our young people in public affairs. It must be remembered that, while the political party may seriously divide public thought and public opinion throughout the country during the progress of the campaign, after the American people have made their decision the man selected is not the President of the Republican party, but the President of the United States. He is the President of all the people and as such he is entitled to all the co-operation of every citizen in the development of a program calculated to promote the welfare and the best interests of this country.

"He is entitled to a fair opportunity to develop such a program. Only when he fails to accomplish it does his administration become the subject of proper criticism by the opposition party. Premature criticism not only fails of its purpose but often results to the disadvantage of the critic himself.

Warns Against Bitterness.

"Party responsibility is not confined to its handling of governmental affairs. A political party must also be accountable to the people of the United States for the management of its internal affairs, and no political party can afford to accept the support of forces for which it refuses to accept responsibility. It will not do to let bitterness, rancor or indignation over the result blind us to the one outstanding fact, that above everything else we are Americans. No matter with what party we aligned ourselves on election day, our concern should be for the future welfare, happiness, contentment and

Youthful Pep Comes Back in Middle Age

Phospho-Cod brings back lost vigor and energy to hundreds

Why let old age come on before its time? There's no reason why middle-aged people can't be as active, energetic, and full of pep as young folks.

A fine old prescription, known as Phospho-Cod, does the trick. Its success has been so astounding that Walgreen Drug Stores guarantee it absolutely. They make you this offer: If, in twelve days, Phospho-Cod doesn't double your pep and energy, they will refund what you pay for it.

Phospho-Cod brings you the pep-restoring, health-building peptones of cod livers, together with purifying extracts and hypophosphites which help throw off the poisons that weaken the system. And, it's a pleasure to take it, for it has a flavor like rare old wine.

Don't be satisfied another day without your full share of pep and energy. Get Phospho-Cod, and let it bring you back to that condition of body and mind which makes you equal to any task, however big. Win back the strength and vigor which enables you to finish the day strong, with plenty left for the pleasures in life. prosperity of the American people.

Party Not Impaired by Defeat.

"At this point I desire to express my gratitude from the bottom of my heart to the millions who voted for me, to the millions who worked for me, to the party leaders throughout the United States who rendered loyal service to the Democratic party and to our country. I want this to include the men and women throughout the country not members of the Democratic party who took inspiration from the progressive platform, adopted at the Democratic convention, and supported my declaration of purpose with respect to those purposes. Thousands of letters and telegrams have come to me asking that I not lose interest in the Democratic party.

"Let me take this modern means of making reply to them, by making the definite statement that I do not regard the defeat of the Democratic party as impairing in the slightest degree the soundness of the principles for which it stands. I am just as anxious to see them succeed as when the party honored me with the nomination, and with all the vigor that I can command I will not only stand for that—I will battle for it.

"It would be unnatural for me not to be disappointed at the result. Tonight, however, as I address these few remarks to my friends all over the country, I look back on my 25 years of public service. I recall when for the first time the Democratic party selected me, a struggling youth, for an elective office as member of the Legislature. I recall my first official visit to the Capitol at Albany, and never shall I forget the thoughts that ran through my mind at that time. Many years later I felt that I had achieved by greatest ambition when the Democratic party made me its standard-bearer in the State.

"To that party and to the people of this State, who have four times elected me as their Chief Executive, I shall always be profoundly grateful. I have in a measure attempted to express that gratitude in the form of devotion to public service. In return for the confidence reposed in me by the people of my State, I endeavored to administer the affairs of the State with an eye single to the welfare and the interest of her people.

"The Democratic party this year conferred upon me the greatest honor it can offer to any of its members—the nomination for the presidency of these United States. Regardless of the outcome, in spirit of the deepest appreciation of the opportunities afforded me and of the loyal support given me by upwards of 14,500,000 of my fellow citizens, I pledge my unceasing interest and concern with public affairs and the well-being of the American people.

"America cannot be unmindful of the blessings that have been showered upon her by an almighty and a divine Providence. The history of our country indicates that His sustaining hand has guided us since the very hour of our discovery. Nobody can read our history and be unmindful of the proclamation of the President of the United States, asking that on Thanksgiving day, in grateful appreciation, we offer thanks by prayer, and at the same time pray for a continuance of that benediction.

"Nor shall we ever fail, upon each recurring anniversary of Thanksgiving to invoke the aid of the Ruler of the Universe—that we may never lose our faith in the fundamental principles upon which this country was founded, and that must have been borne of divine inspiration."

ROADHOUSE WATCHMAN UNDER BOND FOR SHOOTING WOMAN

Intent to Kill Charge Against Bryan Downey, Who Wounded Miss Theresa Denogone.

A warrant charging assault with intent to kill was issued yesterday against Bryan Downey, night watchman at The Maples, a roadhouse at 9402 Manchester road, who shot Miss Theresa Denogone of 9232 Manchester road in the right shoulder Monday night.

The shooting occurred after Downey had been evicted from a saloon at 9232 Manchester road, the figure of Miss Denogone apparently having been mistaken for that of Silvio Massa, proprietor of the saloon.

Downey is at liberty under a $5000 bond.

$26,000,000 DEPOSITED BY PUPILS IN SCHOOL BANKS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Four million pupils in the country's public schools have saved $26,000,000 through the opportunities provided in the savings bank systems of 14,000 schools, W. Espey Albig, Deputy Manager of the American Bankers Association, announces in his annual report.

Interest paid on these deposits during the past twelve months totalled $947,610, an increase of 19.5 per cent over the previous year. However, the one disturbing factor, Albig said, was the increase in the percentage of money withdrawn from the deposits, the withdrawals showing a 15.4 per cent increase over the preceding period.

Towns in which high school deposits report 100 per cent deposits include East St. Louis, Ill.

BIRGERITE WOOTEN AND COMPANION IN JAILBREAK CAUGHT

Gangster Accused in Price Killings and Mike Kurant, Murderer, Found Near Havana, Ill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 14.—Freddie Wooten, Birger gangster, and Mike Kurant, confessed murderer, who escaped from the Madison County jail at Edwardsville, Oct. 27, were captured late yesterday in a cottage on the Illinois River at Matanza Beach, five miles south of Havana, Ill.

With Wooten's wife and 4-year-old son and two other men who refused to tell who they were, the fugitives were taken to jail here for safe-keeping. They will be returned to Edwardsville.

Wooten was held at Edwardsville awaiting trial for the murders of State Patrodman Lory L. Price and his wife, who were slain two years ago.

Kurant had appealed from a death sentence in the murder of Paul Budde during a holdup at Wood River, Ill., in June, 1927. They escaped from jail by sawing through the bars of a window of a cellroom.

Caught in Auto Theft Inquiry.

The capture of the men came about through the investigation of an alleged automobile theft ring said to be operating in the vicinity of Peoria and Havana. Last week on an anonymous tip, detectives raided a house in Peoria and arrested two men suspected of automobile thefts. There was no evidence and the men were released.

However, the men were followed after they left police headquarters and unwittingly led detectives 60 miles to the Illinois River cottage where they joined Wooten and Kurant. Sheriff Ernest Kramer of Mason County, called from Havana, joined in the investigation. He rented an adjoining cottage and assigned three deputies to the place in an effort to connect the men with automobile thefts.

During three days the deputies became acquainted with the occupants of the cottage and recognized Wooten and Kurant from circulars they had seen. Confirming their suspicions from Bertillon records, they went to the cottage to arrest the men.

Beaten in Fight With Officers.

When the men were ordered to surrender, Kurant fled to the second floor in search of a weapon, but was captured and overpowered before he obtained a means of defense. Wooten, the Deputies reported, offered resistance and was beaten into submission.

Kurant readily admitted his identity, but Wooten was obdurate. Even when Sheriff Hermann and two Deputies from Edwardsville appeared today and identified him, Wooten insisted they were wrong. Confronted with his photograph, Bertillon measurements and a reward circular, he grunted, "Hell, that ain't me."

The two other men at first said they were Ray Walker and Ray Meyers, but later admitted the names were false. They refused to say whom they were and Wooten and Kurant would divulge no information about them. Sheriff Herman and his men were unable to identify the two men.

In the cottage were found two .45-caliber revolvers, two .45 caliber automatic pistols, a sawed-off shotgun, a repeating rifle, a pair of handcuffs, 200 shells of various sizes, a gold Deputy Sheriff's badge and two savings banks from East St. Louis banks. Several hundred dollars in currency were found on the men when they were received at the Peoria jail.

GROCERY EMPLOYE SHOOTS SELF TO DEATH ON STREET

Joseph Schmidt, 62 years old, of 901 Lami street, killed himself with a revolver on the street at Ninth street and Ann avenue at 6:10 o'clock last night.

In Schmidt's clothing were notes addressed to his daughter, Mrs. Clara Fone, 2301 Salena street, and John Sartorius, proprietor of a grocery at 2026 South Ninth street, where he was employed. In both notes Schmidt declared that he "was tired of life" and expressed the hope that he would "make a good job of this."

Bert C. Lines, 42 years old, a carpenter, 6113 Page boulevard, was found with his throat and wrists cut in a building at 6203 Easton avenue, where he was employed. A farewell note addressed to his wife, Irene, was in his pocket and an open pocket knife was by his side. He is in a serious condition at St. Luke's Hospital.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

NEW POLISH MOP FOR FLOORS MAKES BIG ROOMS "SMALL"

Once over at regular periods with the O-Cedar Polish Mop keeps floors dustless, sparkling and clean

Even the largest O-Cedar Polish Mops are light as a feather. They glide swiftly over the floor. Yet they dust, polish and clean (in one operation) better than any other method you ever tried. Even the largest room seems small, so quick is the O-Cedar way.

The improved triangular O-Cedar Polish Mops are stronger and more lasting. The handle connection at mop is permanently attached to a solid steel center that can't break. The mop is detachable from the frame. It is easily washed or sent to the laundry—easily renewed with O-Cedar Polish.

Buy O-Cedar Polish Mops and Polish before beginning your fall house-cleaning. Sold at hardware, grocery, drug, department and other stores. Mops, 75c, $1, $1.25. Polish, 4-oz. bottle, 30c; 12 oz., 60c.

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Put this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

ETNA ERUPTION DAMAGE PLACED AT $18,500,000

Lava Flow Diminishing — Complete Cessation of Crater's Activity Within Three Days Forecast.

By the Associated Press.

CATANIA, Sicily, Nov. 14.—The loss caused by the torrent of molten lava pouring from out Mt. Etna today was estimated at about $18,500,000. Work of reconstruction was being planned with the complete cessation of the eruption predicted within two or three days.

The damage estimates included $8,500,000 for devastation of forests, $3,000,000 for destruction of agricultural lands and $2,500,000 for interruption of traffic and consequent loss to commerce. Destruction of buildings, roads, bridges, railways and telephone and telegraph lines made up the balance.

The lava reached a road over which passengers had been taken in automobiles to trains on the other side of the main lava stream. This shut off that route between Messina and Catania and the Italian engineer corps seized picks and shovels and started construction of a new road 150 yards beyond the demolished one. The route is essential for maintenance of the economic life of Sicily's 4,000,000 inhabitants and mapping of new transportation arteries around lava deposits was under way.

Director Malladra of the Vesuvius Observatory said that unless something unforeseen occurs there will be a complete cessation of Mount Etna's activity within two or three days.

Residents of Stricken Zone Return to Damaged Homes.

By the Associated Press.

GIARRE, Sicily, Nov. 14.—With the lava flow from Mt. Etna diminishing hourly in intensity, residents of the stricken region today were gradually reorganizing their economic life to meet the new conditions that nature has forced on them.

Engineers were working away on a new road over which railway passengers and baggage will be transported so that the cut in the Messina-Catania line will not hold up communications too long. Steamer service between the two cities and the railway detour by way of Catania, Termini Immerese and Palermo has relieved the direct line somewhat. The functioning of the disrupted line is regarded as essential, however, to the movement of commodities for the entire district.

There was some talk today of tunneling through the lava which spread over the road as soon as the molten stream cooled and its flow subsided. This would restore the severed railway to normal service.

One of the happiest citizens over the diminution of the lava flow was Leonardo Patane, 100 years old, who is known as the "Grandpa of Nunziata." He steadfastly refused to leave the threatened village. He proclaimed that he would be the last to leave. Today he was saying "I told you so" in Sicilian dialect to all visitors.

Fargo (N. D.) Man Ends Life While Inspectors Are Making Check.

By the Associated Press.

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 14.—Postal inspectors who expressed a desire to talk with T. Verne Carey, 45 years old, Assistant Postmaster, following their annual check of the Postoffice finances, found he had killed himself. Postmaster Hugh Corrigan discovered Carey's body, a bullet through the head, a pistol nearby.

A shortage of approximately $10,000 in the accounts of Carey was reported to Rush D. Simmons, Northwest Postal Inspector, by Postoffice Inspectors.

Headache

If other remedies fail, try Anti-Kamnia Tablets—pain's greatest enemy—the standard of them all. Prescribed by doctors and dentists the world over for more than 35 years. 1 or 2 "A-K" Tablets quickly banish pains of all kinds; also end insomnia and nervousness by promoting restful sleep. 25 millions used annually. Druggists everywhere sell Anti-Kamnia Tablets in handy, flat tins—25 cents. A-K on every tablet.

GLIMPSED
Here and There
Along the Store's Busy Thoroughfares

When the Heavens Give!

..and the white snow falls all around, be careful of your fine shoes. Let the Shuglove do your worrying. A light rubber overshoe, form fitting, zipper closing, fuzzy-lined overshoe. In nude and brown with darker cuff. $4.50. Shoe Section, Third Floor.

For the Ladies

Vest and French panty of crepe de chine fastened together in suspender effect. Tiny pearl buttons decorate as well as fasten the suspender and the fitted waist of the panty. Surprisingly novel. $9.95. Lingerie Salon, Fifth Floor.

If You Haven't One, You Should Have

Shawls of crepe de chine with long silk fringe and gayly embroidered flowers are sure to make an impression on you. They are really intriguing with their allover embroidered designs of bright colors, $10.95 and $14.95. Scarf Section, Main Floor.

Paris Interprets the Spread Mode

Lovely Gros de Londres with applique velvet and metallic cloth floral designs. Exquisite for a chaise lounge or bed, with matching pillows. For chaise lounge, $150; pillow, $49.95; single bed size, $175 each; pillow, $39.95. Double bed size, $255; large pillow, $49.95. Individual pillows, $34.95 and $39.95. Art Needlework Dept., Sixth Floor.

Coffee Service

Hand-painted china and nickel ingeniously combined makes a most inviting after-dinner coffee service. Heatproof china percolator, nickel base—stands on a nickel tray with six demi-tasse cups of china in nickel containers, also cream and sugar. Buff china is used as the background for these colorful and dainty designs. Royal Boquet, $56; Golden Pheasant, $61.50, and Modernistic, $69. Electrical Dept., Seventh Floor.

Looking at the World Through Chantilly Curtains

This should prove to be a pleasant occupation. A most tempting window, one of the many in the department, uses this lace for panel and curtain, with deep flounces and tie-back. Adaptable for bedroom or living room. Panel, $11; Curtains, $16 and $24 a pair. Drapery Dept., Sixth Floor.

Radio or Phonograph

Playing either, the tone of this new Balkite Symphion instrument is superb. An elaborate Berkey & Gay cabinet of matched walnut with record drawer makes this a most desirable piece of furniture as well. The radio is of an entirely new principle with high frequency circuit. $995. Radio Section, Eighth Floor.

When the Weather Is Bad

And you have read enough, the inevitable question crops up—what to do? Wouldn't it be fortunate if you had a pool table in the house. How could you spend a more pleasant evening than improving your game. There is a large selection of genuine Brunswick pool tables from $18 to $185. Sporting Goods Section, Eighth Floor.

Put Baby on Record

Memories often fail—you should have a baby book on hand when any signs of progress can immediately be jotted down. In pink or blue is a loose-leaf record book with pages for pictures—first toys, prayers, bright sayings and all of the things that happens to the babe or that he or she does. $1.75. Infants' Dept., Fifth Floor.

Junior Edition of the Fur Coat

European lamb—looks like beaver—is used for these swanky single-breasted tailored coats. Self-Johnny collars and cuffs, fastened with two large buttons; large pockets, lovely two-tone crepe de chine lining. For girls from 6 to 14, $49.75 to $65. Junior Dept., Fourth Floor.

And Now Sheets in Pastel Colors

Neatly boxed in gift boxes come colored sheets and two pillowcases for twin or single bed, 72 by 99 inches; pillowcases, 42 by 38½ inches the set, $7.45. Double bed sheets, 81 by 99 inches; pillowcases, 42 by 38½ inches. Hand-drawn thread, hemstitched hem, in soft bedroom tones of green, blue, orchid, pink and maize. $7.95 a set. Bedding Section, Third Floor.

When Shades of Evening Fall

The mind turns to evening stockings—Conrad's seem to have the perfect color to correspond with the very dress you are trying to match. Delightfully sheer all silk chiffon hose in peach, mauve, aurora, vida, tea rose, as well as gold and silver, $3.95. Shoe Section, Third Floor.

What Appenzell Means—

When applied to handkerchiefs everyone in the "know" sits up and takes notice. All handmade with tiny rows of hemstitching and daintily embroidery motifs in fine linen. A beautiful collection, moderately priced from $2 to $5. Handkerchief Section, Main Floor.

TESTIMONY OF STEWART REVISED FOR EVIDENCE

Counsel in Perjury Trial Correct Stenographic Account of His Answers at Senate Inquiry.

DEFENSE TO SEEK DIRECTED VERDICT

Oil Magnate Expected to Take Stand and Deny Saying He Did Not Get Continental Bonds.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The defense will ask Justice Jennings Bailey to direct a verdict of acquittal when the Government concludes the presentation of its evidence against Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, charged with giving perjured testimony before the Senate Teapot Dome Committee last February. This announcement was made at the noon recess by Frank J. Hogan, Stewart's chief counsel. He did not indicate that he thought the motion would be granted.

All the morning session was consumed in reading the official record of Stewart's testimony before the committee. District Attorney Rover read the committee's questions and Hogan read Stewart's answers. Who suggested this arrangement was not disclosed, but it was noticeable that Stewart's answers lost none of their effectiveness in the mouth of his attorney.

Denied Receiving Bonds.

The committee was endeavoring to ascertain from Stewart what became of the remaining Liberty bonds accumulated by the notorious Continental Trading Co. after some of them had been used in corrupting Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall for the lease on Teapot Dome. Stewart testified that he had not personally received any of the bonds and knew nothing about their distribution. Subsequently, it developed that he had received $750,000 of them and had them in a safe in his office at the time he testified.

He refused to tell whether he knew who got the bonds, and was indicted and tried for contempt of the Senate. A jury acquitted him. The perjury indictment followed.

Correct Stenographic Report.

Counsel today completed correction of the stenographic account of Stewart's testimony before the committee.

With a great number of revisions agreed upon after comparison of the printed record with notes of the official stenographers, the new version was admitted into evidence and read to the jury.

It appeared likely that the prosecution would wind up its case by Friday, with the defense presentation going into next week. Stewart is expected by his counsel to deny having told the committee he had no knowledge of the distribution of any bonds by the Continental company.

Some Errors in Transcript.

Cross examination of Government witnesses yesterday left no doubt that Hogan intends to attack the accuracy of the shorthand report of Stewart's testimony. That shorthand is "not a perfect science," that stenographers sometimes make mistakes, and that some errors did occur in this same transcript, were admissions which Hogan drew from the witnesses with much gusto.

It appears certain that Stewart will take the stand in his own defense and contend that he did not give some of the testimony which is accredited to him in the official record. That he will deny saying that he did not personally receive the bonds, and had nothing to do with the distribution of them, would seem almost incredible, when it is remembered that more than 100 persons, including this writer and 20 other newspaper men, were present and heard him.

Nevertheless, experience has shown that nothing is impossible in the oil cases. It will be recalled that the defense of E. L. Doheny was based largely on the claim that he secretly leased the Elk Hills oil reserve as "a patriotic measure" to "safeguard the United States from attack by Japan," and that the $100,000 cash which he sent to Secretary of the Interior Fall in a black satchel was merely "a loan from one old prospector to another." Furthermore, it will be recalled that a jury very much like this one believed his story and acquitted him.

Hogan, who is conducting Stewart's case, conducted Doheny's. His court room strategy is always audacious and original.

Attacks Walsh's Memory.

When Senator Walsh testified yesterday that Stewart did say he had not received any of the bonds, and had nothing to do with the RUMOR continues to connect the name of Senator Borah with the coming vacancy at the head of the State Department. In the opinion of this column, it is not in the cards for Borah to become a member of the Cabinet. There is better reason to believe that his real ambition is to round out his career on the bench of the United States Supreme Court.

A LOT of "inside" information will go wrong if Mr. Hoover, early in his administration, does not recommend that the administration of the prohibition laws be transferred from the Treasury to the Justice Department. It's a good guess that this is one of the reforms which the President-elect has in mind. If Mr. Hoover comes out for it, he will find himself, for once, in agreement with his political arch-enemy, Senator Reed.

TUESDAY was the seventy-second anniversary of that revered exponent of liberal opinion—Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court. Next to his companion in arms, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, he is the oldest man on the bench. The older Justice Brandeis grows, the more he looks like Lincoln. His health appears excellent, and he does his full share of the work of the court. It is not generally known that Justice Brandeis began the practice of law in St. Louis. He was there only a short time before moving to Boston, where he became famous as "the people's lawyer." His sister, Fannie Brandeis, was the first wife of Charles Nagel of St. Louis.

GEN. JOHN J. ERSHING is giving part of his time to the promotion of the Washington (Episcopal) Cathedral, which Bishop Freeman and his associates hope to make the "Westminster Abbey of America." The cathedral is being built on Mount St. Alban in the northwest portion of the city and has already assumed an impressive size. Woodrow Wilson and Admiral Dewey are buried there. Gen. Pershing, who is chairman of a laymen's committee working for the completion of the cathedral, has said that "by its architectural beauty and purity it will stand as a symbol of the spiritual life of our people." The cathedral is said to be the first great structure built in the fourteenth century gothic style since the middle ages.

HIGHWAY bond issues of $240,000,000 were passed in four states on election day. Most notable of all the issues, according to national headquarters of the American Automobile Association, was that for $75,000,000 in Missouri. The State's limitation of the gasoline tax to 2 cents and of motor license fees to the present rate for a period of 10 years was declared by the A. A. A. to establish a precedent in "motordom's fight for fair taxation."

THERE has been some talk about the possibility of reprisal against Senator Norris for his support of Gov. Smith. After the election of 1924, it will be recalled, the Republican regulars punished the insurgent Senators who had openly supported La Follette by reading them out of the party. If this precedent should be followed, an effort would be made to oust Norris from one of the most important places in the Senate organization, the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee. It is altogether unlikely, however, that Norris will be interfered with. He is generally respected in the Senate for his sincerity. Besides, there is a feeling among the regulars, as expressed by Reed of Pennsylvania the other day, that the Senator from Nbraska has been "punished enough" by his failure to carry Nebraska for Smith. This is, indeed, the case. Norris is a sensitive man, and he has suffered deeply from the defection of old friends in his State.

MR. HOOVER'S visit to South America, as Washington interprets it, will serve three purposes. It will enable him to make a valuable first-hand study of that part of the world—the only part that he has not already covered in his travels—with a view to improving our relations with it and opening up new trade channels. Second, it will take him out of reach of a horde of clamorous office-seekers. Third, and not the least important from the President-elect's point of view, it will help to bridge what might be an embarrassing gap up to the fourth of March. Mr. Hoover, his friends say, wishes to avoid any appearance of seeking to share the Washington spotlight with President Coolidge in the closing months of the latter's administration. On his return from South America he is expected to go into seclusion—perhaps in Florida—and remain there until he comes to the Capital to be inaugurated.

DEBENTURE PLAN ON EXPORTS URGED BY FARM CHIEF

L. J. Taber Tells National Grange Tariff Rate Readjustments Also Are Necessary for Relief.

CALLS THE M'NARY BILL DEAD PROJECT

Says Government Should at Once Put Muscle Shoals in Operation—For National Land Policy.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Opening today the sixty-second annual session of the National Grange, one of the most important farm organizations of the country, Louis J. Taber, Master of the Grange, declared that the McNary-Haugen bill was dead and that the farm bodies of the country should now unite in sponsoring an agricultural relief program that could be promptly enacted into law.

Taber, a long-time farm leader, was a member of President Wilson's Fair Price Commission, which recommended the $2.20 wheat price during the world war.

"It is regrettable," said Taber, "that, after years of agitation and study, Congress failed to adopt any solution for our agricultural problems at its recent session.

"Many of our members could not support the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill. Ours is a national organization and views all problems from a national rather than a local or sectional viewpoint.

"We earnestly advocated the export debenture program, believing it to be the most practical, workable and logical plan yet offered for adjusting tariff in equalities."

Program Urged by Taber.

The agricultural rehabilitation program urged by Taber involves five main steps, as follows:

1. Organization, Production and Research—Wider organization of the farmers themselves for improvement purposes, better balanced crop production in all sections, extensive research to find industrial uses for surplus farm products.

2. Tariff Rate Readjustments—Increased duties on many agricultural imports, broadened powers of the Tariff Commission, equality for the farmer on a level with other producers.

3. Export Debenture Plan—Application to agriculture of the same type of adjustments of the tariff laws as have been necessary to accommodate industry. Specifically, the use of the export debenture as a means of making the tariff effective on those staple farm crops of which we still produce a surplus.

4. Organized Marketing — Replace present haphazard, careless dumping methods, with business-like distribution aided by the extension of co-operative marketing, but with the control always retained in the hands of the farmers themselves.

5. A National Land Policy—Opposing new irrigation and reclamation projects until evidences appear of actual need for food purposes. Encouragement of preservation and extension of forest and recreation areas, including the reforestation of certain farm lands.

Opposes "Corporation Farming."

Taber strongly opposed the various proposals to divert the nation's agriculture into "corporation farming," involving large investments of capital, mass production and substitution of hired farm labor for the present system of owner-operators.

"Agriculture in our land," he said, "is both a business and a mode of life. Where there is proper blending of industry, independence and self-reliance, the family unit makes for the best things, not only in agriculture, but in national existence, destroy the independent farm unit and we have destroyed the backbone of American agriculture."

Regarding the disposition of Muscle Shoals, Taber said the Government should at once put this great plant in operation and the surplus power should be disposed of in such a way as to protect the public interest.

Delegates from 30 states attended the session.

President Coolidge will address the convention at 8:30 o'clock Friday night and his speech will be carried over a nation-wide radio hookup.

Death in Mine Accidental.

A Coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accident the death of Conrad Armbruster, 60 years old, who died in St. Elizabeth's Hospital yesterday from a broken back suffered when he was caught under a fall of coal in the Elfrich Coal Co. mine near Belleville. The accident occurred last Friday.

UPROAR IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT OVER COOLIDGE SPEECH

Tories Jeer Lloyd George, Who Attacks Anglo-French Pact as Causing Suspicion in U. S.

ANGER AND ALARM SHOWN IN DISCUSSION

Premier Baldwin Averts Danger of Anti-American Outbreak — Ends by Quoting Lincoln.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON,
London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Leaders of all British political parties discussed the foreign policy of the empire last night during a debate in Parliament on the Anglo-French naval agreement. The discussion was remarkable for its strong undercurrent of anger and alarm at President Coolidge's Armistice day speech.

There was constant danger during David Lloyd George's attack upon the Government of an anti-American, or perhaps more accurately, anti-Coolidge outbreak from the Tory benches. At one moment it seemed to have started; but Lloyd George quelled it by a dramatic appeal in his best histrionic manner.

"I beg the honorable members to remember who and what they are," he said, "and that these matters involve the peace of the world."

The Liberal leader had been hammering away at the charge that Coolidge's speech indicates deep suspicion of Great Britain with consequent sponsorship of a big naval program and that the "sinister" Anglo-French pact was responsible for this.

Contrasted With Kellogg Pact.

The ex-Premier, contrasting the Kellogg pact, "signed with banquets and the blare of trumpets," with the Anglo-French agreement, "negotiated in a back room at Paris" about the same time, then quoted a Tory editor who declared the policy of the present Cabinet was unparalleled for "dull, obstinate mishandling of American affairs" since George III's Cabinet brought on the American Revolution.

This aroused the Tories and ironical jeers and laughter greeted Lloyd George's statement that "any man who conceives conflict with America possible ought to be treated as a dangerous lunatic."

Lloyd George went on to declare that the United States coveted no territory. Loud cries of "Oh! Oh!" and laughter from the Tory benches greeted his words and England's wartime Premier interjected, "Coolidge says so!"

The Tories on the back benches began cat calls and Lloyd George silenced them by his tone more than by his words as he invoked a vision of the harm an anti-American outburst would do.

"Hear! Hear!" broke from the lips of Lady Astor, sitting among a group of die-hards on the Tory side.

Winston Churchill, who had publicly committed himself as opposed to naval parity between Great Britain and the United States, had been announced to speak for the Baldwin government, but he did not do so. It was rumored that Premier Stanley Baldwin had ordered him not to speak.

Baldwin Quiets Commons.

The Premier himself stepped into the breach and handled Commons with the mastery which he has displayed in several important crises. When he sat down all desire to carp at the American President had been suppressed. He averted the danger of an outbreak by scoring in a quiet way what his followers regarded as points against Coolidge and wound up by quoting Lincoln.

Emphasizing the honesty of the Government's intentions, Baldwin denied that any concession had been made to France on the question of army reserves, saying that all countries which had a conscript system held to that viewpoint and it was impossible to "bully them into adoption of the British view."

The Premier was hopeful for a speedy solution of the Rhineland question, but he insisted that Great Britain was powerless to compel evacuation of the occupied territory. He maintained that the Government was not ashamed of its efforts in this respect nor of the failure of the naval accord

Then he took up Lloyd George's allusion to American suspicions and agreed with President Coolidge that there was a lack of mutual understanding between the United States and Europe. He laid this to the difficulty of arranging for personal intercourse between statesmen from the two sides of the Atlantic and he pointed out that European leaders had of late years met frequently at Geneva,

OBREGON KINSMAN TRIES TO SHOOT TORAL, KILLS SELF

Nephew of Murdered President-Elect of Mexico, Once Adjudged Irresponsible, Is Disarmed.

RELEASED, HE GOES HOME AND ENDS LIFE

Guard Increased Around Convicted Assassin, in Prison Pending Outcome of Appeal.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14.—Prevented from taking the life of Jose de Leon Toral, assassin of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Capt. Jesus Obregon, nephew of the slain President-elect, last night took his own life. An extraordinarily heavy guard was placed today about Toral's cell. He is under sentence of death.

Police described Capt. Obregon as mentally unbalanced.

Although only his parents have been allowed to visit Toral, Capt. Obregon gained admission to the penitentiary because he was well known to the authorities there. A visitor talking to a guard near Toral's cell noticed that Obregon was agitated. When he drew a pistol, the visitor and the guard rushed up and grappled with him. The weapon was wrested from his hand before he could fire.

Obregon was not detained by penitentiary officers. He returned to his home and locked himself in his room. Others in the house heard a shot and broke in the door. They found Obregon lying on the floor. He died at a first aid station.

Obregon was 26 years old and a son of Gen. Jesus Obregon, a brother of the slain President-elect. Several years ago he was an officer attached to the Inspector-General of Police. In 1922 he fatally shot a policeman and a court found him mentally irresponsible. Sometime ago he appeared at the door of a police station and opened fire on the occupants. He was sent to the State of Sonora but returned recently to Mexico City and attended Toral's trial.

Toral is in prison pending the outcome of an appeal by his attorneys to the Superior Court on the ground that Mexican law does not provide a death penalty for political crimes. He has maintained calm in his cell, dividing his time between writing his autobiography and pursuing his favorite recreation, sketching.

Mother Concepcion Aceveda de la LLata, who is under sentence of 20 years' imprisonment as an accomplice in the assassination, is in the same penitentiary. She spends much of her time in writing poetry and in prayer in her cell, which she has decorated with religious objects.

MONTANA WANTS NO DRY LAW

Proposal for State Prohibition Act Beaten, 73,288 to 65,835.

By the Associated Press.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 14.—A proposal to adopt the Federal prohibition laws as the liquor code of Montana was defeated by voters of that State a week ago, final tabulations by the Associated Press show. With the vote from 37 sprasely settled precincts missing, the proposal was running behind by 7443 votes. The totals to date, including returns from each county in the State, stand: For the proposal, 65,835; against, 73,278.

Montana has no State law in conformity with the Federal prohibition code.

Shower of Meteors to Begin In Northeastern Sky Tonight

By Dawn, Rapidly Moving Leonids Will be on View in the Southern Part of the Heavens.

(Copyright, 1928.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—After midnight tonight will come the greatest display of the Leonid shower, when dozens of meteors of "shooting stars," will seem to radiate from the constellation of Leo, the lion.

Actually, all of these meteors are moving around the sun in approximately parallel paths. When, at this time of year, the earth gets in the way of this swarm, a number enter the earth's atmosphere, where the friction heats them to incandescence. Usually they are burned up before they can reach the ground. Judging by the meteorites, or meteors that have fallen to the earth and have been recovered most meteors are stones, masses of crystalline rock sometimes weighing many tons but usually much smaller. Others are of iron alloyed with nickel and cobalt, while still others are mixtures of rock and iron. There is strong evidence that some of the meteors are remains of broken-up comets.

The Leonid meteors may be seen in the northeastern part of the sky when the sickle of Leo should be easily seen at midnight if the weather is clear. As the night grows later, this region of the sky will rise higher, until dawn, when it will be in the south. As it rises higher, the fainter stars will come into view, and if the sky is very clear, and one is away from the lights of a city, then practically all the stars shown will be visible.

There is no use hunting for the Leonids before midnight, and the greatest display will come about 3 to 4 a. m. Tonight and tomorrow night both bring them, but the greater number may be seen tonight.

One reason why the Leonids cannot be seem before midnight is that Leo has not yet risen then. Another is that the earth turns so that in the early morning hours a place on the earth's atmospheric crust hits the meteors head on. Before midnight the meteors have to catch up with the place, and so fewer arrive.

A person hunting meteors should have a clear view of the northeastern horizon. Of course the night must be clear. Astronomers never know just how many meteors will appear in a shower until they actually see it. Fifteen an hour is pretty good, while 10 an hour should be seen easily.

93 PCT. OF ST. LOUIS REGISTRANTS VOTED

Cast 339,358 Votes in Presidential Election Setting a Record.

An aggregate vote of 339,358 was cast in St. Louis for all candidates for President in the election of Nov. 6, as shown by the official compilation, completed by the Election Board today. This was 93 per cent of the registration, which was 361,939 The highest vote heretofore in St. Louis was 283,198, in 1920, which was 89 per cent of the registration of that year.

The vote for presidential candidates, taking in each case the presidential elector receiving the highest vote, was:

The vote for Governor was: Caulfield (Rep.), 175,867; Wilson (Dem.), 162,492; Hodges (Soc.), 753; Middlecoff (Soc.-L.), 109; W. G. Brandenburg (Pro.), 51; Caulfield's St. Louis plurality, 13,375.

For Senator: Patterson (Rep.), 170,645; Hay (Dem.), 167,771; Harrison (Soc.), 1032; Cox (Soc.L.), 108; James A. Reed (name written on the Prohibition party ticket), 1; Jimmy Daly (written), 1. Patterson's St. Louis plurality, 2874.

It was learned, in advance of the official announcement of the vote on local candidates, that William Dever's plurality over Dr. Emmet Rund for Coroner was 833. This was the closest local contest.

The Socialist vote shows a marked decline, in the face of the greatly increased registration. In 1920, 11,498 votes were cast in St. Louis for the Socialist and Socialist-Labor nominees for President. In 1924, La Follette was credited with 28,758 votes as the Socialist nominee, but only a fraction of these came from regular Socialist adherents. The Socialist-Labor candidate in 1920 got 306 votes here. In 1916, when only men voted, the vote for the Socialist and Socialist-Labor candidates here was 3743, and in 1912 it was 9793.

As compared with the unofficial figures, printed immediately after the election, the official St. Louis totals are slightly more favorable to Smith, Caulfield and Hay. The largest change is in the Smith-Hoover vote. Smith's plurality is 78 more than it was in the unofficial count. The unofficial count is conducted by newspaper employes, to whom the tally-sheet figures on the principal offices are furnished as the sheets come in from the precincts.

ARGENTINE TORNADO KILLS 18 IN ONE CITY

Property Loss at Villa Maria and Surrounding Region Placed at $1,500,000.

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 14.—Heavy loss of life and damage are reported from the region of Villa Maria, railway center, which was struck by a tornado yesterday. Eighteen persons are known to be dead in Villa Maria with the number of dead and injured in neighboring towns undetermined.

Villa Maria was partly in ruins today while nine other nearby towns had suffered much damage.

Property loss was estimated at $1,500,000, including damage to the flaxseed crops.

No house in Villa Maria remains sound and the town has no electric power because of the destruction of the power plants.

Forty persons were extricated, seriously injured, from the debris. A relief train carrying physicians and nurses was rushed to the scene.

One of the railway lines was destroyed for a distance of 85 kilometers. Lines of communication were severed and details of the disaster were scant.

A considerable portion of the crops in the region were ruined. Cereals, dairy products and timber are produced in large quantities near Villa Maria, which is in the Province of Cordova.

A loan of 10,000 pesos (about $9600) was decreed for relief work by the provincial government.

HOOVER TO VISIT MEXICO IN TOUR OF LATIN AMERICA

Whether He Will Stop at Acapulco on Way South or at Vera Cruz on Return Not Yet Decided.

HOMEWARD TRIP ON BATTLESHIP UTAH

Rest Prescribed for President-Elect—Senator Oddie and Mrs. Willebrandt Among Callers.

By the Associated Press.

PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 14.—Herbert Hoover will visit Mexico during the good will tour of Latin America, upon which he will embark next Monday from San Pedro, but whether it will be the first or the last of the republics on the itinerary is yet to be decided.

Alternate plans are under consideration, one calling for a stop at Acapulco, on the way to South America, and the other for a call at Vera Cruz on the return trip from Rio de Janeiro to Florida. Should the call be made at Acapulso, which is about 200 miles almost due south of Mexico City, President Calles and Dwight W. Morrow, the American Ambassador, probably would welcome the President-elect there during a one-day stay of the good will ship, the battleship Maryland.

To Return on Battleship Utah.

If the visit is deferred until near the journey's end, the battleship Utah, upon which the last part of the voyage will be made, will proceed to Vera Cruz and the President-elect will go to the Mexican capital by rail to be welcomed there by Emilio Portes Gil, who will succeed to the Mexican presidency Dec. 1.

While details of the itinerary of the Latin-American trip still are being carefully guarded, it is thought here that Mr. Hoover would prefer to make an official call on the President at Mexico City. Since he will call on the Presidents of other republics at their capitals. The rail trip to Mexico City also would give him an opportunity to see and study part of the country.

With Acapulco eliminated from the itinerary, the Maryland would proceed from San Pedro direct to Balboa, at the Pacific entrance to the Panama Canal, a matter of six or seven days' steaming for the battleship at her usual cruising speed of 16 knots.

The President-elect, after spending yesterday in conference and on a shopping expedition to San Francisco, turned today to a detailed study of the Southern itinerary, but it was indicated that a final decision on all points would await the arrival here of Henry P. Fletcher, American Ambassador to Italy, who will accompany Mr. Hoover as the official representative of the State Department.

Capt. Victor A. Kimberly, commander of the Maryland, was to call today on the President-elect at his home here for discussion of various angles of the voyage to Valparaiso, where the party will leave the Pacific battle fleet flagship to make the overland journey to Buenos Aires. There the Utah

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be dauntlessly independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Needed: A Liberal Party.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN view of the crossed currents indicated in the recent national election I propose organizing a new political factor to be known as the Liberal party of America, the basic platform of this party to be:

1. Personal liberty.
2. Religious liberty.
3. Business liberty (that is taking politics out of business).
4. Conservation of our national resources.

The premise of personal liberty should be based on a Federal specific interpretation of the Volstead act as to what constitutes an intoxicant. Having arrived at a sensible definition to permit various states to sell under Government supervision, beverages that the Federal Constitution would permit as interpreted by the Volstead act.

Although I am not a political seer, I have discussed this new party with hundreds of people in Detroit, including members of both present major parties and there is a widespread belief that some such an organization is needed.

Detroit, Mich. E. B. HOUSEAL.

Sidener's Defeat.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE St. Louis Post-Dispatch can well be proud with the result of the election in the city. Due to your splendid efforts and the independent, just criticisms of the Bar Association, we have put Sidener and some Republican Judges just where they belong.

Koeln, Miller and Kiel had better take heed. The Republican City Committee should recognize they cannot dictate to the voters next spring, when we elect a new Mayor. The thinking population will not elect a Mayor who supported Sidener. The Republicans had a chance to have a fine Circuit Attorney of their party, but they were too stubborn.

A SPLIT-TICKET REPUBLICAN.

Mr. Coolidge's Contradiction.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHAT could be more contradictory than two of the major statements contained in President Coolidge's Armistice day speech, one that Mr. Kellogg's anti-war pact was in every way commendable and should be ratified, the other that our naval armament should be increased?

If the pact is successful, and a commendable pact should be, the armaments aren't necessary, and if we are going to be armed to the teeth, why be party to the hypocrisy of an anti-war pact?

Our President seems to have been afraid, on the one hand, of offending the pacifists, and on the other of offending the militarists, and accordingly has compromised himself by simultaneously attempting to please both, and very likely, by really offending both.

EDWIN ASHLEY LAMKE.

For a Widened Spring Avenue.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

FOR the sake of baseball, let us all attend the meeting (Nov. 27) in regard to widening Spring avenue from Page to Market. It will be a great convenience to the fans and the rest of the public to get away from Grand boulevard jams, of which there were many when the game was long and the workers coming home met the baseball crowd on Grand. This can easily be avoided with Spring avenue a wide boulevard from the ball park to Market.

ST. LOUIS BOOSTER.

Yellow Dog-ism Is Passe.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I WISH to congratulate you on two things: the editorial saluting Mr. Hoover as President-elect, and the intelligent, impartial estimate of outstate campaign prospects by the staff correspondent, Mr. Betts. He missed his forecast only because in excess of caution like others he failed to measure the sweep of the cyclone. It was plain to be seen two months ago that Missouri Democrats would lose several congressional seats in the rural districts. But a Hoover landslide defied all advance calculation.

Your editorial accepting the verdict of the people and congratulating the winner is not only sportsmanlike; it is good Americanism; it is Jeffersonian acquiescence in the will of the majority. You have demonstrated that yellow-dog partisanship is out of date in large metropolitan journalism. It ought to be a lesson also for the small town press and the small bore politician. They both belong to the fossiliferous age.

AN OLD LINE DEMOCRAT.

Northern and Southern Democracy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE Memphis Commercial-Appeal foretold that if the Southern Democrats refused to support the Northern Democrats they need never hope for the latter's support in the future. Had they done so, the Democratic party would have been within striking distance of legislative and executive control of the Federal Government. If it is true that the South is "through with Smith, Robinson and the Tammany crowd," it is more true that the Northern Democrats are through with the South, and, as Democrats, the South will never again have an executive in Washington.

LIBERAL.

MR. HOOVER'S MISSION.

Mr. Hoover's trip to Latin-America is an innovation that suggests a conception of government that is quite new to the United States. Like the Emperor Trajan, who was seldom in Rome, Mr. Hoover seems to feel that he can best serve the mutual interests of Latin-America and the United States by personal contact with the people concerned.

It is likely that as Secretary of Commerce he acquired an insight into the commercial problems of the United States that disposed him to the trip he is making. The Latin-Americans have not been a great happiness to us in commerce. That part of the continent is one of our great markets, but it is also one of the great markets of Europe. There are reasons why we should be the chief exporting nation to Latin-America. We are bound to it geographically, we have in common its democratic forms of government, and it has enjoyed under the Monroe doctrine a protection for which it is anything but ungrateful. Nevertheless, our exports to Latin-America have never been what they should have been. Efforts to improve them by generating good feeling between ourselves and the Latin-Americans have been a part of American policy for many years. Some of the most eminent of our statesmen, men like Mr. Root and Mr. Hughes, have visited both South and Central America and the isles of the Caribbean. Mr. Hoover, as the President-elect of the United States, is merely emphasizing that policy.

Our exports to Latin-America do not equal our imports from it. For instance, in 1925 our exports were worth $809,739,641, while our imports were worth $997,964,625. In 1926 the discrepancy was even greater. We exported goods worth $797,257,556 to Latin-America, and imported goods worth $1,045,145,425. The difficulty is that, whereas we can export to Latin-America only manufactured products as a rule, she can export to us only agricultural products as a rule. The intensely industrialized nations of Europe, that is, England, Germany, Belgium and France, maintain an active competition in manufactured goods with our exports to Latin-America. On the east coast of South America the markets are almost totally closed to us. Those people are much closer to Europe in custom and tradition than to the United States. For one thing, they all speak Spanish, Portuguese or French. Except British Guiana, in only the British insular possessions of the Caribbean countries is English spoken. Even in Cuba, Porto Rico, Haiti, Santo Domingo, Nicaragua and Panama, which are either part of our national domain or over which we exercise a virtual suzerainty, the languages are foreign.

Mr. Hoover is confounded by one very awkward problem in our relations with Latin-America—that is, our tariff on agricultural products. The Argentine and some others of the great agricultural countries of South America dislike our tariffs on grain as much as any tariffs anywhere are disliked. Those people, we may be sure, are well aware that Mr. Hoover suggested during the Presidential campaign even higher tariffs on foreign grain. This will not cool the ardor of their welcome; but it will make them wonder, as we wonder about our own farm problem, what can be done about it.

Politically, the trip Mr. Hoover is making ought to be helpful. It is very likely that his is a more conciliatory attitude toward Latin-America than Mr. Coolidge has maintained. Senator Borah asserts that this is so, and he has talked to Mr. Hoover about it. The unfortunate feature of the Coolidge policy has been its disposition to make the marines a collection agency for our financiers. We have also tried to validate dubious titles to lands held in Mexico by our oil pirates. The Latin-Americans have not liked this. They have always enjoyed our statesmen, when these have visited Latin-America, better than they have enjoyed our marines, our warships, our Sinclairs and our Dohenys. The presence of force, or its threat, has done our trade with the Latin-Americans no good. It has only collected some bad debts. The incidence of the superman, backed up by our government, be his methods whatever they would, has made the Latin-Americans afraid of our extra-legality. It has buttered no parsnips for American exporters.

Mr. Hoover's trip to Latin-America will therefore be more than an innovation. It will bring his practical, commercial mind to a problem which has heretofore all but baffled the United States.

MODESTY IN THE ORIENT.

A good many people thought Gov. Smith not overly modest in relating over the radio what he had done for the State of New York.

It is a fact we are not a modest people. In the Orient no such thing as saying that "I am such" or "so" could be imagined. In the archives of our State Department at Washington is a treaty of "friendship and commerce" between the United States and Persia dated 1856. The preamble begins:

The President of the United States of America and His Majesty, as exalted as the planet Saturn; the Sovereign to whom the sun serves as a standard; whose splendor and magnificence are equal to that of the skies; the Sublime Sovereign and Monarch whose armies are as numerous as the stars; whose greatness calls to mind that of Jemshid; whose magnificence equals that of Darius; the Heir of the Crown and Throne of the Kaianians; the Sublime Emperor of all Persia, etc.

It is just a matter of time and the consequent refinements of feeling. We are a young people.

PRINCE JOHN.

Prince John of Liechtenstein is not the hero of a comic opera, but a real person—the head man, as Moran and Mack would term him, of a half-forgotten principality of Europe. Prince John's attitude on farm relief, water power and prohibition, or their Liechtenstein equivalents, must be entirely satisfactory to his subjects. He has been their ruler for 70 years (he is now 88) and is within two years of tying the all-time record of Louis XIV. The Grand Monarch held forth from 1643 to 1715. In the end, having outlived all his contemporaries and a score of lights of love, Louis concluded that he was about all there was to France. "L'etat," quoth Louis, "c'est moi."

To our knowledge Prince John has not been influenced by Louis to claim that he is Liechtenstein, though he could do it with better grace. It seems that a large part of Liechtenstein's citizenry consists of Prince John's relatives, including a great number of direct descendants. Think of a man succeeding in the task of governing his own relatives, including fussy maiden aunts and flapper daughters! Besides, this beneficent Prince has showered largess upon his subjects. Much of his personal fortune has gone for public improvements, presumably to make "a bigger and better Liechtenstein." Or, perhaps, since Prince John must be a very wise man, to make a smaller and better Liechtenstein.

One often hears of Monaco, that gilded little state on the Mediterranean, less often of tiny Andorra, hidden in the Pyrenees. One never hears of Liechtenstein, tucked away between Austria and Switzerland. It must be a very happy country.

AN ERA OF GOOD FEELING.

Since Democrats nowhere are in a bad humor over the election, the country may be said to be enjoying an era of good feeling that must be very much like that which characterized the reign of James Monroe.

That is, most of the non-Democrats are quite happy in the conviction that they have saved the country from something or other. Probably no people in history were threatened by as many things as threatened us. Take prosperity. Saved. Nobody who has an income, whether big or little, a business, whether great or small, an expectation, whether assured or illusory, or a job, whether full time or part, must forego one jot or tittle of it. There is also the good cheer among a Protestant people that the Pope, either by direction or indirection, or openly, as Senator Heflin and Mrs. Willebrandt feared, or subtly, as Lawyer Marshall suspected, is not to impair our free institutions. There is, too, the comforting assurance, making blissful the rest of such people as Bishop Cannon, Senator Borah and the Rev. Dr. McBride, that the floodgates of rum are not to be opened and the country dragged down again to the degrading level of the saloon. But perhaps the sweetest of all our contents, and the one inducing the most perfect satisfaction with ourselves, is the escape from Tammany. That was a very real and present terror to a great many people. It was a horror that somehow seized upon the usually unterrified soul of William Allen White. It drove Senator Simmons of North Carolina into hysteria. In the minds of those people there thundered, like the Gods of the Mountain, the terrible march of another and an alien world advancing out of the dark deeps of New York upon the fairest of all fair demesnes, the White House. We escaped that, as we escaped another and even greater horde of undesirables that Gov. Smith was going to turn upon us from the human pigstys of the Mediterranean.

Any country, we take it, is thankful for deliverance. Our own ought therefore to celebrate Thanksgiving this year with unwonted fervor. It was delivered, among other things, from Socialism. It was delivered from what Mr. Hughes was pleased to term the dreadful uncertainty of chance. It was delivered from the baleful and devastating fever of doubt. The presidency itself was delivered from the peril of being voted down from the refined level of the Adamses and the Madisons to the malodors of Oliver street. The way lies before us wide and inviting, a way of delight and, if we will, of dalliance. Not one new thing is proposed. Only the tried, the true and the trusted, as great a balm as any people ever asked, as serene an augury as ever rivaled the rainbow.

We are a delivered people. There is not a cloud on the sky, not a fear unquieted, not a hatred left. It is 1817-1825 all over again—an era of good feeling.

THE PROBLEM OF STREETS.

It is proposed to pave 52.8 miles of St. Louis streets in 1929, at a cost of $4,500,000.

Well and good. Motorists would have no difficulty in pointing out twice 52.8 miles that need smoothing. All cities have had difficulty in keeping pace with the modern demand of traffic upon streets. St. Louis has no worse streets than many other cities.

The point now is, what will the city do with the 52.8 miles of new paving? Will it repeat its folly of the past? New streets have been made and then abandoned to wear and tear. Little holes have gone unrepaired until they became big holes. Big holes soon had the whole street crumbling and the city had to do the whole job over again.

No city administration has been to blame. Rather citizens as a whole have been guilty. They have failed to provide enough money to meet the rapidly increasing cost of city government. The city has reached its taxing limit. It can raise no more money. It must either raise assessments or persuade the State to raise the taxing limit. The latter course requires a constitutional amendment.

The Department of Streets and Sewers estimates that the life of paving in St. Louis could be doubled if money for timely repairs were at hand as needed. It would be cheaper in the end.

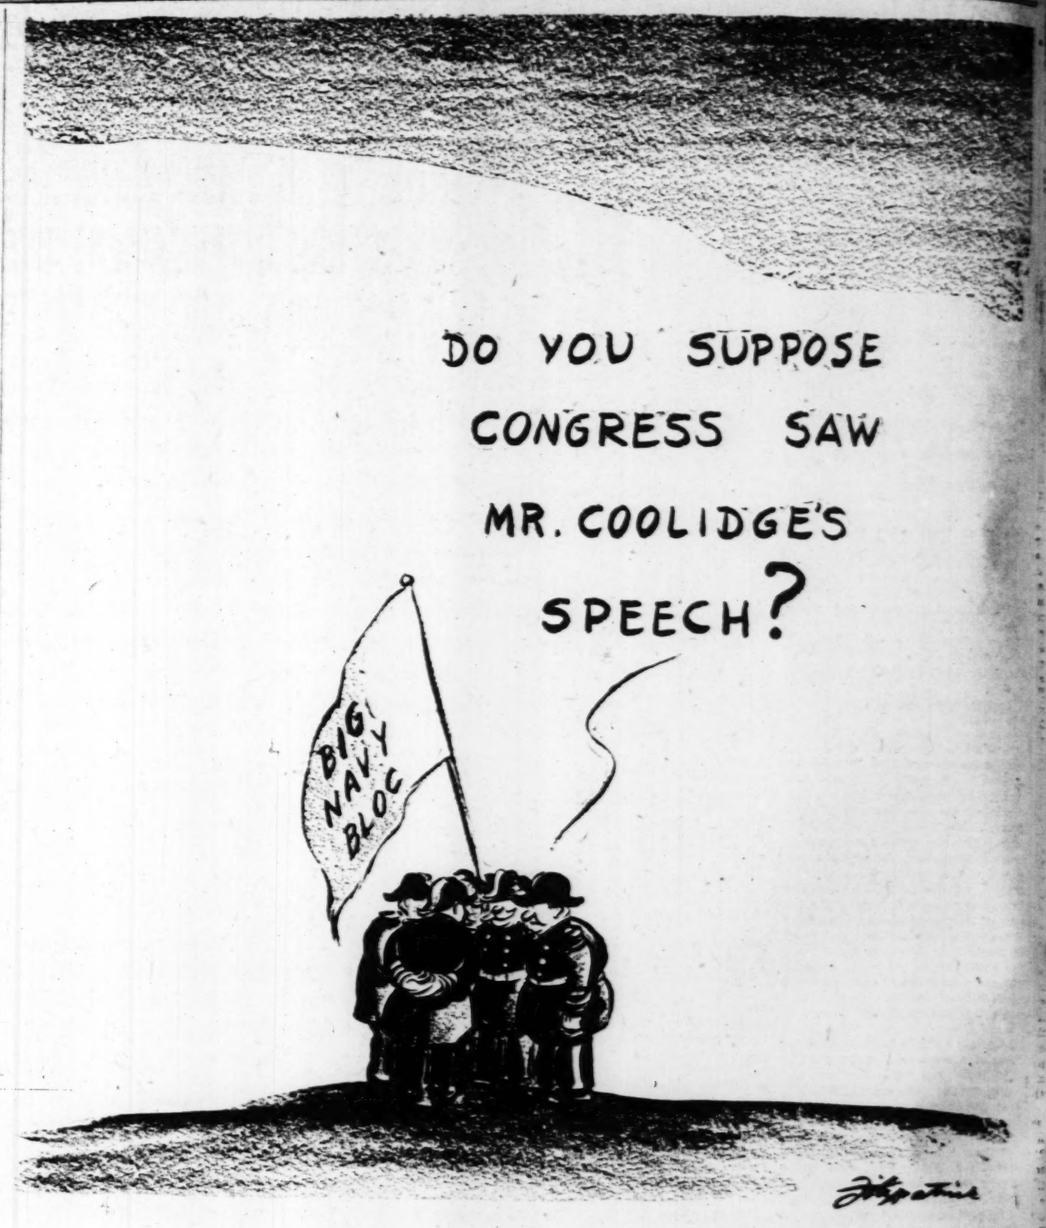

POLLYANA SURVEYS THE WOMEN'S PAGE.

For the life of us we don't see how people can say nothing in life interests them, that sometimes it doesn't seem worth the effort expended in eating, breathing and metabolizing.

Take the women's page of any newspaper, for instance. What wooden Indian can fail to react to its charm? Did you know that a pound of shredded cocoanut will fill six cups? Come, now, you didn't. That's a new bit of information, and the early scientists would have delighted in it. How about this, now—a pinch of salt improves any flavor of ice cream? What a transcendental fact! Not just one flavor of ice cream, nor two, nor three, but all, all, any kind you may care to mention. Red ice cream, Delmonico, tri-colored, multi-colored—any kind at all. A pinch of salt. To the housewife, perhaps, an unconsidered trifle, something to brush off the kitchen table and sweep into the dustpan. But, ah, properly used it transforms a homely freezer of cream into frozen nectar. Would you call that unimportant? We bet you wouldn't.

All right, now that your cheeks are glowing and your eyes beginning to sparkle, here is a riddle—what is the test of a good nutmeg? Kind of stuck, aren't you? It got us for the longest time, too. Well, you stick it with a pin. If oil spreads around the puncture, that's a nutmeg of the 1928 crop and your grocer hasn't rooked you. Neat little point, isn't it? More than that, it's something everybody should know, child or adult. Suppose some real crisis arose in your life and your success in coping with it depended on your knowledge of nutmeg valuation? You will note that such a gem of knowledge is useful as well as interesting. Well, then, take the society angle. Stanley Baldwin, there's a well-known character. The Mayor of Kidderminster believes he has discovered the secret that makes Mr. Baldwin's home a happy one. Think we'd tell? Find out for yourself. Stop tickling.

The G. O. P. will not punish bolting Senators. The election returns were punishment enough.

Mr. Hoover's Good-Will Tour

Press wholeheartedly approves Mr. Hoover's projected tour to Latin America, and agrees that the President-elect has made an excellent beginning.

AN EXCELLENT BEGINNING.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

THE country congratulates Mr. Hoover on his first important decision as President-elect. By a comprehensive visit to Latin America between now and his inauguration he will make a most important contribution to the success of his administration. His decision to make this journey, instead of secluding himself for the next two months to enjoy the rest to which he is entitled, indicates lively enterprise, keen initiative and a shrewd appreciation of the importance of personal contact in the development of trade and understanding.

The very fact that Herbert Hoover pays Latin America the compliment of a visit will advance an intelligent and mutually satisfactory decision on these matters. One need only visit Latin America today to be constantly reminded of the grateful memory in which our southern neighbors hold the visits of Elihu Root in 1906, of Theodore Roosevelt on his several journeys, of Secretary of State Hughes in 1922.

We may well say that the Hoover administration is off to a good start. The President-elect is sacrificing comfort and the easy life to do a public job that is worth doing. He will have the enthusiastic co-operation of every department of the Government in his undertaking. The country is delighted with his decision and wishes him a full measure of success in this important good-will journey.

From the Chicago Daily News.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER does not propose to "sit about and twiddle his thumbs" while awaiting his inauguration.

The tour will tend to complete Mr. Hoover's personal acquaintance with the world at large. Never has a man approached the presidency with a first-hand knowledge of other lands equal to that possessed by Mr. Hoover. He has lived and worked in every continent except South America. Now he can fill in that single gap in his first-hand knowledge. The effect, in these days of expanding international relations, should be measurably to increase the efficiency of the American Government in dealing with foreign affairs.

AN IDEAL SPOKESMAN.

From the Washington Post.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER'S visit to South America, en route to Washington, cannot fail to have a beneficial effect upon inter-American relations. The purpose of the visit is to tender the good will of the next President of the United States to the countries visited. Such an overture on the part of any South American President-elect would always be gladly welcomed by Americans, and there is no reason to doubt that Mr. Hoover will be warmly received at every port.

The people of the United States hope that Argentina, Brazil, Chile and other South American republics will soon adhere to the treaty renouncing war. This pact is framed in the interest of all humanity, and by no possibility can its provisions be construed to be inimical to the interests of any nation. If Mr. Hoover's visit should tend to convince South America that the United States in proposing this treaty is actuated by the purest motives, and that adherence on their part will help the cause of world peace, his long journey will have proved another valuable contribution to his long list of accomplishments in behalf of humanity. He is an ideal spokesman of America and the American spirit.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

MR. HOOVER'S decision to visit the countries of South America is splendid, and must result in better relations between the United States and those southern neighbors. No higher mark of our respect and friendship could be paid, since tradition and the necessities of his office all prevent a President's making such a tour. Friendliness must be increased by Mr. Hoover's visits and understanding promoted, perhaps a great deal.

Americans will realize what a hopeful sign it is that their President-elect considers foreign relations so important. South America is to develop tremendously in the years that are ahead. Every opportunity visioned and realized of increasing understanding is so much more assurance of peace and friendship and progress in the western world.

A FLYING START.

From the New York Herald-Tribune.

MR. HOOVER has tackled one of the most important problems which confronts America with a directness and swiftness which may startle the sticklers for convention, but which will delight the nation. As a practical matter he cannot visit the peoples of Central and South America after he becomes President. Upon our friendly relations with them depend both the peace and security of the Western world, and not less our most important overseas commerce in the years to come. By his prospective visits of good-will Mr. Hoover can do his administration and the whole country an important service.

Those critics who saw in Mr. Hoover a strong man enmeshed in the nets of political convention face some severe shocks. The voters who flocked to Mr. Hoover's support upon his record of deeds done in the simplest, most effective fashion are certain to be justified in their faith. Mr. Hoover has got off to a flying start.

WILL BE GENERALLY APPROVED.

From the St. Joseph News-Press.

AFTER the quadrennial tumult, it is well for the victor to go into retirement for a while, for the sake of rest and to escape the importunities of politicians whose clamors are not always inspired by an unselfish interest in the welfare of the incoming administration. It was not wanderlust alone that lured Theodore Roosevent to remote corners of the world. And if these good-will tours of distinguished Americans to foreign lands result in improved relations, diplomatic and commercial, then they are amply justified and quite worth while. The contemplated South American trip of President-elect Hoover no doubt will be generally approved.

South America remains a comparatively virgin field. It appeals to one of Mr. Hoover's tastes and training. He will be received as President-elect of the United States, but the fact that he is an engineer, a commercial organizer, and so can visualize the possibilities of our neighbors on the south, certainly will not detract from the cordiality of his welcome. It's odd there no doubt will not be our Latin American relations.

When I consider how my money's spent,
Each month on some installment is applied
A scanty dole, and too, I must provide
A sum for food, and not forget the rent,
How I must worry over each red cent,
How little time it will with me abide,
The hopeless muddles where no budgets guide,
The futile quest of where each dollar went;
The mounting list of bills in sad array,
The bills I can't, but must contrive to pay,
How here and there with care I must assign
All that I earn, at least, for two more years,
And even then will still be in arrears,
I wonder why they call my pay-check mine.

"Of Making Many Books"

JOHN G. NEIHA

Notable Biography

FRANCOIS VILLON, by D. B. Wyndham Lewis. (Coward-McCann.)

ONCE, in an effort to account for the breed, some one hazarded the assertion that poets are born, not made. We have no less authority than Ben Jonson for the statement that a good poet is made as well as born. This not only seems the more reasonable way of presenting the matter, but, restricting the field to good poets, it allows us to concenfrate our efforts on only a small number. And when the subject of good (in the sense of lyrical, not moral, perfection) poets is brought up, some are certain to vote enthusiastically, stubbornly, and more than once, as Villon, might have done, for Francois Villon.

It being agreed that Villon is that kind of good poet, our next need is some one to study the influences that made him what he was. The biographer must be a scholar. So much of Villon's life, as we know definitely, is recorded on such police blotters of his time as are still extant. But even that information requires more patient research, more patient tracking of elusive clues than any one who does not understand and appreciate this famous gallows-bird of France will give to the subject. For here is, indeed, the most enigmatical poet who ever lived. The founder of modern French literature had to take to his heels when the sergeants of the watch patrolled the narrow, crooked, dirty streets of medieval Paris. The writer of the deathless "Ballade of Dead Ladies" was acquainted with some of the worst-appointed prisons in France. Either before or after crimes ranging all the way from petty larceny to homicide, this master of arts of the University of Paris composed stanzas that are of that quality that makes for immortality.

Forced by jailers with a dislike for poets or thieves, or both, to absorb unreasonably large quantities of water, he meditated upon the fact that women grow old and lose their beauty. JOHN G. NEIHARDT

Notable Biography

FRANCOIS VILLON, by D. B. Wyndham Lewis. (Coward-McCann.)

ONCE, in an effort to account for the breed, some one hazarded the assertion that poets are born, not made. We have no less authority than Ben Jonson for the statement that a good poet is made as well as born. This not only seems the more reasonable way of presenting the matter, but, restricting the field to good poets, it allows us to concentrate our efforts on only a small number. And when the subject of good (in the sense of lyrical, not moral, perfection) poets is brought up, some are certain to vote enthusiastically, stubbornly, and more than once, as Villon might have done, for Francois Villon.

It being agreed that Villon is that kind of good poet, our next need is some one to study the influences that made him what he was. The biographer must be a scholar. So much of Villon's life, as we know definitely, is recorded on such police blotters of his time as are still extant. But even that information requires more patient research, more patient tracking of elusive clues than any one who does not understand and appreciate this famous gallows-bird of France will give to the subject. For here is, indeed, the most enigmatical poet who ever lived. The founder of modern French literature had to take to his heels when the sergeants of the watch patrolled the narrow, crooked, dirty streets of medieval Paris. The writer of the deathless "Ballade of Dead Ladies" was acquainted with some of the worst-appointed prisons in France. Either before or after crimes ranging all the way from petty larceny to homicide, this master of arts of the University of Paris composed stanzas that are of that quality that makes for immortality.

Forced by jailers with a dislike for poets or thieves, or both, to absorb unreasonably large quantities of water, he meditated upon the fact that women grow old and lose their beauty. This rake, thief, hobo, drunkard, associate of prostitutes, pick-locks, brigands and disreputable company generally, is one of the glories of French literature.

Surely a proper biography of Francois Villon is itself worthy of at least a medium-sized pedestal. Mr. D. B. Wyndham Lewis brings to his task that peculiar combination of rare abilities which make a masterpiece of literature or just downright interesting reading. These flaming sentences bespeak no mean literary ability on the part of Mr. Lewis. This humor, flashing as either the dagger or the heels of Master Francois, is always natural, and a part of the warp and woof of this absorbing story. The voluminous but never tiresome notes tell of patient research and careful scholarship. And Mr. Lewis neither attacks nor defends his interesting subject. He has no theory that would explain Francois as the victim of either heredity, environment or an overfunctioning of the endocrine glands. The life of Francois Villon, immortal poet, master of arts of the Unversity of Paris, and other less complimentary cognomens, is here presented as the police knew him, as the wastrels of the Pomme de Pin knew him, as that old, sorely tried, but always forgiving uncle, Guillaume de Villon, knew him. 'Tis said that good wine needs no bush. The dust cover of this re-readable, vivid, masterful biography has no blurbs on it.

PRELUDE TO A ROPE FOR MYER. By L. Steni. (The Dial Press.)

"Prelude to a Rope for Myer" is a somber tale of the events which led up to a murder. Lucus Myer, a young English Jew, had the misfortune to become enamored of a most unpleasant little creature, Miss Errimew, whose object in life was to abstract money from her male admirers. Myer, overwhelmed by jealousy of the girl's other affairs, had several violent scenes with her during which she gashed his cheek open and nearly bit off his ear. Finally his anger and frustrated desires reached such a pitch of agony that Myer strangled Miss Errimew.

It is true that the depiction of this torturing passion, which was a mixture of hate and lust, is psychologically well portrayed. The flaw in the story is to be found in the fact that Myer's personality as a whole is not given, the emphasis being placed upon this one unhappy emotion. In consequence the full significance of the devastation caused his character is never really apparent. The reader finds himself wondering what sort of a man Lucus was when he was in a normal frame of mind. We suspect that he was a rather nice young fellow of very average intelligence who desired real affection as well as sensual love. The tragedy of his fate came about because he sought the fulfillment of his desires and relief from his loneliness in a woman incapable of any real decency of feeling. But all of this information is given only in vague hints. The picture is never well rounded and filled in as is, for example, that of Clyde in Dreiser's "American Tragedy."

CAME HERE WHEN CITY WAS 'JUST ALL FARMS'

Mrs. Wilhemina Welker, 3813 Kossuth Avenue, Celebrates Her 95th Birthday.

St. Louis was "just all farms" 75 years ago to Mrs. Wilhelmina Welker, 3813 Kossuth avenue, who celebrated her ninety-second birthday yesterday. Mrs. Welker arrived in St. Louis from Lippe-Detmold, Germany, Nov. 16, 1851, after a six weeks' voyage in a sailing vessel, and took up her residence on Sixteenth street, between Biddle and O'Fallon streets, in what was the edge of town at that time.

"There were not many houses down there then," Mrs. Welker said. "And when we came out here 40 years ago we lived on a country road. It was all prairie."

Mrs. Welker, who says she was "always just a home girl," had the task of rearing seven brothers and sisters all under 15 years of age, as her mother died a few weeks after arriving in St. Louis. Of her family, three lived to old age. One sister died two years ago, at the age of 85, and another, Mrs. Molly Heidemann, 2119 Bremen avenue, will be 90 years old next March.

Mrs. Welker says St. Louis now is a city with more noise, more houses and many more people. And they are not "all German" as they were in 1851.

Mrs. Welker had four generations of descendants to help her celebrate her birthday, four children, six grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren, all of whom live in St. Louis.

FORMAL OPENING OF WOMEN'S BUILDING AT WASHINGTON U.

Tea From 4 to 6 O'Clock Tomorrow Afternoon at New Campus Structure.

The new Women's Building of Washington University, completed after a three-year campaign by women of the university, together with alumnae, faculty members and the Board of Directors of the University, will be opened formally tomorrow afternoon with a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The building, a three-story structure, located at the west end of the campus, just east of McMillan Hall, houses lounge rooms, a gymnasium, a cafeteria, clubrooms and offices for women of the university. Constructed of Missouri red granite and Bedford stone, it cost $260,000, and has been equipped at an additional expense of $38,000. Contributions toward the two costs were obtained by the undergraduate women of the university.

Hostesses at tomorrow's tea will be Mrs. W. K. Bixby, Mrs. George R. Throop, Miss Elizabeth Williamson and Mrs. Archer Stites.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.

LONG ISLAND as well as fashionable Westchester has hoity-toity establishments for conditioning dogs that offer the grandeur of a de luxe barber shop. One must achieve the Social Register or at least have a relative who plays polo to secure admission.

They occupy especially constructed buildings but to thwart bomb tossers no addresses will be given. Many are as expensive as a magnificent hotel. People, who have the absurd notion a plush pillow and a silken monogrammed coverlet mean something in a dog's life are heavy patrons.

Attendants in snow white uniforms even to white shoes add to the whatever you might call it. There are glorified baths where dogs are soaped, scrubbed and flossed up and partitioned solariums where they may rest on luxurious blankets to be dried in the sun.

They are plucked scientifically and their nails are clipped with sterilized instruments. Also electrical massaging machines, exercising runways and in one there are ramps evidently so the dog will not have to walk up or down tiresome steps.

The only value of such nonsense is that expert trainers are employed to teach dogs to heel and to improve their house manners. In a way they are dog colleges where the pup is taken and in about six weeks becomes a polite and excellently behaved animal.

They are scientifically fed from germless aluminum containers and their teeth are cleaned daily. One has a weekly rate of $60. Strangely enough, dogs under such scientific dol de rol are always developing unheard of maladies while those left to natural bent reach ripe years.

The highly pedigreed animal is insured against death and accident and in case he nips a stranger the owner is protected. In one kennel I visited the attendant said there were seven dogs valued at from $2000 to $8000. But a real dog owner would not think of placing a monetary value on his lowliest mutt.

HE came drifting into a night club after 2 a. m., sitting alone at a ringside table in immaculate splendor. He seemed unconscious of those about him while sipping at his drink. Finally there was a piercing scream and a lady romped for the exit. Other ladies dittoed. Around the gentleman's dinner coat collar and up and down his lapels raced a white mouse. After a time he calmly picked it up, restored it to his pocket and returned to his drink. What do you make of it, Watson?

AND on a big estate near Roslyn there is a full grown elephant which is there merely for the amusement of the kiddies. That's taking the big kick out of a circus!

THE New York office boy has a brisk executive manner. He is a snappy dresser with a worldliness likely to make the most nonchalant stranger fumble his hat. Many executives have been drawn from ranks of office boys. In other cities he is usually just a red-headed, freckle-faced pea shooter, whose grandmother expires when he wants an afternoon off. Here he is given all authority for which he has no capacity.

YE Olde Time Note: One of New York's well-known travelers still carries a coiling of fire rope with him wherever he goes. In one fire he escaped by leaping out high windows with pantaloons in one hand and his valise in the other, and is a little knee sprung as a result. He takes no more chances.

NEAR Grand Central a man has opened up an office to accommodate those who want packages done up neatly. A professional package tie-up, as it were, and he has 11 assistants.

"HOW would you like," writes a renting agent, "to lease a 10-room apartment which has a phone in each room, private elevator, two secret entrances, a private solarium and a private pool."

It doesn't interest me. I couldn't possibly get along without a private mail chute.

TO INSPECT FEDERAL BUILDING SITES FRIDAY

Assistant Secretary of Treasury and First Assistant Postmaster-General Coming.

What is expected to be a final inspection of the sites offered for the new Federal Building will be made Friday by Carl T. Schunemann, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and John H. Bartlett, First Assistant Postmaster-General.

They probably will give their first attention to the first and second choices of William N. Collier, Treasury Department engineer. Both these sites adjoin the Memorial Plaza, the first choice being the block bounded by Twelfth, Market, Eleventh and Walnut streets, and the second being the block bounded by Tenth, Eleventh, Chestnut and Market streets, facing the new Civil Courthouse.

Nine other sites have been offered, the price ranging from $350,000 to $1,672,000. The approximate cost of the building, which will house nearly all the St. Louis activities of the Federal Government except the main post-office and neighborhood branches, is $3,825,000.

The commission which is to make the final decision has as its members Schunemann, Bartlett, F. E. McMillan of the Postoffice Department, James A. Wetmore, supervising architect of the Treasury and L. C. Martin of the Treasury Department.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONCERT BY SYMPHONY TOMORROW

Emil Oberhoffer, Guest Conductor, Will Lecture on St. Louis Orchestra's Program.

Emil Oberhoffer, guest conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, will appear in the dual role of conductor-lecturer at the orchestra's young people's concert at the Odeon tomorrow afternoon. Oberhoffer will discuss informally the symphony and opera selections and waltzes which make up the afternoon's program of German music.

The policy of the appearances of conductors in comment on the program will be carried out during the entire season of young people's concerts, with Bernardino Molinari, Fernandez Arbos and Eugene Goossens, guest conductors, all appearing as lecturers as well as conductors.

Tomorrow's program follows:

Overture to the Magic Flute.....Mozart
First Movement from Symphony No. 5, in C Minor, Op. 67 (Allegro con brio).....Beethoven
Dance of the Apprentices, from the Mastersinger of Nurnberg.....Wagner
Entre-acte and Ballet Music from Rosamunde.....Schubert
Waltzes—Tales from the Vienna Woods.....Strauss

PLAYS FOR CHILDREN BY SOCIETY GROUP

"Golden Goose Players" to Organize, With "Wizard of Oz" First Production.

A NEW venture in the Little Theater movement will be launched here this week with the organization of the Golden Goose Players, a group of men and women active in dramatic circles, who plan to give for children the type of play which is lacking upon the legitimate stage. The idea of a theater for children has been carried out successfully by the Junior League in Chicago and by dramatic organizations in New York and other Eastern cities. The plan of organization and the name of the St. Louis theater are original, however, the title being taken from the age-old fairy tale of the children who followed the Golden Goose and of the Princess who laughed.

Rehearsals for the first play, "The Wizard of Oz," will begin Friday. It will be given at the Artists' Guild during Christmas week and will be followed by two other productions later in the winter. The fairy tale theme will be carried throughout all the plays, each being opened by the Laughing Princess, who will tell the children the story to be enacted. Every child becoming a follower of the Golden Goose by attending the plays will be given a golden pin in the shape of a feather.

The role of the Princess will be taken by Mrs. Joseph A. Bauer, who was until recently Miss Helene Higgins, and the first cast will include Miss Eloise Frazier, Miss Helen Stepner, Miss Mignon Rosenthal, Harold Eldred, Stanley Warner and Lee Ward.

All three plays will be given under the direction of Mrs. Florence Grant Armstrong, formerly of the faculty of Washington University. She has appeared here in several plays of the Little Theater and is active in "The Players" and in the drama group of the College Club.

The president of their association is Mrs. Hartwell N. Lyon and the group includes Mrs. Calvin Lightner, Mrs. Judson S. Bemis, Mrs. Dorsey Jamieson, Mrs. Frank E. Kauffman, Mrs. William N. Claggett, Mrs. Allen V. Cockrell, Mrs. William D. Collins, Mrs. Ellis Hallett, Mrs. Warren Bailey, Mrs. Algernon S. Barnes, Mrs. Edward H. Barstow, Mrs. Palmer B. Baumes, Mrs. D. Howard Bowman, Mrs. Fred Campbell, Mrs. F. Henry Dodge, Mrs. John H. Duncan, Mrs. Ralph Fischer, Mrs. William W. Grayson, Mrs. Ira Fischer, Mrs. C. John Harris, Mrs. Young Helwig, Mrs. Adolph B. Hill Jr., Mrs. William Daniel Hogan, Mrs. Ashby Jones, Mrs. Frances W. Kauffman, Mrs. Walter Knight, Mrs. J. D. Perry Lewis, Mrs. Spencer Martin, Mrs. Grove F. Newhard, Mrs Louis Baylor Pendleton, Mrs. William E. Shahan, Mrs. Douglas Smiley, Mrs. Spencer M. Thomas, Mrs. John E. Thomson and Mrs. Rowan S. Waldron.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

A GROUP of the debutantes and their escorts will be the guests of John K. Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brookings Wallace, 4976 Pershing avenue, at a hunting party over the next week-end at Morse's Mill, Mo. The guests will leave St. Louis Friday, returning late Sunday afternoon, and will be chaperoned by Mr. Wallace's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chapin Slater Newhard, the latter formerly Miss Anne Kennard Wallace, and by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Temple Chandler, the latter until recently Miss Gertrude Catlin. They will be guests at the hotel at Morse's Mill.

An attractive visitor in St. Louis is Miss Elizabeth Leyman of Cincinnati, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. von Weise, 8 Lenox place. She arrived Saturday and will be here several weeks, during which she will be much entertained informally.

Miss Leyman was the guest last season of Miss Elizabeth Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Vernon Clark, and attended the brilliant debut ball of Miss Elise Whittemore at the St. Louis Country Club.

Two luncheons were given today for the entertainment of the debutantes.

One, for Miss Alice Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin G. Chapman Jr., 58 Kingsbury place, and Miss Marie Peckham Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Graham Wilson Jr., 4382 Westminster place, was given by Mrs. Thomas N. Dysart, 13 Kingsbury place at the Bogey Club. There were 35 guests seated at a U-shaped table with decorations of pink rosebuds and carnations, and about the room were colorful autumn leaves.

Mrs. Dysart entertained the mothers of the honor guests at a smaller table.

Mrs. Oliver L. Garrison Sr., of Brentmoor, entertained 20 of the debutantes at luncheon today at the St. Louis Woman's Club complimentary to Miss Louise Rumsey, daughter of Mrs. Louise Chappell Rumsey of Hotel Chase. The table was decorated in an arrangement of pink roses and was lighted by pink candles in silver candelabra. The places of the buds were marked by corsages of violets.

Cards were received yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Steedman, 32 Westmoreland place, for the first of two dinner dances they will give to present their attractive daughter, Miss Almira Steedman, to society, Dec. 7, at the St. Louis Country Club. The second is planned for Dec. 28 at the same club.

Mrs. Henry L. Morrill of 5272 Westminster place and her daughter, Miss Grace Morrill, who recently returned from their summer home at Ogonquit, Me., where Miss Morrill has been painting at her studio, have taken an apartment at Forest Park Hotel for the winter.

Miss Isabell Kirkpatrick, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kirkpatrick, 6201 Washington boulevard, will depart next week for Louisville, Ky., to be the guest of her cousin, Miss Katherine Abbott and attend Miss Abbott's debut ball Nov. 23 at the Louisville Country Club, Nov. 23. Miss Abbott has been visiting Miss Kirkpatrick and assisted at her debut at the St. Louis Woman's Club.

After her return Miss Kirkpatrick will be the honor guest at a theater party and supper at the Coronado Hotel, to be given by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott Kirkpatrick, the date to be announced later. The guests will include 40 of the debutante set.

Cards have been received for a tea to be given for Miss Marianne Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Coleman, 5042 Washington boulevard. The tea will be given by her mother at the Bellerive Country Club, Monday, Nov. 26, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Miss Jane Pirrung, daughter of Mrs. Clifford W. Gaylord of the Hanley road, who has been attending the house parties at Dartmouth College for the last week, now is visiting in New York. She probably will be home for Thanksgiving.

"It Was a Man's Job"

"It meant hard work, long hours, nerve-racking responsibilities—but it meant a man's salary, too. I was thrilled, frightened, delighted, awed. Then I sat down and took inventory of myself. I had good health and lots of energy and ambition—I realized that these were my best assets and I resolved to cooperate with Nature to protect them and to ward off the minor ailments which interfere with efficiency. I put my faith in Mountain Valley Mineral Water and I've not been disappointed—I have been drinking it regularly every day for many years. A 'man's job' isn't hard when you feel good."

Pair Arrested After Report of Juvenile Authorities.

Police investigating a report from the juvenile authorities that two children were being neglected at 811 O'Fallon street, arrested Steve Tyc, proprietor of a confectionery at that address, and his wife, Mrs. Nora Tyc, and placed their children, Joseph, 11 years old, and Frank, 9, in the House of Detention.

Police reported that when they entered the store they found Tyc and his wife and several other persons drinking beer, and that they found a quantity of beer on the premises.

ROSECAN BACK ON DUTY WITH STRICTER POLICY

Judge Will Require Paroled Speeders to Deposit License Plates With Court.

Returning to the bench today after a three-month leave of absence during which he conducted an unsuccessful campaign for election as Circuit Judge on the Republican ticket, Police Judge Rosecan announced an amendment to his policy of paroling speeders on their primeses to refrain from driving for from 30 to 60 days Hereafter, he said, he will require paroled speeders to deposit their license plates with the Court's probation officer during the period of parole.

Of eight speeders who pleaded guilty today, four signed written promises not to drive for 30 days and promised to bring in their license plates during the afternoon. Four others, who pleaded they need their automobiles in business, were let off with $25 fines. Speeders who own no automobiles will be fined if they plead guilty, Judge Rosecan said.

"My purpose in making more stringent rules is to cut down the carnage of human life, which is getting worse all the time," Judge Rosecan declared. "If anyone has any ideas as to how we can do this, I would like to hear what they are."

HOOVER TO VISIT MEXICO IN TOUR OF LATIN AMERICA

will be waiting them to convey them to Rio de Janeiro and thence northward to Florida.

Receiving Callers.

Having completed the rest prescribed for himself after the campaign, the President-elect now is receiving callers. Among his visitors has been Senator Tasker L. Oddie of Nevada, a member of the Senate Naval Committee, and one of those favoring an expansion of the nation's cruiser fleet even beyond the limits which were contained in the House bill which will be pressed for action in the Senate at the coming session.

The almost simultaneou. visit of William J. Donovan, assistant to the Attorney-General of the United States, and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, an Assistant Attorney-General, at the Hoover home yesterday, renewed political discussions around Palo Alto. Some of the prognosticators think that Donovan, a close personal friend of the President-elect, will succeed John G. Sargent as Attorney-General March 4. Mrs. Willebrandt, whose home is in California, said she had called on the President-elect simply to pay her respects, and that there was no political significance to her visit.

On behalf of Hoover it was stated today the President-elect had had no discussion with anyone about appointments to his cabinet and that he would have none until after his return from his good-will trip. This statement was authorized after widespread publication that the visit here of Donovan had to do with cabinet selections and that Donovan had been selected for Attorney-General.

Large Supply of Food Loaded on Good-Will Ship.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—If President-elect Herbert Hoover gets hungry on his voyage to South America aboard the Battleship Maryland, it will not be the fault of the officer in charge of provisioning the ship. Here are a few of the supplies that were taken aboard here yesterday: 20,000 pounds of beef; 4000 pounds of mutton; 2800 pounds of turkey; 4000 pounds of chicken; 1500 pounds of "hot dogs;" 60,000 dozen eggs; 1500 pounds of bacon; 4000 pounds of him; 65,000 pounds of vegetables; 20,000 pounds of fresh fruit.

Besides these items, the larder includes some 250,000 pounds of dry stores such as coffee, tea, sugar and canned goods.

UPROAR IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT OVER COOLIDGE SPEECH

learning each others points of view and idiosyncracies of thought.

"On the other hand," he concluded, "American statesmen do not know European statesmen and European statesmen do not know American statesmen. Their only intercourse is in the form of written dispatches which must travel across 3000 miles of water. In the circumstances it is very difficult to get mutual understanding."

He described how "to their infinite credit," Lancashire cotton operatives, starving for want of Southern cotton during the Civil War, sent a message urging Lincoln to fight on, and then he read Lincoln's answer: "Whatever misfortune may befall your country or my own, the peace and friendship which now exist between the two nations, it will be, as it should be, my desire to make perpetual."

Amid profound silence the Premier laid down the paper he was reading, ejaculated in a half-whisper as though he were voicing a prayer, "So be it," and sat down.

After that Parliament was in no mood for fiery speeches. The attempt to declare the Anglo-French naval accord a menace was defeated, 326 to 148.

TO REPEAT:

The largest allowance offered on your present car may NOT be the best deal for you

FOR the past two years General Motors has been publishing basic facts about trading allowances. During that time many car buyers have come to a realization that the largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal. The facts are repeated here:

Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value: i. e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

Your present car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

INTERRUPTS HIS TRIAL AND ADMITS MURDER

Jack Fortune, Two-Term Ex-Convict, Relies on Frankness to Get Mercy.

The first witness at the trial today of Jack Fortune, two-term ex-convict, for the murder of Private Watchman Ferdinand Stange in an attempted holdup of an automobile agency, identified him as the slayer and Fortune interrupted the testimony to admit that he was the man. Fortune also identified the revolver with which he shot the watchman.

In an apparent attempt to gain mercy from the jury, the defendant has adopted a policy of frankness. Last month he offered to plead guilty if let off with a life sentence, but Judge Hodge replied that he thought the case called for hanging, and he wanted a jury to pass on it.

The murder took place on the night of Jan. 26 last at the Orthwein Motor Co., 3016 Locust boulevard, where Stange was employed as watchman.

Clarence E. Davenport and Grover Houston, salesmen, were in the company's display room when Fortune entered and announced, "It's a stickup." Stange was talking with another man in the service department in the rear.

"The robber marched Houston and myself into the rear and ordered Stange and the other man to line up with us," Davenport testified. "Stange reached for his revolver and began firing at the robber, who fired back.

"I jumped behind a concrete pillar. There was a lot of shooting—nine, 10, 11 shots. I saw the robber start to run out the front way and then fall on the floor. He said: 'Don't shoot any more—I'm dead. You shot me through the heart.' Stange cried to me: 'Oh, Davvy, call my wife.'"

Davenport went out to call police and when he returned, Stange, shot in four places, was beating Fortune, shot in the chest, on the head with a bar of metal. Stange finally dropped from exhaustion, begging police to "Give me a gun—I'll finish him."

Stange died the next day.

Rumanian Princess Visits Sweden.
By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 14.—Princess Ileana, daughter of Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, has arrived in Sweden incognito, "to see Sweden and make herself acquainted with the country." There will be no official reception for her. When the Princess left Bucharest there were rumors that her visit might result in an alliance with the Swedish royal family. In denying reports that the Princess would give several lectures at the Young Women's Christian Association here, however, the Rumanian legation stated explicitly that she had come "exclusively for travel."

distribution of them. Hogan boldly attacked Walsh's memory and succeeded in confusing the veteran inquisitor very markedly. Having apeared in so many of the oil trials, Walsh could not remember having testified in the Stewart contempt case last June until Hogan read parts of his testimony to him. The attorney waxed satirical over the contrast between the Senator's positive recollection of Stewart's testimony, and his failure to remember his own.

Hogan also used Walsh to assail the accuracy of the official record, eliciting from him admissions that several errors were apparent, although virtually none of them seriously altered the substance of the testimony.

Admits Errors Likely.

Herbert Dorr and Olive P. Stewart, committee stenographers, testified for the prosecution that Stewart did make the denials attributed to him, but under a thorough and very astute cross-examination by Hogan were brought to admit that their transcription was not perfect, that errors often do occur, and doubtless did occur in making this record. Hogan also obtained the statement that parts of the record were expunged at the order of the committee or by the request of individual members. Thus, they told how Senator Cutting had them delete the record of an angry colloquy between himself and Stewart.

The defense will contend that the entire hearing was irregular, in that a quorum of the committee was not present when Stewart was being examined. This fact was established by the cross-examination of Ingraham Mack, the committee clerk. Probably it will be made the basis of a motion to exclude the entire record from the trial.

Timid Handling of Prosecution.

As it has progressed thus far, the trial affords a painful contrast between the masterful conduct of the defense and the timid and uncertain handling of the Government's case. District Attorney Rover and his youthful assistant, Neil Burkinshaw, seem obviously in awe of Hogan's reputation. The latter succeeded in interrupting and joining in the direct examination of Senator Walsh yesterday to such an extent that he himself later referred derisively to it as "our cooperative examination."

After it became apparent yesterday that the defense intended to attack the record of Stewart's testimony before the committee, Rover was asked whether he intended to call as witnesses, some of the numerous reporters and spectators who heard it given. He replied that he preferred to stand upon the record, together with the testimony of the stenographers and one or two members of the committee.

There is every reason to expect that the case will be concluded this week. The urbanity of the huge oil magnate has not suffered outwardly in the slightest degree. All his bluff heartiness and self-assurance remains constantly on display.

INTRODUCTION OF THE NEW KONJOLA MEDICINE HAILED

Many People Call at the Walgreen Drug Store Before Scheduled Date; Konjola Man Arrives Tomorrow.

Immediately following yesterday's announcement that the new, advanced medicine, Konjola, was to be introduced in St. Louis, many local people were eagerly seeking this medicine and telling of reports about it, which they had received from relatives and friends at Chicago, Detroit and other great centers. Many who called at the Walgreen drug store, 515 Olive street, stated they already knew about this medicine, and some had secured it through acquaintances in the Middle West.

The extent to which this Konjola has aroused interest proves very clearly that health troubles, due to disordered stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, are so common that thousands are suffering daily. The forms of misery described by a great many sufferers interviewed yesterday, were as follows:

STOMACH—Indigestion, gas and bloating, feeling like a rock in the stomach, which in reality is a mass of undigested food, dyspepsia, intense pains in stomach and chest, wild heart palpitation, feeling like fire from the throat to the pit of the stomach, awful headaches, loss of weight, tissue and strength, sour stomach, cramps, spitting up bit of half-digested food and a hot, sour liquid.

LIVER—Attacks of biliousness, sick headaches that may last for days, constipation, dizzy spells, yellowish complexion.

KIDNEYS—Sharp pains over kidneys, a dull, achy feeling across the back, stiffness in the back and lower limbs, especially in mornings just after arising, frequent getting up thru the night, dizziness, spots before the eyes, swelling of ankles, feet and lower limbs, puffs or dark circles beneath the eyes, lack of vitality.

BOWELS—Painful, heavy bloated feeling in the lower stomach, headaches, worn-out feeling, sleeplessness.

Many other forms of suffering frequently arise from the weakened condition of the system that results from sluggish, disordered stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. For instance, there may be rheumatic or neuritis trouble, with its agonizing aches and pains over the body.

The above forms of suffering yield readily to the work of Konjola, and this medical preparation has so completely ended the health troubles of so many thousands, wherever introduced, that it is declared to be what countless sufferers in this section have always needed.

The Konjola Man, direct from unusual successes in the great cities of America will be at the Walgreen drug store, 515 Olive street, St. Louis, at 9 o'clock tomorrow (Thursday) morning. He will personally meet the public and explain this surprising medicine as well as pass out literature and free samples.

GRAF ZEPPELIN WAS NEARLY WRECKED ON RETURN FLIGHT TO GERMANY IN FIERCE GALE

Dirigible Caught in Storm Suddenly Leaped Upward as Did Shenandoah When it Was Destroyed in Ohio, Says Passenger.

By JOHN C. INGRAM,
Only American Newspaper Man on Board the Graf Zeppelin on its Return Flight to Germany.

This story is published exclusively in St. Louis in the Post-Dispatch. All news articles from members of the Zeppelin party, or from special correspondents assigned to it, will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

(Copyright, 1928.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Seven of the sky tourists who flew to Germany two weeks ago Monday aboard the Graf Zeppelin returned to New York City yesterday aboard the Ile de France.

Included in the party was Clarence Terhune, 19-year-old golf caddy of St. Louis, who made a name for himself by stowing away aboard the Zeppelin at Lakehurst and thereby getting a free trip which cost most of the dirigible's passengers $4000. Others who returned were William Ulman and Joseph Jessel, of a local firm; Paul M. Marko of Kew Gardens, L. I.; Don M. Casto of Columbus, O.; Hans Nolde of Reading, Pa., and the writer.

The travelers were certain of one thing as they again set foot on Manhattan, and that was that a trans-Atlantic crossing in a Zeppelin is to be preferred to that made on the finest ocean liner.

Sky travel between New York and the Old World, while it is still novel and at odd moments a little terrifying, has its good points. For instance, there is the element of speed. It took us three days to go from Lakehurst to the interior of Germany, and it has taken more than six days for us to get from the coast of France to New York on the liner.

As for seasickness—aboard the Zeppelin there was none, but aboard the Ile de France the writer took the count soon after the vessel had cleared the breakwater at Le Havre and promptly went to bed for most of the trip. Next time I go to Europe I'll be on a Zeppelin or not at all.

Disadvantage of Air Trip.

Zeppelin travel has its drawbacks, but even so it ought to mean a big thing for those who will have to travel between the two continents during the next half decade or so. Our own crossing on the Zeppelin was made highly uncomfortable by lack of heating apparatus, but if this oversight is remedied, sky travel will have it over steamer travel like a blanket. Its safety has already been demonstrated and now only the little refinements and adequate financing remain to be accomplished.

Sailing along above the storm-tossed North Atlantic Ocean at a height of 2000 feet, away from all noise and sense of motion, gives one a peculiar thrill which quite wipes out any trace of fear which such an unusual environment might ordinarily engender. One sees the slaty-blue surface of the sea, dotted only here and there with a whitecap.

One of our favorite pastimes during the first day of the trip was to toss champagne bottles out of the windows. So great was our height above the water and so great was our speed that the bottle would almost be left out of sight before we could see it splash in the water far below.

Occasionally heavy fog banks drifted by which obscured our view from the windows, much the same as a cloud of steam or smoke from a locomotive often blots out the view of the passengers on one side of a coach. Sometimes one sees a steamer wallowing along, and if your course takes you far enough north, you'll likewise probably see an iceberg and a group of floating ice floes. We saw many of these the afternoon our ship was caught in an 80-mile-gale and lashed far north of its course in the direction of Greenland. We were carried nearly 400 miles out of our path.

Little Violent Motion.

Despite the hurricane, however, there was little in the way of violent motion. The passengers thought there might be trouble ahead, but we all went blissfully ahead with our dice shooting, our drinking and our story telling. Only once were the passengers made suddenly aware that things were happening which weren't on the program. That was late in the afternoon when the huge balloon suddenly lunged forward at an angle of 45 degrees or better—literally leaped off its even keel and plunged upwards into the clouds as though it was trying to hurdle some gigantic climatic obstacle.

During the fraction of a second in which the Zeppelin remained off keel with its nose tilted high aloft, dishes, glassware, bottles and food were swept from the tables. By the time the crockery and silverware had struck the floor with a shattering bang, the dirigible was back in hand again and sailing along smoothly. Later they told us that in that for one brief fraction of a moment there had been danger of the airship "cracking up" and going to pieces, just like the Shenandoah did in Ohio in 1925. Our craft had been caught, it seems, by two vagrant gusts of wind and speedily jerked into an almost upright position.

But fortunately for us, we hadn't realized our hazard so we went on playing cards and telling yarns.

Our flight on the night of Wednesday, Oct. 30, across France and Switzerland to Friedrichshafen, Germany, on the shores of Lake Constance, was perhaps the most spectacular leg of the entire trip. We had reached the French coast at dusk just as the lights were beginning to flash. We skimmed rapidly over Tours, Nantes, Bourges and Dijon and then began the long haul up over the Alps along the Franco-Swiss frontier.

Dr. Eckener shoved the Zeppelin up some 10,000 feet to pass over the peaks. Once we got into the mountainous country we were promptly enshrouded in a ghostlike mist which completely shut out our vision on all sides. Occasionally, however, the wraith mist would be momentarily dissipated by a stray gust of wind and we had glimpses of dark, ugly mountain tops poking their sinister, jagged lines up through the sea of fog.

To my shipmates and myself, these dark peaks resembled nothing so much as they did gigantic shark teeth which seemed actually to snap at the Zeppelin as it sailed along not far out of their reach. It seemed to me as though one could almost reach out into the eerie halflight of the fog-splashed night and touch the topmost of the mountain crags.

Nobody slept that night as we were cruising into Friedrichshafen. The rugged ones didn't want to miss the scenery, and those not so rugged were probably too scared to slumber. So we remained huddled in our overcoats in the dining salon, killing the champagne and the sherry sandwiches and hearing again the story of Al Smith and his campaign.

Arrived Over Friedrichshafen.

Finally early in the new day we soared out over Lake Constance and we knew our three days of glorious skylarking was about at an end. It was still pitch dark—about 4:45 German time (10:45 p. m. New York time) when we first saw the mercury lights and the crimson flares which marked the airport at Friedrichshafen. Dr. Eckener swooped down on the field, apparently all set to land, and then suddenly swooped up again and swung off for a 10-mile sweep across the lake.

From the big crowd which was awaiting us on the landing field, we heard wild cheering—they had seen us coming out of the night and heard the drone of our motors. We knew that there was somewhere down there a newspaper man or two who had already sent to the United States the "flash" that our ship had arrived safely over its home port. We wondered if the flash of news in New York would relieve anxious friends and relatives.

Eckener soared over the landing field again and again, but each time conditions weren't just right for the set down, so off he'd go again—another ride out over the lake. It was nearly two hours later and broad daylight when he finally did bring down his big sky cruiser amid the frantic cheering of the wildest mob I've seen since the day Lindburgh came back to New York.

We all got out of the ship as soon as the customs men had given us a perfunctory examination—we got out and away from the balloon sheds and were soon relieving our bursting throats with generous and soothing clouds of cigarette smoke. It's no light thing to go three days without a smoke—just ask anyone who has tried it.

We had our last look at the Zeppelin Monday night, Nov. 5, while on the train en route from Berlin to Paris. The Zeppelin had come to Berlin from Friederichshafen during the day so that President passed very near the big dirigible Hindenburg could see it, and it and as it drew up alongside the had been moored for the night out Zeppelin we halted 15 minutes at the airport in the little suburban town of Staaken. Our train air with loud cheers.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Chicago Business Man Arrested Yesterday as a Suspect Freed by Police.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The shooting of John C. Acher, Northwestern University football player, has led to the arrest of two more new suspects.

Benjamin Zuckerman and Benjamin Glaser were arrested when their sedan was found with a smashed fender. Police think their car was the machine which collided with Acher's car shortly before he was shot.

Garagemen told police the men had used the sedan early Sunday, when two bullets fired from a similar machine wounded the football player.

Police yesterday released Phillip L. McKee, president of the American Greenhouse Manufacturing Co., when they became convinced his car was not involved.

Acher was wounded by shots from a passing sedan after his car and the sedan had collided in a minor accident.

BYRD EXPEDITION SHIP WEATHERS HARD GALE

Bolling Due at Dunedin, N. Z. —Crossed International Date Line Last Night.

By JOE DE GANAHL.

(Copyright 1928, by the New York Times and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world. Wireless to the New York Times.)

This story is published exclusively in St. Louis in the Post-Dispatch. All news articles from members of the Wilkins party, or from special correspondents assigned to it, will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP ELEANOR BOLLING, AT SEA, Nov. 1-3.—The Eleanor Bolling, supply ship of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, was weathering a strong gale on the run of a hurricane area 550 miles northeast of Dunedin, N. Z., this afternoon, as she crossed the international dateline.

This is the second severe storm through which the former North Sea trawler of 600 tons has had to pass since she started for the Antarctic continent Sept. 18. Two days out of New York the Bolling passed through an 80-mile-an-hour hurricane off the Virginia Capes after it had taken a toll of many hundreds of lives in Florida. The storm through which she is now passing has not been so severe, but the vessel is rolling and pitching excessively.

Where Thursday Follows Tuesday.

At 3 o'clock this (Tuesday) afternoon, the Bolling crossed the 180th meridian. At midnight tonight, one day will be dropped from the ship's log and the crew will awaken tomorrow to find that it is Thursday, Nov. 15. The expedition members will get the day back when the Antarctic fleet again crosses the meridian on the way to the Bay of Whales. The Bolling is due at Dunedin on Saturday.

Radio messages from whalers in the Antarctic state that the ice conditions are bad this year.

Carl O. Petersen, a radio operator on the Bolling, who spent a year with the Antarctic whaling fleet, received yesterday a message from the steamship Sevilla, at latitude 60 south and longitude 43 west, telling of heavy pack ice there. The whaling ship reported that one of the smaller whale boats was damaged in a collision with a large blue whale.

The short wave radio equipment on the Bolling, through which messages have been handled, has kept the expedition ship in touch with all corners of the earth. Almost every evening the ship is in communication with Canada, Norway, Siberia and the South Shetland Islands. As a result of the untiring attention of Radio Engineer Hanson, assisted by Operator Petersen, the efficiency of the equipment has been increasing as distance increased.

Oral Messages From Home.

On Saturday, the crew listened on three loud speakers to messages from their relatives broadcast by voice from the Canadian and American Westinghouse Co. through station KDKA. The reception was exceptionally clear. Plans have been made for weekly schedules while the expedition is in the Antarctic.

A radio message last night to the New York Times gave the position of the Eleanor Bolling at noon, Nov. 13, as latitude 39.12 south, longitude 179.29 west, 565 miles northeast of Dunedin, N. Z. The position of the bark, City of New York of the Byrd expedition, at the same time, was reported as latitude 26.14 south, longitude 170.49 west, 485 miles east northeast of the Kermadec Islands.

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea
By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Pharmacist and Hospital Executive endorses SI-NOK for Head and Nasal Colds

E. G. Solenberg, 2018 Carolina Ave., Indianapolis, who has had eight years' experience in general hospital administration and executive work, and who as a pharmacist has compounded thousands of prescriptions, says: "I am a staunch advocate of SI-NOK as a relief for acute nasal and cranial colds."

Head colds are costly—and dangerous. If neglected, they often lead to catarrh, sinus trouble, pneumonia and other serious diseases. Health authorities say that almost 50% of all absences from work, lasting one day or more, are the result of colds. They also say that the serious consequences of colds are due to neglect of modern knowledge relative to recognized preventive measures and early treatment. SI-NOK is a modern, scientific preparation. Applied to the nostrils with a dropper, it opens up the head passages like magic, stops discharges and brings quick, lasting relief. Used regularly, SI-NOK will keep you free from head colds and other nasal troubles. Use SI-NOK JR. (milder strength) for children.

ROUGH, COATED TONGUE TELLS TROUBLE COMING

IN thousands of homes, a package of Thedford's Black-Draught is regarded as an indispensable article in the family medicine cabinet. Mrs. Alafair Howard, of 8 Harris Street, Mobile, Ala., tells below what she thinks about this well-known remedy.

"I have found Black-Draught to be an excellent medicine," says Mrs. Howard. "I have used it in my home whenever I have needed a laxative.

"I am the mother of several children, and it is necessary to keep a medicine in the house which can be depended upon to quickly relieve constipation. Whenever my children complain of headache, or upset stomach, or if they show signs of taking cold, I begin giving them Black-Draught, as I have found that it clears the system and removes the cause of the trouble.

"Occasionally, I have sick headache and spells of indigestion. Then I take Black-Draught, myself. When I get up in the morning with a bad taste in my mouth, and my tongue is coated and rough, I know it is a sign of trouble. A pinch of Black-Draught, three times a day, is all I need to regulate this.

"I have found it so handy to keep and easy to take, that it has come to be our family stand-by. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught to other people, for it has been a great help to me."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable cathartic or laxative medicine, composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots. Black-Draught is finely powdered, which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in an easy, natural way. It is good for children, grown men and women, and those of advanced age.

Preferred

The survey made for the Herald Tribune by the Huber Hoge Advertising Agency shows that The Sun is the preferred newspaper in the better-class apartment houses of New York

Park Avenue, Fifth Avenue, the Forties, and the Sixties. Home of New York's elegant apartment houses. Home of New York's prosperous residents. Yearly rentals from $720 for a single room to $22,000 for a cooperative apartment.

The wealthiest residential district in the world. The best customers for all high-grade commodities. What paper reaches the largest number of these families? The Sun. This fact is firmly established by the Herald Tribune survey made by Huber Hoge, Inc.

RELATIVE POPULARITY OF NEW YORK NEWSPAPERS IN THE BETTER-GRADE APARTMENT HOUSES OF NEW YORK

Result of Survey Conducted for the Herald Tribune
by the Huber Hoge Advertising Agency

The Question Asked Was: "Which Publication Do You Read Regularly?"

First Paper..... THE SUN	Sixth Paper.....WALL STREET JOURNAL
Second Paper.....HERALD TRIBUNE	Seventh Paper.....TELEGRAM
Third Paper.....TIMES	Eighth Paper.....EVENING WORLD
Fourth Paper.....POST	Ninth Paper.....AMERICAN
Fifth Paper.....MORNING WORLD	Tenth Paper.....JOURNAL

Number of families included in the investigation—5,878.
Number of replies received and analyzed, 1,576—or 27 per cent. of mailed questionnaires.

List used consisted of all the tenants in more than 100 of the most prominent high-grade apartment houses in New York.

THE survey made by Huber Hoge, Inc., for the Herald Tribune is important because it gives a true picture of the relative popularity of the various New York newspapers among the prosperous, intelligent families of New York. The fact that the survey was conducted by an impartial agency, and that the list used was a remarkably large and comprehensive one, makes the findings of this survey of more than ordinary value.

Huber Hoge, Inc., is an advertising agency with a highly specialized real estate department. In making this survey their purpose was to find out which newspaper is most widely read among people of means—which newspaper is the most effective medium for advertisers of high-grade commodities.

To get the desired information, a letter and a questionnaire postcard were sent to every family in over 100 of New York's better-grade apartment houses. The letter was signed by the Herald Tribune, with the request that the questionnaire postcard be returned to Huber Hoge, Inc., for tabulation purposes.

The names and addresses were secured from a number of the most prominent real estate agents dealing in high-grade apartment houses. The letters were sent to every tenant in every apartment house handled by these agents. The list used, therefore, was not a hand-picked, selected list. It was an impartial and complete list.

In all, 5,878 families received the questionnaire. Of these 1,576, or 27 per cent.—an unusually high proportion—filled in and returned the questionnaire.

The annual rentals ranged from $720 for a single room to $22,000 for maintenance of cooperative apartments. This means that most of the families included in the investigation were families with annual incomes of $10,000 or more a year.

Prosperous, smart, intelligent New Yorkers. With money enough to buy what they need and want. Money enough for the better-grade necessities. Money enough for luxuries. Money enough for pleasures, for entertainment, for education.

The best customers for department stores. For real estate concerns. For food advertisers. For radio manufacturers. For automobile advertisers. For all high-grade commodities. What newspaper do they prefer? What's the best medium for advertising to these people? The Sun. This fact is firmly established by the Herald Tribune survey made by Huber Hoge, Inc.

This survey confirms the statement which The Sun has frequently made regarding itself—that among the prosperous, intelligent people it has the largest home circulation in New York. That is why real estate brokers, manufacturers and retailers have found it so profitable to advertise in The Sun.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief as effectively as the messy old mustard plaster.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

Stops Dandruff In Record Time

Famous Beauty expert reports marvelous results

"Many preparations have I tried. But I have seen D. D. D. reach so many cases of dandruff and quickly bring relief that I now recommend this famous prescription exclusively." If you really want to get rid of dandruff or other scalp irritations, try this simple method: night and morning for the next few days pour a little liquid D. D. D. on your scalp and rub it in thoroughly. Note the clean, refreshing odor. See how itching stops instantly. The soothing, healing elements penetrate the tissues and drive away scalp troubles. Clear, greaseless and stainless—dries up almost immediately. A 35-cent bottle will prove the merits of this famous antiseptic—or your money back. At all drug stores, or D. D. D. 21 SENTENCED TO JAIL ON LIQUOR CHARGES

They and Four Others Are Fined $4050 in East St. Louis Federal Court.

Fines totaling $4050 were assessed against 25 defendants who pleaded guilty in bootlegging cases yesterday in the Federal Court at East St. Louis before Judge Wham. All but four received jail sentences.

Claud E. Clark, identified as the owner of a saloon and gambling resort in Champaign under surveillance of private detectives employed by authorities of the University of Illinois, got four months and was fined $300.

Agents, posing as students, gained entrance to the place and when Clark learned their identity he paid them $250 to "hush up." District Attorney Baker told the Court. The agents reported the bribe and surrendered the money.

William Riley was fined $100 and sentenced to 60 days, and Clark Roe was fined $100 and sentenced to 45 days in jail. Both were employes of Clark.

Friends wanted to borrow $5 from him, Alvin Le Blanc of East St. Louis told the Court, and when he refused the money they reported him to prohibition officers for "setting up" a can of beer. He was fined $50.

John M. Gilbert, 65, a farmer of Rose Hill, Ill., bought a farm for $12,000, engaged in liquor distilling, paid $5000 off on his farm and then lost his property when it was taken to satisfy the mortgaged indebtedness after his arrest, it was brought out in court. He was fined $150 and sentenced to four months in jail.

Dry agents told Clayton Ware of Greenup, Ill., that they were going fishing and were "dry," and Ware served them liquor, they testified. He got 60 days and a fine of $200.

Others who were sentenced and fined are: John Crawford of Murphysboro, $100 and 90 days; Len Mayberry of East St. Louis, $300 and 90 days; Joe Shoot of Ashworth, Ill., 90 days and $300; William Miner, Ashworth, Ill., 60 days and $100; G. Saddy Emeil, Cairo, Ill., 60 days and $150; Harvey Smith, Claremont, Ill., four months and $500; George Stockwell, Milstadt, Ill., $100 and 30 days; Leo Kohnen, Milstadt, Ill., $50 and 30 days; Martin Johnson, East St. Louis, $300 and 90 days; Pat Sterling, East St. Louis, $100 and 60 days; Leonard Kaffenberger of Red Bud, Ill., and his son, August, $100 each; George Listch, Carlyle, Ill., $200 and five months; George Smith of East St. Louis, $200 and six months; Joe Glenn of Murphysboro, Ill., $100 and four months; Albert J. Scott, East St. Louis Negro, $100; Arthur Zollman, Charleston, Ill., $200 and 90 days; Carter Swalley of Washington Park, Ill., $100 and 60 days; Jake Panozzo, Kankakee, Ill., 60 days and $150.

ASSAILS RAILROADS FOR GIVING EXCURSION RATES

Alabama Commissioner Says Carriers Are Abusing Privileges to Fight Bus Competition.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14.—A charge that railroads are abusing their privileges in fixing excursion and reduced rates was made before the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners here yesterday by Frank P. Morgan, Alabama State Commissioner.

In many instances, Commissioner Morgan declared, regular patrons of railroads are being discriminated against in favor of occasional passengers by the establishmnet of reduced rates. In some cases, he charged further, reduced rates are being resorted to by railroads to compete with bus lines.

The "competitive weapon against bus lines" which Morgan said might lead to "unjust discriminations" was described as "contrary to every sound principle of rate making."

WILL VISIT MISSOURI PRISON

By the Associated Press.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., No. 14.—The Prison Committee of the national House of Representatives inspected the Federal Penitentiary here yesterday and left last night for Jefferson City to visit the Missouri Pententiary before going to Atlanta, Ga., to see the Federal prison there.

The party, including John G. Cooper of Ohio, chairman; John Taber and John G. Boylan of New York, Thomas M. Bell of North Carolina and William Koll of Iowa, accompanied by Capt. A. H. Connor, Superintendent of Prisons, and, William A. Mason, special counsel for the committee, was met at Kansas City by Ward T. B. White and brought here by motor car.

Nearly Mad With Rheumatic Pains!

"Nearly every day, especially in damp weather, I suffered terribly from shooting pains and sharp twinges in my arms and legs. Nothing gave me any relief and at times I thought I would go mad. When I tried 'St. Jacob's Oil' it was with no hope at all. The very first application brought relief and I have had perfect comfort since."

Good old "St. Jacob's Oil" certainly does relieve the pains and aches of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuritis, Lumbago and Neuralgia. This soothing, penetrating oil seems to reach right in through the pores and draw out all the pain and ache. And there is no burning of the skin. Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacob's Oil" at your druggist and try it out on any pain, ache, sprain or swelling.

Man So Nervous Gets Sore When Spoken To

"It actually irritated me to have anyone talk to me, I was so nervous. Vinol ended the trouble, and I feel wonderful now."—Wm. Fahy.

For 30 years doctors have prescribed iron, phosphates, cod liver peptone, etc., known as Vinol. The very FIRST bottle brings sound sleep and BIG appetite. Nervous, worn-out people are surprised how QUICK iron, phosphates, etc., give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.

BUILDING NOT TO BURN

DO we build to BURN?

Staggered by the frightful fire waste of this country, men deeply concerned have often asked this question.

There has been a sad lack of foresight in providing defenses against fire, especially in the construction of buildings for mercantile and industrial use, and in buildings where large numbers of people are housed.

But there are numerous activities maintained by the Stock Fire Insurance companies, which aim for a better day when America shall consistently build NOT TO BURN.

One of these is the Department of Building Construction, which has co-ordinated all present day information on proper building methods. For many years it has been the leading clearing house of information in safety construction.

This is a well known agency in the reduction of the fire waste and the consequent decline in the average cost of fire insurance. This and the several other voluntary measures of Hazard Elimination form a part of fire underwriting as conducted by the Stock Fire Insurance companies.

The information in its possession is based upon the latest scientific and engineering facts and is supported by more than fifty years experience in fire underwriting by the 229 stock fire insurance companies which transact more than ninety percent of the fire insurance business of the United States.

Few indeed are the municipal building codes that have not used in whole or in part the information and services of the Department of Building Construction. This department is hard at work in co-operation with officials and all others in authority in the interest of safety construction. Its services are available through

WHICH FEATURE IS THE MOST IMPORTANT?

Select the Feature you think best and write a Slogan about it....

Go to your Dealer for Contest Blanks and Information on the "Mystery Feature"!

SO advanced, so remarkable, are the new YALE-BOND products that they sweep far beyond all previous achievements of the Flashlight and Battery industry. Embodying all the skill and experience of YALE-BOND engineers, they present elements of utility, beauty, reliability and safety unapproached by any other similar products.

In order to determine which one of the six distinctive YALE-BOND features is of greatest popular appeal, we shall distribute $10,000 in prizes—1183 separate awards—to those who submit the best slogans on the points they consider most important.

See the "Mystery Feature" at Your Dealer's!

At the top of this page, five of the outstanding YALE-BOND features are briefly described. Full details concerning the sixth important point are contained in a special folder, including the Official Contest Blank, which is obtainable through authorized YALE-BOND retailers everywhere.

Tune in on the YALE-BOND "Slogan Contest" program, broadcast over the Columbia System every Saturday at 10 P. M.—examine carefully an actual YALE-BOND Flashlight and Mono-Cell at your dealer's—read the Contest Folder for further details—and start in on your Slogan ideas—now!

RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. The contestant should study carefully the six features of YALE-BOND Flashlights and Mono-Cells which are described on the Official Contest Blank. He should then select the one he believes the most important and write one or more slogans on the features. Prizes will be awarded for those slogans, which in the opinion of the judges, best describe the YALE-BOND features.
2. Contestants may submit as many slogans as they wish.
3. Each slogan should be written on a separate Official Contest Blank—supplied free by YALE-BOND Dealers everywhere.
4. Anyone may enter the Contest except those connected with the Bond Electric Corporation, or members of their families.
5. In the event that a winning slogan is duplicated, each contestant submitting the duplicated slogan will be paid the full amount of the prize.
6. All entries must be received no later than midnight of December 31st, 1928, addressed to Bond Electric Corporation, Jersey City, N. J. The prize winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible.
7. All slogans submitted in this contest become the property of the company and may be used in advertising or otherwise. None will be returned.
8. Each contestant gives to the company the right to use his or her name in any advertising that may be prepared announcing the winners.
9. The prize awards made by the judges must be considered final.

Can a girl smoke and still be Lovely?

GIRL SMOKERS! You see them everywhere nowadays. Just look around you and watch how they smoke with sheer enjoyment!

Yet smoking can really cheat a girl of the very thing she prizes most highly—her beautiful white teeth. Of course it doesn't injure them permanently. Just makes them dull and yellow.

Smoking, too, often leaves a bad taste in the mouth—parched throat. And there's nothing more ruinous to a girl's loveliness than a stale tobacco breath.

"What do you men do to prevent this?" girl smokers are asking.

Thousands of men who smoke constantly, long ago discovered a way to keep teeth stainless and white. They use the one tooth paste which was specifically created to correct unhealthy mouth conditions—Pebeco.

A Letter from Miss Marie Brehaut
of Philadelphia, Pa.

Every woman realizes that white teeth and a sweet breath are absolute essentials. When I started to smoke about a year ago, I noticed that my teeth began to look quite cloudy. I hated to forego the joy of smoking and decided to ask my dentist if he thought it would discolor them permanently.

He recommended Pebeco Tooth Paste. I am delighted to say that my teeth look better than ever before. My mouth stays moist and sweet—and feels so clean, despite a lot of smoking.

It took me a little time to get accustomed to the sharp, salty tang of Pebeco—but now I couldn't get along without it.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) MARIE BREHAUT

The One Safe Way

THERE is no other tooth paste like Pebeco—in formula or effect. Its main ingredient is a special salt that gently stimulates the saliva.

Aided by Pebeco this saliva flows normally for hours after you brush your teeth. It washes away the rank tobacco taste. Removes nicotine deposits. Whitens and brightens the precious enamel.

You'll taste the difference the minute you try Pebeco. It's neither sweet nor sugary—soapy nor gritty. Just a wholesome, business-like tang that makes your whole mouth glow with health and cleanliness.

Pebeco polishes beautifully, keeps your gums firm and pink. Your breath sweet and fresh as a child's. Use it twice a day whether you smoke or not.

Made by Pebeco, Inc., a division of Lehn & Fink Products Company. Sole distributors, Lehn & Fink, Inc., Bloomfield, N. J. Distributed in Canada by Lehn & Fink (Canada) Limited.

The Opinion of a Man Smoker . .
James Anderson of New Orleans, La.

I have found Pebeco to be an excellent tooth paste for removing nicotine discoloration from the teeth. And it has certain other benefits that are very desirable from a smoker's standpoint.

For instance, I find it keeps my mouth fresh and clean-tasting, no matter how much I smoke. I've tried all sorts of mouth washes and other tooth pastes but they have only a temporary effect.

It is very important to a business man to have a clean breath. I depend upon Pebeco to chase away any disagreeable tobacco odor that might be present after smoking.

I am one who annually visits my dentist for an examination and advice and have many times been complimented by him upon the splendid condition of my teeth, the absence of tartar or any discoloration and the sound, healthy condition of my gums, all of which I attribute to Pebeco Tooth Paste.

Yours very truly,

Your Mouth feels Clean, Cool
Refreshed for hours

The first time you brush your teeth with Pebeco you taste its sharp tang. Your whole mouth feels cleansed—invigorated.

For hours this cooling moisture keeps up.

A special ingredient in Pebeco stimulates a full, normal flow of saliva. This saliva is alkaline. It protects the enamel of the teeth by neutralizing harmful mouth acids and washing away tobacco stains and food particles.

Pebeco leaves your whole mouth in a tingling, healthy condition. It keeps teeth white and sound.

HORNSBY AND JABLONSKY ARE ON WASHINGTON TEAM'S INJURED LIST

COACH ANDERSON STRESSES PASS ATTACK IN WORK OF ST. LOUIS U.

By Jerry Bernoudy

Fearful of aggravating any old injuries or creating new ones, Dr. Al Sharpe sent his Washington University football squad through only a light workout yesterday in preparation for the Bears' homecoming game with Grinnell here Saturday afternoon. None of the athletes is nursing serious hurts, but the whole team was pretty badly shaken up in the Drake game.

Scott Hornsby appears to be in worse condition than any other player, with a sore back resulting from a blow which the Bruin halfback received in the Haskell game. Another man whose condition is bothering the coaches is Harvey Jablonsky, stellar guard, who is nursing a bad leg injury. Notwithstanding the fact that he sustained the ailment before the Bulldog game, "Jabo" played practically the entire time and was one of the outstanding men in the Washington line.

There was nothing exciting about yesterday's practice except at one time when Russell Doerner, substitute center, and Eddie Meier, a reserve guard, started to put on a little bout. Gale Bullman stepped in, however, before any blows were struck.

Charles Benson, end coach, also provided a little innovation for his wing candidates by making them all run a 100-yard dash down the gridiron, while he timed the first man in each heat. Benson hasn't been pleased with the speed of his ends in getting down under punts and passes, and yesterday's trials showed that his first string men were the slowest of all the groups. Emilio Torres, a third-stringer, carried off the time honors when he covered the distance in 11.4 seconds.

In signal practice, the same team that lined up against Drake ran formations for the regulars with the exception of Berlinger who was sent to the first team wing position occupied by Coover in Saturday's tussle. The backfield was made up of Duncan, Rawdon, Bickel and Whittler.

TWO SETS OF BACKS USED BY ANDERSON

By Gerald Holland

More scrimmage and a few new plays will occupy the St. Louis University football squad at Sportsman's Park this afternoon in the third of the hard workouts Coach Anderson is giving his men in preparation for the Washington game, Thanksgiving day and the intervening tussle with Louisville.

In accord with his announced plan, Anderson worked the squad until darkness made further effort impossible yesterday. The session was marked by a long aerial drill. Several new backfield combinations were employed. The backfield of the first team included "Snakes" Gazelle, who has been used at full, at quarterback, Lintzenich, Dirnberger and Eaton. Bill Parilla called signals in a second group with Ennis and Hunt at the halves and Jim Stringfellow at full.

Les Hunt, the former Central High School star, continues to perform impressively both on defense and offense. Anderson used Hunt as a halfback again yesterday but the blond triple-threat ace has also displayed some ability as a quarter.

The current workouts of the Billikens are not marked with the same enthusiasm that preceded the practices for the Creighton game in which the St. Louis players put forth their best effort of the year. Perhaps, the blue-jersied footballers have been saddened by their two successive defeats or are aware of the serious task which confronts them. To escape with a creditable record, the Billikens must take their next two games. Louisville does not present much of a problem but the Bears always do.

FLORI OLYMPIAN CLUB TO HOLD SIMON PURE TOURNAMENT, NOV. 22

The Flori Olympian A. C. has decided to hold its first amateur boxing tourney of the indoor season, Nov. 22, instead of tomorrow night as originally planned. Announcement of the change was made today by Matchmaker Joe Herbst The tourney will be held at the South Broadway Athletic Club.

Difficulty encountered in obtaining entries during the lull in amateur boxing activity which prevailed while officials of the Western A. A. U. District were engaged in their recent squabble with the South Broadway A. C. and Tower A. C., compelled Herbst to postpone the show.

The Flori Olympian matchmaker is arranging four special bouts. He is seeking a middleweight battler to oppose Al Stillman, the Motorbus mauler, who holds National A. A. U. junior title honors, a flyweight opponent for Cliff Doetzel, the Western district champion, and a heavyweight to battle John Schwake.

A return bout between Gilbert "Peewee" Terry of the Flori Olympians, and Elvin Regan, Valley Park flyweight, is also planned.

Southworth Gets 45 of First 100 Votes Cast in Managerial "Election"

Billy Southworth had a lead of better than two to one over his nearest rival in the straw vote election of a Cardinal manager for 1929 after the first day's ballots had been counted.

More than 100 letters were received from fans in the first day's mail after the announcement of the election and 45 of the first 100 voters picked Southworth as their favorite. This trend of baseball public opinion was surprising as Southworth had never been hailed as outstanding managerial material. Bill won the International League pennant with his Rochester club and many baseball men say that the Red Wings were not the best team in the league and that their victory was a personal triumph for Southworth.

A Hero in 1926.

However, the fans still remember the great work of Billy in the 1926 season and the world series of that year in which the Cardinals defeated the Yankees. Bill won one game with a home run at Yankee Stadium and his batting and fielding were important factors in the St. Louis triumph.

Frank Snyder was a bad second in the early voting. He polled only 19 votes out of the first hundred and Bill McKechnie, the incumbent, was third with 16 votes. Roger Bresnahan, the fourth candidate for the job, trailed with eight votes, but he probably will receive more attention now that he has been released by John McCraw with whom he had served as coach for several years. The fans may take that as grounds for a "hunch."

They Also Rans.

The quartet polled 88 votes of the first hundred and the remaining 12 were scattered among Frankie Frisch, Rogers Hornsby, Charley Barrett, Jack Ryan and Will Rogers. Votes for Hornsby, of course, are wasted, as he has lined up with the Chicago Cubs and could not even file for the nomination in this election, much as some St. Louisans would like to see him in the race.

Several of the fans sent their views on the election along with their votes. A. J. Zimmerman voted for Roger Bresnahan "for his long experience and aggressiveness." "Any one who has had the benefit of McGraw's inside tactics is worthy of high consideration," he continues.

A voter who signs "P. K. S." writes "The Cardinals have a ball club. All they need is a leader who will put the fight of 1926 into them and I think Frank Snyder is the right man and a real leader."

Satisfied With McKechnie.

Stanley Zaraza, 15 years old, writes: "I am a strong voter for McKechnie. I think he will be manager in 1929 and will be good for a pennant and the world championship for St. Louis."

Vote coupons will appear each day, including Sunday, after which the final result of the straw vote will be announced.

Mail the votes to the Sports Department of the Post-Dispatch and interesting comment on the candidates will be published.

Hornsby Signs Contract With Cubs for 1929

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Having signed a contract that calls for a salary of approximately $40,000 a year, Rogers Hornsby is now trying to interest Chicago Cubs officials in purchasing blue grass that grows on his 87-acre farm near St. Louis.

Immediately after signing the contract that made him a member of the Cubs yesterday, Hornsby began to relate the wonders of his farm. During the between season months the National League's leading batter grows blue grass that he sells to golf clubs or baseball clubs.

34 MARES OF WHITNEY STABLE BRING $127,400

By the Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 14.—Thirty-four mares from the Harry Payne Whitney stud were sold for a total of $127,400 at the stable's first public auction yesterday at the Whitney Farm near here.

The prices ranged from $200 up to $12,500, with an average of $3748. Penitent, Ch. 9, by Pennant - Regret by Broomstick, brought the top bid. The daughter of the only filly ever to win the Kentucky Derby was sold to H. C. Hatch, Toronto, Canada, for $12,500.

Three other mares sold for $10,000 or more. Yashmak, Ch. 9, by Broomstick-Baksheesh by Hamburg, was purchased for $10,500 by Norman Church of Elgin, Ill. Constellation, B. 9, by Broomstick-Starling by Hamburg, and Imp. Marches II, chm gwn each brought $10,000. The former mare was sold to W. F. Axton, Louisville, and the latter to C. J. Fitzgerald, agent.

DEMPSEY AND RICKARD FAIL TO TALK FIGHT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Jack Dempsey's second comeback campaign apparently hasn't gotten beyond the talking stage yet.

The old Manassa Mauler met Tex Rickard yesterday in a conference widely ballyhooed as of momentous import but both said after the meeting they had talked about everything but boxing. Tex said Dempsey might talk about the question of coming back to the ring at a dinner party today but added that nothing would be given out for publication for several days at least.

Whatever the situation actually is, close followers of the ring are certain that the former heavyweight champion again will don the gloves and do what he can to restore public interest in the cauliflower industry and, it may be added, increase his bankroll by half a million or more. They believe Dempsey probably will return to the ring at one of New York's ball parks next summer, possibly against Paulino Uzcudun, one of those willing mixers Jack likes to fight.

N. B. A. Members To Name Leading Title Contenders

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.

ALL commissions of the National Boxing Association have been requested to submit 10 leading contenders in each weight, in an effort to arrange logical championship bouts.

President Paul Prehn said plans were being made to schedule title fights in each division at least every six months.

Idaho yesterday filed application for membership in the association. If accepted, Idaho's membership would bring the association's total to 29 commissions—22 States, three municipal commissions and four foreign commissions.

Kaiser to Try For Knockout in Rivers Contest

Johnny "Peewee" Kaiser proved to the satisfaction of more than 100 fistic followers at the National Gymnasium yesterday that he is prepared to try for a knockout when he engages Joey Rivers of Kansas City, in the 10-round feather weight feature of next Monday night's American Legion boxing show at the New Coliseum.

The proof of Kaiser's punching power was provided during a lively three-round sparring workout in which the local featherweight star scored two clean knockdowns over Lawrence Hawkins. Hawkins was floored by a right to the jaw in the first round and by a left to the solar plexus in the second. After the bout with Hawkins, Kaiser stepped through two lively rounds with Lee Rossi.

Matchmaker Jack Tippett reported the advance sale had passed the $2000 mark yesterday.

Tippett completed his program of six events when he closed negotiations yesterday with Jimmy Hackley of Los Angeles, for a 10-round match with Lou Terry, local lightweight. That Terry has drawn a tough assignment is the opinion gained from a glance at Hackley's record, which shows that he has knocked out Frankie Osner, Johnny Adams, Paul Allen and Mickey Conroy and has won decisions over such punchers as Frankie Garcia, Eddie Anderson, Johnny Datto, Terry Long, Young Manuel and Jack Duffy, while he earned draw decisions in 10-rounders with Billy Petrolle and Billy Wallace. The Californian has battled Tod Morgan twice.

High Schools to Switch Lineups For Next Games

By Harold Tuthill

When football practice in the city high schools was resumed yesterday after a vacation since last Friday, several coaches counted their injured players and groaned. Probably the only school which escaped a severe bruising in last week's games was Soldon, the one school which does not engage in league competition this week.

Cleveland will conclude its present unprofitable campaign against Central in the second of Saturday's games. In the first battle Roosevelt and Beaumont will fight to remain in the race. If the Roosevelt-Beaumont game ends in a tie the championship is conceded to Soldan, since the latter school has won three games and lost none, while Beaumont and Roosevelt each owns a record of having won one and lost one league contest.

While the number of serious injuries at any one school is not great, changes are certain in the starting lineups Saturday. It is certain Coach Lee R. Carlson will have to find some one to replace Belmont Norris, who is out for the season, as a result of the bruising given him by Cleveland.

There are two players, May and Lippert, who are eager to start in Norris' position, but Carlson is undecided as to which one will start. Lippert went in for Norris last week, but May, who is a newcomer to the regular squad, showed capabilities yesterday.

Backfield Stars to Play.

Carlson spiked the rumors that Savage and Barnes were ill-fitted to play. Carlson stated that a doctor's examination of the two backfield stars revealed no injuries that would permanently disable them.

It is not positive that Nickel and Barnhouse, two of Beaumont's light horse brigade, will have recovered from their injuries in time to pit themselves against Roosevelt. Coach Raymond C. Lewis entertains hopes of having these stars in condition to complete his backfield with Weidner and Minges.

Since Central had a week's rest the squad is in fair condition. The only regular to miss this week's encounter will be Harry Herskowitz. Coach Alfred Friedli refrains from comment on the other members of his team, but it is doubtful that Chapman will be back in the opening lineup.

It has been pointed out that Wright of Soldan is not the only center in the league with the possibility of gaining a place on the "All-Star" eleven. Two other candidates for the pivot position, Mosar of Cleveland and Marquard of Central, have been suggested. Mosar played a splendid game against Beaumont.

C. B. C. PREPARES FOR FINAL GRID CONTEST WITH 3-HOUR WORKOUT

Christian Brothers' College eleven, facing its last game of the season, Friday, against McBride, went through a three-hour practice session yesterday afternoon on the C. B. C. gridiron. Walther and Lamb, hampered by injuries last week, are expected to be in condition for the McBride game.

C. B. C. is a slight favorite to win, having held the strong Western M. A. to a 6—6 tie, while McBride lost to the Cadets, 9—0.

BREWER COMING WITH PROPOSAL TO PLAY BEARS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 14.—Following a meeting of the University of Missouri Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics last night, it was announced today by C. L. Brewer, director of athletics, that the committee had selected Washington University of St. Louis to fill the open date in the Missouri football schedule next fall, either Nov. 2 or 9.

The scheduling of the game, to be played at St. Louis, although the committee has selected Washington as its choice, rests with whether Washington U. can make business arrangements suitable to M. U. officials.

The committee appointed Brewer to complete arrangements with Washington athletic officials for the game. The Missouri athletic director will stop at St. Louis Monday on his return from a trip with the Missouri football team to play New York U. at New York this weekend, for consideration of the game with Washington officials.

BELGIAN-AMERICAN TEAM HOLDS LEAD IN SIX-DAY BIKE RACE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—A team of veteran riders continued to outdistance pursuit in the six-day international bicycle race up to the fifty-fifth hour today.

The top of the standings had changed little from yesterday, but another night's riding had turned the lower half of the ratings topsy-turvy. Gaffney and Hanley gained five laps yesterday, outpedalling all the teams.

NEBRASKA PICKED TO PITTSBURG; PRIN RATED STRONGE

By Tad Jones,
Chairman Football Committee, Y

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Penn, negie, Maryland—these are the teams that and yet, with the exception of Carnegie, a year. Another indication of the one fact w year—namely, the play of a team in one bearing on the play of that same eleven t an outstanding eleven—one with real class stride throughout the season.

Fundamentally football has not changed. Today as 25 years ago, the deciding factor in all games is the play of the opposing lines. In the Penn - Harvard game, Penn clearly outcharged the Harvard forwards both on the defense and offensive. The Notre Dame rush line was more consistent than Army's. Brown won from Dartmouth through the better play of the boys up front. Carnegie's line put the pressure on Georgetown from the opening whistle and kept it there throughout. Yale failed in the Maryland game because the forwards could not give their backs the ground when needed most. Games have been won and will continue to be won by the lines, though to the casual observer the forwards have not played a particularly important part. Careful analysis in most instances would prove, however, that few forward passing attacks succeed unless the line is superior and no forward pass defense can function if the front wall gives way.

TAD JONES.

Carnegie Stands Alone.

In the East, Carnegie stands alone. Carnegie has won all of her games. Princeton tied twice, but undefeated, is in second place. Penn lost her great opportunity by being caught napping by the Navy, but the Penn eleven I saw against

Harvard, in Two Weeks, Of Most Dangerous Tea

Harvard played some excellent football against Penn, but at the same time it was apparent that the Chimson team had not quite arrived. In two weeks time it will be as dangerous a team as any playing the game. Harvard should win from Holy Cross. The Army and Navy should turn back Carleton and Loyola.

Syracuse and Colgate renew their ancient feud. This should be one of the real games of the day. I would not dare suggest a possible outcome, though I feel that Syracuse has the better chance for victory. Georgetown will have no letup against West Virginia. This one should be very close. Condition will no doubt be the deciding factor.

New York Is Favored.

Cornell and Dartmouth meet at Ithaca. Neither eleven has had any of the breaks this year and both need victory to retain a semblance of prestige. With a return of its long string of injured men, Dartmouth appears a stronger and more versatile eleven. It should be a great game.

N. Y. U. faces Missouri and if the record means anything at all the Violet should emerge victorious. This will be an interesting game and will give an opportunity to again watch N. Y. U. against real opposition. I feel that too easy opposition affected N. Y. U.'s game against Georgetown and the Violet is mighty fortunate in having a real opponent before meeting the toughest of all her opponents—Carnegie.

Yale, of course, was disappointing against Maryland, but even so, the Yale-Princeton game will lose none of its color. The intense rivalry of the teams, the undergraduates and the old grad will still be there.

Princeton's record is much more impressive than Yale's and the Tigers appear to have a decided advantage. Yale has suffered greatly from illness and injury and as a result has not been able to develop team-play to any great extent. You cannot mold eleven men into a unit when injuries and illness prevent. Princeton too has suffered but not to the extent that Yale has been handicapped. The loss of Garvey and Ellis is discouraging to the Eli just as Princeton is mustering full strength, with the return of her first string men. Games between Princeton and Yale have always been real affairs, however, and I believe I am safe in assuming that this one will be no exception. Princeton appears unusually strong with Miles nad Wittmer in the backfield and a big strong rugged line led by Capt. Howe—a line that found itself for the first time this year against Ohio State. Princeton will undoubtedly be on the crest. It remains to be seen what Yale can offer in the way of opposition.

Pennsylvania Should Win.

Penn is not likely to let down in anticipation of the game with Columbia, though Penn should win. The Red and Blue was taught a costly but valuable lesson by the Navy. Columbia is not a set-up and this game should be a corker. Pitt appears to be in for a

TAD JONES FAVORS NEW YORK U. TO WIN OVER MISSOURI ELEVEN

NEBRASKA PICKED TO BEAT PITTSBURG; PRINCETON IS RATED STRONGER THAN YALE

By Tad Jones,

Chairman Football Committee, Yale University.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Penn, Notre Dame, Brown, Carnegie, Maryland—these are the teams that gained glory last Saturday and yet, with the exception of Carnegie, all have tasted defeat this year. Another indication of the one fact which stands out year after year—namely, the play of a team in one particular game has little bearing on the play of that same eleven the following week. Only an outstanding eleven—one with real class, can maintain a winning stride throughout the season.

Fundamentally football has not changed. Today as 25 years ago, the deciding factor in all games is the play of the opposing lines. In the Penn - Harvard game, Penn clearly outcharged the Harvard forwards both on the defense and offensive. The Notre Dame rush line was more consistent than Army's. Brown won from Dartmouth through the better play of the boys up front. Carnegie's line put the pressure on Georgetown from the opening whistle and kept it there throughout. Yale failed in the Maryland game because the forwards could not give their backs the ground when needed most. Games have been won and will continue to be won by the lines, though to the casual observer the forwards have not played a particularly important part. Careful analysis in most instances would prove, however, that few forward passing attacks succeed unless the line is superior and no forward pass defense can function if the front wall gives way.

TAD JONES.

Carnegie Stands Alone.

In the East, Carnegie stands alone. Carnegie has won all of her games. Princeton tied twice, but undefeated, is in second place. Penn lost her great opportunity by being caught napping by the Navy, but the Penn eleven I saw against Harvard Saturday was in my opinion the best I have seen this year. Penn may be bad against a Columbia or Cornell, but against Harvard the Red and Blue looked the part of a real champion.

Carnegie has forged her way to the front by a remarkable string of victories. There have been no soft spots on the schedule and now Carnegie faces the greatest test. Against Notre Dame Saturday, the Skibos must be at their best. The Irish will be on edge for they do not want to lose the laurels won by the victory over the Army. What's more Rockne has a real football team. Carnegie appears stronger and I believe has the stuff to win, but Notre Dame has a fast, resourceful eleven and will need watching.

Jones' Picks

Carnegie must be at its best to defeat Notre Dame.

Harvard favored over Holy Cross.

Army should defeat Carleton.

Navy picked to defeat Loyola.

Syracuse has better chance than Colgate.

Condition should decide Georgetown - West Virginia game.

Dartmouth appears stronger than Cornell.

New York U. favored over Missouri.

Princeton owns better record than Yale.

Penn favored over Columbia.

Nebraska picked to defeat Pittsburg.

Harvard, in Two Weeks, Will Be One Of Most Dangerous Teams in the Game

Harvard played some excellent football against Penn, but at the same time it was apparent that the Crimson team had not quite arrived. In two weeks time it will be as dangerous a team as any playing the game. Harvard should win from Holy Cross. The Army and Navy should turn back Carleton and Loyola.

Syracuse and Colgate renew their ancient feud. This should be one of the real games of the day. I would not dare suggest a possible outcome, though I feel that Syracuse has the better chance for victory. Georgetown will have no let-up against West Virginia. This one should be very close. Condition will no doubt be the deciding factor.

New York Is Favored.

Cornell and Dartmouth meet at Ithaca. Neither eleven has had any of the breaks this year and both need victory to retain a semblance of prestige. With a return of its long string of injured men, Dartmouth appears a stronger and more versatile eleven. It should be a great game.

N. Y. U. faces Missouri and if the record means anything at all the Violet should emerge victorious. This will be an interesting game and will give an opportunity to again watch N. Y. U. against real opposition. I feel that too easy opposition affected N. Y. U.'s game against Georgetown and the Violet is mighty fortunate in having a real opponent before meeting the toughest of all her opponents—Carnegie.

Yale, of course, was disappointing against Maryland, but even so, the Yale-Princeton game will lose none of its color. The intense rivalry of the teams, the undergraduates and the old grad will still be there.

Princeton's record is much more impressive than Yale's and the Tigers appear to have a decided advantage. Yale has suffered greatly from illness and injury and as a result has not been able to develop team-play to any great extent. You cannot mold eleven men into a unit when injuries and illness prevent. Princeton too has suffered but not to the extent that Yale has been handicapped. The loss of Garvey and Ellis is discouraging to the Eli just as Princeton is mustering full strength, with the return of her first string men. Games between Princeton and Yale have always been real affairs, however, and I believe I am safe in assuming that this one will be no exception. Princeton appears unusually strong with Miles and Wittmer in the backfield and a big strong rugged line led by Capt. Howe—a line that found itself for the first time this year against Ohio State. Princeton will undoubtedly be on the crest. It remains to be seen what Yale can offer in the way of opposition.

Pennsylvania Should Win.

Penn is not likely to let down in anticipation of the game with Columbia, though Penn should win. The Red and Blue was taught a costly but valuable lesson by the Navy. Columbia is not a set-up and this game should be a corker.

Pitt appears to be in for a troublesome afternoon in meeting Nebraska at Lincoln. Nebraska has a very impressive record to maintain and I doubt if Pitt has the strength to break the string.

Upsets and surprises have taken place every Saturday since the season opened. There is no particular reason to figure that Nov. 17 will be any different.

Speed Holman, Forward, Signed By Hockey Team

Speed Holman, forward, has been signed by the St. Louis professional ice hockey team and took his first workout at the Winter Garden today.

Holman is 30 years old and an experienced player. He formerly played with the Cleveland and the Detroit teams. He is a native of Canada. He has a reputation for being very fast on skates and an excellent shot. He was a free agent prior to signing with Coach Alec Irvin.

Irvin sent his men through a strenuous hour at the Winter Garden this afternoon and all of them seemed to have recovered from the colds, bruises and scratches which affected their play yesterday.

They spent most of the session in scrimmage which Irvin thinks is the best conditioning exercise for actual competition.

Mickey McKay, formerly forward of the Chicago Black Hawks, who was left here to work out with St. Louis and to help Irvin in his coaching duties received notification that he had been transferred to the Pittsburg club. He will depart tonight to join his new team.

McKay's departure leaves the Black Hawks still owing the St. Louis team a forward and Irvin is anxiously awaiting word from Chuck Gardner as to whom he will send here. The St. Louis club thinks either Couture, who played so well with the St. Louis team in the exhibitions against the Black Hawks, or Earl Miller will come.

TURNESA AND CIUCI WIN GOLF TOURNEY

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 14.—Joe Turnesa, of White Plains, N. Y., and Henry Ciuci, of Bridgeport, Conn., won the ninth annual mid-South best ball tournament here yesterday, setting a new tournament low score with 131 strokes for 36 holes. They had cards of 68 for the morning and 65 for the afternoon.

In second place came Gene Sarazen of Long Island, teamed with Mike Brady of Mamoroneck, N. Y., with a score of 133, made up of rounds of 67 and 66. Jim Barnes, of Pelham, N. Y., teamed with Tom Kerrigan of Siwanoy, N. Y., came in third with 73 and 64 rounds for a total of 137.

*Field.

Woodfire, lucky at start, raced into a short lead, withstood repeated early challenges from Polly Bunting and, after drawing clear in stretch, tired, but outstayed Delightful. Latter raced close up on outside from start and, finishing well, was getting to leader. Lucky Xenora worked way up on outside and closed fast. Superlove, away in a tangle, raced in close quarters to stretch, where she lacked speed when clear. Minette was given a bad ride. Sadie Thompson closed with a rush. Polly Bunting had early speed and was weakly ridden in final quarter. Nitie Nite was left.

$2 mutuels paid: Woodfire, win $19.50, place $9.68, show $7.18; Delightful, place $18.88, show $7.82; Lucky Xenora, show $6.92.

Caractus and Capt. Lawton, field.

Kadiak, lucky in getting out of close quarters in early stages, raced on inside restrained to final three-eighths, where he saved ground racing into lead, which he held through final furlong. John Johnson Jr. gained steadily on outside after half a mile and finished gamely. Smiling Gus, taken up fast after first quarter, ran out badly on last turn and swerved and tired in stretch. Vendeuse moved up on last turn, but tired in drive. House Boy quit. Dimple Dunkie, much used in forcing early pace, retired in stretch. Dolly Seth was done after five-eighths. Capt. Lawton had early speed, ran out all the way. Tum On was poorly ridden.

$2 mutuels paid: Kadiak, win $4.48, place $3.70, show $2.40; John Johnson Jr., place $10.68, show $4.72; Smiling Gus, show $2.86.

FOURTH RACE—$800, all ages, allowances, one mile—Start fair; won driving; place same. Went to post 2:53; at post one minute. Winner, blk. s. 3, by Black Toney—Rosewood. Trainer, R. T. Watts. Time, :24, :47 2-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:38 4-5. Value to winners, $650, $100, $50.

Grenadier Guard	100	1	5	3¹½	3¹	5²	6¹½	7	R. Heigle	83.63

Blackwood, restrained in near pursuit of the early pace, raced wide when taking lead on stretch turn and after being headed kept under a hard drive and got up to score a lucky win. Roy, much the best, stumbled in first quarter, lost much ground moving up and after being carried out by winner entering stretch took a short lead and but for being overconfidently ridden near end, probably would have won. Fannie J. began sluggishly, and after racing far back to seretch, closed some ground. Duelist began tiring afetr three quarters. Sixty had early speed. Grenadier Guard raced on the pace for five-eighths then quit badly.

$2 mutuels paid: Blackwood, win $12.72, place $6.04, show $2.36; Roy, place $3.78, show $2.20; Fannie J., show $2.20.

FIFTH RACE—$800, 3-year-olds and up, one and one-sixteenth miles: Start good, won driving, place same. Winner b c 4 by Dodge-AAzurita. Trainer, J. S. Ward. Time, :23 1-5, :47 3-5; 1:14, 1:38 3-5, 1:45 2-5. Value to winners, $650, $100, $50.

Ex Calibur	112	2	4	2¹½	2¹	2½	4	4	Ellis	2.82

Dunmore moved fast after racing wide in first quarter, squeezed through on the inside around stretch turn and drawing into a clear lead held on gamely to outstaf Flat Iron. Latter raced wide strongly restrained to final five-sixteenths, met some interference from Broad Side when moving up and finishing fast was wearing down the winer. Broad Side rated in front from start raced wide on final turn and only tired after seven furlongs. Ex Calibur forced the early pace under restraint, bore out around final turn and quit when put to a drive.

$2 mutuels paid: Dunmore, win $17.42, place $4.18, show, out; Flat Iron, place $2.44, shom, out; Broad Side, show, out.

SIXTH RACE—Futurity course:

McCarthy Will Switch Lineup For Title Game

By Robert W. Herr

With nearly two weeks of stiff workouts since the last game, the Country Day eleven will hold its last scrimmage this afternoon and give over the remainder of the week to less strenuous activities in preparation for the important Prep League contest with St. Louis U. High, Saturday. The game is the last of the season for the Codasco squad and will result in the elimination of at least one of the three teams now in the race for the title. A tie decision or a defeat will put Country Day out of the running, leaving the honors either to St. Louis or to Western, while a victory for the Brown road eleven will give it a tie with Western for the championship and eliminate St. Louis.

Coach Hughes' men came out of the battle with the Milwaukee team without any serious injuries and are in excellent condition. The lineup which started the past several games probably will be kept intact, though Hughes has made one change in the backfield and is likely to insert Shields, a flashy substitute halfback, in place of Boettler.

At St. Louis U. High, Coach Ed McCarthy's gridders also will get their last heavy workout this afternoon. Though somewhat battered in the Western game, the Junior Billikens have an even chance of trimming Country Day. But one regular, Jim Lawler, star halfback, is on the injured list and it is doubtful if he will play Saturday. McCarthy plans to shift Saffa, erstwhile guard, to end and may place Roberts, regular end, in the backfield. McHugh, a newcomer, will fill Saffa's guard under this arrangement. The Billiken mentor was pleased with the work of his quarterbacks, Strong and Connors, in the game of last Saturday, and will alternate the two men at the signal calling post. Light workouts with a forward passing attack and defense in dummy scrimmage will be the program at the Billiken Junior school tomorrow and Friday.

TRIP FOR A FULL ST. LOUIS FIELD HOCKEY TEAM

The St. Louis Field Hockey Association announced today that a full team of 11 members and one reserve player would be sent to Madison, Wis., to participate Saturday and Sunday in a tournament at which an all-Midwestern team will be selected to take part in this year's national field hockey tournament, which will be held at Philadelphia, the week-end following Thanksgiving. It had been intended to send only part of a team to Madison.

The St. Louis players will depart for the Wisconsin capital tomorrow midnight and expect to arrive at their destination in time for a practice session Friday afternoon. Teams from Chicago, Milwaukee, University of Illinois and University of Wisconsin are among those which are also expected to take part in the tournament.

Following is the lineup of the St. Louis team:

Center forward—Eunice Child.
Right inside—Margaret Bogg.
Center halfback—Dolores (Dee) Boeckmann.
Right halfback—Marian Bischoff.
Right fullback—Mary Morey.
Goalkeeper—Ernestine Long.

With two exceptions these players comprise the recently named all-St. Louis field hockey team for 1928. Ruth Forcier, right wing, and Dorothy Coleman, right full back of the all-St Louis team, were unable to arrange to go to Madison and Misses Stoffel and Morey were chosen from a reserve team to take their places.

NURMI ON WAY TO AMERICA TO COMPETE AS PRO

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Finnish nemesis that snatched many honors from American amateur track stars is on the trail of the professional runners. Paavo Nurmi, the phantom Finn, who swept the tracks as an amateur, sailed for America yesterday with the understood intention of turning professional on his arrival here, and it seems probable that Willie Ritola, who has taken most of the honors Nurmi left, will join him.

Ritola's entry for the National Amateur Athletic Union cross-country championship, which he has won five times, had not been received on the closing day, nor did his club, the Finnish-American A. C., send in a team entry. With the reports from Helsingfors of Nurmi's intention of turning pro, this default of Ritola's title is taken as an indication that the two Finnish stars will be matched in a professional barnstorming tour of America.

St. Louis Jockey Will Make Debut At New Orleans

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 14.—With race horses arriving on every train and the Jefferson race track in fine condition and the fair grounds being improved, New Orleans and visiting race track patrons are promised one of the best racing seasons in years. The meetings open Thanksgiving day and run until February 12.

Seven carloads came in yesterday, among which are 22 of the Harry Payne Whitney Stables, in charge of Mose Goldblatt. The Kenton Farms Stables, owned by Payne and West, sent 14 horses; F. P. Lettelier and Sargent Swenke put up 18 horses in the Jefferson stalls.

Goldblatt announced he has bought first call on the services of Apprentice Elmo Shropshire for the season at Jefferson Park.

Tommy McDermott, an 80-pound St. Louis lad, is slated to make his debut in the silks soon after the Jefferson Park meeting gets under way. He is under contract to A. E. Van Ree. Jockey H. Jones will ride for Joe Sciaccaluga during both the Jefferson and Fair Grounds meetings.

Vaccarelli Is Winner

AGAR IS OUSTED FROM ORGANIZED SOCCER FOR LIFE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Nathan Agar, one of the founders of the United States Football Association, and Wilfred Hollywood, secretary of the Southern New York State Association, have been suspended for all time by the soccer governing body as the latest step in the struggle between soccer factions.

The suspensions were announced through Thomas Cahill, secretary of the U. S. F. A. Agar is president of the Brooklyn Wanderers Club of the American League and of the Southern New York State Association, both of which have withdrawn from the U. S. F. A.

Suspensions for shorter periods also were meted out to several players and leaders in the game. The association announced that copies of the suspensions had been sent to the Federation Internationale de Football Association and to the British governing bodies with requests that similar disciplinary action be taken.

Hoppe Averages One and Leads Angle Champion

Averaging better than one for the two blocks played yesterday, Willie Hoppe, former 18.2 balkline champion, took the lead over Johnny Layton, present holder of the three-cushion title, in the 200-point exhibition match between the pair at Peterson's yesterday. The score for the four blocks played to date stands: Hoppe 200, Layton 197.

In the competition yesterday, Hoppe scored a total of 109 points in 98 innings. He won the afternoon block, 51 to 50 in 46 innings and came back with a 58 to 47 conquest in 52 frames in the evening.

The feature of the matches came during the afternoon block when Hoppe turned in a sensational run of 13.

The match was to be completed with two 50-point matches this afternoon and tonight.

60,000 FANS EXPECTED TO SEE CHICAGO AND ILLINI GAME SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The University of Chicago's football team may have had the most disastrous season of its history but it can still draw a crowd.

Nearly 60,000 fans will see Illinois and Chicago clash at Stagg Field Saturday. It will be the Maroons' last game of the season.

Athlete, Winner of 3039 Firsts Since 1884 in Line For "Old Timer" Medals

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A picturesque group of athletes, old in years but young through sport, has come to light since the National Amateur Athletic Union announced recently that medals would be awarded Monday at its convention here to the country's oldest living amateur athlete, amateur champion, Olympic champion, college champion and active official.

All the way from Duluth, Minn., the hat of an old-timer named Harley Davidson came sailing into the ring when a letter was received by Daniel J. Ferris, A. A. U. secretary-treasurer, setting forth that Davidson has been an energetic athletic since 1884.

Competing on bicycles, ice skates and roller skates, and in running, swimming, boxing and wrestling events, Davidson declared he has taken part in 4960 events and still is going strong as a figure-skater. He neglected to give his age but added the information that in 3039 events he has finished in first place.

Won Title in 1867.

For early rate of origin if not for versatility, the athletic career advanced by George D. Phillips, New York business man, compared favorably even with that of Davidson. In the winter of 1867 Phillips won the first amateur speed skating championship ever held in the United States and the medal he received now is on exhibition in the trophy room of the New York A. C. The race was held on a skating pond on Fifth avenue between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets, now the heart of the mid-town shopping district. Phillips was a speed skater until 1867, when he turned to figure skating and won several championships, retiring in 1897 after 30 years of competition. He also won 80 races in rowing and a number of walking and running events as well as a tug-o'-war contest by way of variation.

A leading candidate for four of the five awards is Dr. George Hammond of New York, president of the American Olympic Association. In one of the strangest combinations of athletic achievement on record, he won the intercollegiate half-mile and quarter-mile championships for Columbia in 1877 and then, when past middle age, gained a place on the Olympic teams of 1920 and 1924 as a fencer.

Now more than 70 years old, Dr. Hammond runs a mile every day to keep in condition. His record qualifies him as an entry for all the medals but that to be awarded the oldest living Olympic champion.

Won Four Olympic Titles.

In this class there are some noteworthy nominees, including Ray Ewry of New York, who overcame a handicap of poor health to collect more Olympic championships than any other one man. Winning 10 standing jumping championships at the games of 1900, 1904, 1906 and 1908; George Orton, Philadelphia, one of the founders of the Penn relays, who won the steeplechase at Paris in 1900; and Robert S. Garrett of Baltimore, discus champion at Athens in the first of the modern Olympics in 1896.

Dr. Reginald H. Sayre of New York, like Dr. Hammond, gained athletic fame in two generations. After winning the intercollegiate walking championship in 1879, 1880 and 1881, he came back to make the Olympic revolver shooting team in 1912.

Others in the running for one or another of the medals are: William H. Purdy, New York, national walking champion in 1879; Harry F. Brooks, intercollegiate sprint champion at Yale in 1881, 1883 and 1884; Hugh H. Baxter, national pole vault champion for four straight years beginning in 1883, and now an active athletic official; and Thomas F. Delaney of New York, American five-mile running champion in 1882 and 1883.

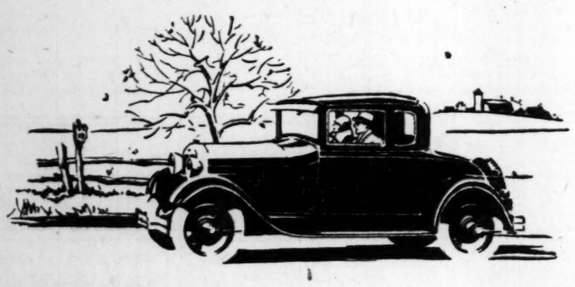

CAIRO (ILL.) DOG WINS FIELD TRIAL EVENT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SULLIVAN, Ind., Nov. 11.—Jarrel's Seaview Dot, a pointer owned by Dr. J. S. Johnson of Cairo, Ill., won the amateur all-age stake of the Wabash Valley trials which closed here yesterday and thus became eligible to compete in the national amateur championship which will take place in the South in February.

A close second was the pointer Wright's Overland Nell, owned by Wright and Murray of Clinton, Ind., and third was Parvo Coffman, a local dog, owned by Claude Dozier of Sullivan, Ind.

To the first half-million new Ford owners

TO THE half-million men and women who have received new Fords in the last eleven months, there is no need to dwell on the performance of the car.

You have tested its speed on the open road. In traffic you have noted its quick acceleration and the safety of its brakes. You know how it climbs the hills. On long trips and over rough stretches you have come to appreciate its easy-riding comfort. Continuous driving has proved its economy of operation and low cost of upkeep.

This is an invitation to you to take full advantage of the service facilities of the Ford dealer organization so that you may continue to enjoy many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

The point is this. You have a great car in the new Ford. It is simple in design, constructed of the best materials and machined with unusual accuracy. It is so well-made, in fact, that it requires surprisingly little attention. Yet that doesn't mean it should be neglected. Like every other fine piece of machinery, it will serve you better and longer if given proper care.

One of the best ways to do this is to take your car to the Ford dealer every 500 miles for oiling and greasing and a checking-up of the little things that have such a great bearing on long life and continuously good performance.

Such an inspection may mean a great deal to your car. To you it means thousands upon thousands of miles of motoring without a care—without ever lifting the hood.

Ford dealers everywhere have been specially trained and equipped to service the new Ford. You will find them prompt and reliable in their work, fair in their charges, and sincerely eager to help you get the greatest possible use from your car for the longest period at a minimum of trouble and expense. That is the true meaning of Ford Service.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Hot Stove Fumes.

OWNER FUCH'S appointment of himself as manager of the club he is supposed to own, the Boston Braves, indicates the Hot Stove fumes are circulating in the gentleman's belfry.

Mr. Fuch's career as owner and president of the club has resulted in progress downwards. One visualizes the original bankroll as badly depleted, like the club.

Fuchs has fortified the Giants at the expense of the Braves, by trades.

He caused baseball men to swear strange oaths by picking on Slattery, a Harvard coach, to manage the team at the start of the year. He then engineered the famous Hornsby deal, whereby he paid for two managers and gained one, whom he now has traded again.

With no manager available, the self-sacrificing Mr. Fuch has rushed himself to the front as a stop-gap. He declared himself his own club's manager.

But to make the job safe, he hired Johnny Evers to assist him!

Johnny, therefore, has the highly satisfactory prospect of being the fall guy for all the "boots" that may be made and the boy who is overlooked when compliments are distributed—if any.

No "Pros," No Amateurs

ONE of those rare sports which know neither "professional" nor "amateur," will enjoy an inning here, this week, with the opening of the Mid-West annual tenpin bowling championship tournament in St. Louis.

More than 1000 individuals are expected to take part, including men who make their living by operating alleys, men who bowl for money, men who manufacture or deal in bowling material and men who have nothing to do with the game except to enjoy the competition.

In bowling a man may do just as he pleases about the money end of it. In fact, as in most amateur sports, few matches are rolled without some small wager being up on the result.

Fortune in Bowling Prizes.

IN the Mid-West tourney thousands of dollars in money prizes are put up; and in the biggest of all bowling events, the American Bowling Congress tourney, something like $100,000 in prize money is distributed!

But—yes, we have no professionals!

In these events the tyro and the expert roll side by side, without handicaps. Nor are there any complaints made about "professionalism," or suggestions that the "amateurs" break away from the main body.

They just get along without such distinctions.

No Promoter Makes Money.

AND—get this—notwithstanding the vast sums handled during the American Bowling Congress event, no profit is made out of the affair by any individual; and no fortunes are stowed away in the A. B. C. treasury, as happens in our National Tennis Association, which is so sensitive about its hair-splitting amateur tenets.

All the money is given back to the bowlers, in prizes!

Some day other sports will take a leaf out of the Book of Bowling and get rid of the fantastic discriminations between professionals and amateurs—distinctions which, after all, are just an inheritance from the days of caste and snobbery.

What Is Bowling?

"BUT," Mr. Golfer or Mr. Racquet may complain, "what is bowling, anyway? Golf and tennis are games of international importance—they are big things. Bowling is just a little pastime."

Little? Let us see.

St. Louis, for example, has a city tenpin association of 1880 (organized) men's teams. There are 400 organized women's teams.

There are twice as many casual bowlers as there are organized bowling followers. That would make a minimum of 20,000 individual bowlers.

When important tournamets are held St. Louis always is represented. Sometimes more than 100 teams and on occasion 200, from St. Louis compete!

Can golf and tennis make as good a showing?

Bowling alleys are comparatively inexpensive; but estimates say that $1,500,000 has been spent in housing alleys and $1,000,000 more in equipment. There are more than 1000 employes of bowling alleys in St. Louis. There are 20 golf courses in the entire St. Louis district. They cost many millions of dollars, but serve comparatively few players.

Game Almost Certain.

MISSOURI and Washington University will resume athletic relations next fall, unless plans crash.

Immediate announcement of the closing of the Nov. 9 football date waits on the report of the Stadium Committee to the Corportion that $150,000 to launch the stadium building has been pledged.

This will be soon, is the belief of some members of the committee, who think that the three-year ticket selling project and other support will quickly guarantee the sum.

Friends of the university are hoping the pledges will be in hand at an early date, to insure the playing of the game with the Tigers, as Missouri officials assert that the only bar to signing a contract was the lack of a definite assurance that the stadium would go forward.

Annually, in St. Louis.

MISSOURI could fudge a point, in this respect, and sign, regardless of the assurance. If the stadium should be delayed, Francis Field could be made to seat more than 15,000. This would net quite a tidy sum at a $2 average. It would mean the Bears could guarantee the Tigers a greater sum than either Tulane or West Virginia.

Missouri is eager to resume games with Washington, feeling perhaps that the breaking of relations was a too drastic move.

Missouri authorities, it is known, want the game with Washington played annually in St. Louis, without alternation in Columbia.

That would be fine for both, and would eventually cause this event to take precedence even over the St. Louis University-Washington game on Thanksgiving day.

Now I Shop With My Mind Absolutely Free

"Whenever I go down town in the family car to do my shopping, I return home completely exhausted. First there is the strain of locating a place to park, which usually means driving around in the crowded streets for several blocks to find an opening. Then when I do find a vacant space and manage to squirm into it, my arms are ready to drop off I'm so tired and hot. When I'm ready to go home it's the same thing over again, only worse if I am jammed in between two cars.

"I made up my mind to use the street cars, so I could go and come when I wanted to, with no worries about bent fenders, heavy traffic, or accidents. My strength is conserved.... and I shop with my mind absolutely free."

This is the testimony, in brief, of women in St. Louis, who have learned from experience that travel by street car is a convenience, a comfort and a decided economy.

Yellow buses and street cars now charge the same fare (8 cents for adults, 3 cents for children under 12). You can transfer from one to the other without extra fare.

KNOT HOLE GANG SET NEW MARK FOR ATTENDANCE

A new attendance record for members of the Cardinal Knot-Hole Gang was established during the 1928 season, according to the figures just announced by the Cardinal baseball club.

A total of 77,467 boys saw the games played by the Cardinals at Sportsman's Park as the guests of the management. The greatest previous attendance was in 1922, when 75,434 boys were admitted free of charge.

Several other records in connection with the Cardinal Knot-Hole Gang were created.

A total of 25,298 boys, the largest number of individuals enrolled during the 12 seasons that the Knot-Hole gang has operated were handled by 423 different agencies, the greatest number of agencies to function during the history of the Knot-Hole Gang.

Increases in agencies among the Protestant churches and Sunday School, parochial churches and schools, Boy Scout troops, public schools and miscellaneous agencies were noted.

A new single-game attendance record was created when 5385 boys passed through the Knot-Hole gate.

The average daily attendance was 1986 boys.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Nov. 14.—Wheat and corn closed higher on the local market, but down from top. Liverpool closed ¼d higher on December, 1d on March and 1¼d on May. The late market for wheat was influenced by reports of 10,976,000 bushels increase of the world's available wheat supply, of beneficial rains having fallen in part of India, for improved harvest condition in Argentina and foreign demand today for wheat from North America lacking. Anticipated cold wave entered as late factor in corn.

The Canadian crop estimate issued after the close yesterday was credited with bringing about early advance in wheat. Liverpool was up and Winnipeg early was over cent higher.

The Canadian estimate was for production 40,000,000 bushels less than that of Government's last previous forecast and 80,000,000 bushels under grain dealers' figures. Unfavorable weather was factor in corn prices movement.

December wheat opened at $1.16⅛; May wheat $1.24; December corn 86⅝c; and May corn 91⅝c.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Nov. 14.—Wheat and corn closed higher on the local market, but down from top. Liverpool closed ⅝d higher on December, 1d on March and 1¼d on May. The late market for wheat was influenced by report of 16,976,000 bushels increase of the world's available wheat supply, of beneficial rains having fallen in part of India, of improved harvest condition in Argentina and foreign demand today for wheat from North America lacking. Anticipated cold wave entered as late factor in corn.

The Canadian crop estimate issued after the close yesterday was credited with bringing about early advance in wheat. Liverpool was up and Winnipeg early was over cent higher.

The Canadian estimate was for production 49,000,000 bushels less than that Government's last previous forecast and 80,000,000 bushels under grain dealers' figures. Unfavorable weather was factor in corn prices movement.

December wheat opened at $1.16⅞; May wheat $1.24; December corn 86⅝c; and May Corn 91⅝c.

STOCK BULLS AGAIN ROMP ON 'CHANGE

Coppers, Tobaccos and Motor Accessories Swing Into Line Behind Domestic Oils Which Are Most Favored in Late Trading.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Frenzied speculation continued on the New York Stock Exchange today, piling up today sales of over 5,000,000 shares for the fourth time in history.

A wide assortment of specialties were brought forward by the "bull" party in the last hours of trading to counterbalance weakness which cropped out in a few of the old line favorites. American International and Stewart-Warner were tossed 5 to 9 points. Sears Roebuck made a gain of 8, only to lose it in profit taking in the last hour.

Radio sagged about 4 and General Motors, General Electric and others about 2 points. U. S. Steel, which was taken up by operators for the advance yesterday to steady the market against heavy selling, was again bid up, going into new high ground above 170.

Some Late Market Spurts.

Coppers, tobaccos and motor accessories swung into line behind the domestic oils which were the most favored in the late trading. Phillips Petroleum and Standard Oil of New Jersey surpassed their previous 1928 high figures. Commercial solvents and Stewart-Warner rose to new peak prices. Dunhill International advanced to the record 1928 price. Andes Copper went into new high ground.

Except for a series of favorable earnings and dividend statements, including a 15 per cent stock dividend on Otis Elevator, there was little new in the day's news to influence the price movement. Call money was in plentiful supply at the renewal figure of 6 per cent, and there was talk of further imports of British gold. Wall street looks forward, however, to another large increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans tomorrow.

Weekly steel trade reviews reported a slight recession in operations during the past week, but a further stiffening in pig iron prices carried the Iron Age composite price to the highest level since July, 1927. U. S. Steel common was again in the forefront of the advance, crossing 170 to a new high record. Ludlum Steel also moved into new high ground, and Republic made up the dividend which came off the stock today.

In First Three Hours.

National Bellas Hess, the third largest mail order house in the country, was marked up nearly 12 points to a new high record at 166 on unofficial estimates that 1928 earnings would run close to $12 a share. Sears-Roebuck ran up 8 points to a new high at 197½, which contrasts with the year's low of 82⅛, but Montgomery Ward ran into further profit taking, dropping from 396 to 389 before the selling was checked.

Selling pressure also was effective against Radio, Union Carbine, Wright Aeronautical, Union Pacific, International Nickel, Western Union and American Smelting, which were at one period driven down three to five points below yesterday's final quotations. Strong selling resistance also was apparent in the motor group, but the recessions there were not large.

May Department Stores, Abraham & Strauss and Julius Kayser exceeded their previous peak on buying. Sharp gains also were recorded by Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Johns Manville, Victor Talking Machine, Allis Chalmers, National Tea, National Biscuit, Loose-Wiles, Westinghouse Electric, International Business Machines, National Supply, Mexican Seaboard, and American Linseed, all of which sold four to eight points higher at one period and several of which reached new high ground. American Can ran up more than three points to a new top.

Arrival of Arthur W. Cutten in this city was accompanied by a fresh outburst of bullish enthusiasm in Sinclair, in which he was recently elected a director, the stock touching 46½, the highest price in more than six years.

Otis Elevator Stock Dividend of 15 Per Cent, Extra $1 Cash

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Otis Elevator Co. of New York directors today declared a 15 per cent stock dividend and an extra cash dividend of $1. The stock dividend is payable Feb. 15, to stockholders of record Jan. 18, and the cash payment Dec. 18 to stockholders of record Nov. 30.

Both dividends are on the common. The company, a consolidation of a number of elevator manufacturing companies, has shown profits in each year since incorporation.

SHARES SOLD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Total sales, 5,426,800 shares, compared with 5,387,400 yesterday, 4,891,800 a week ago and 2,251,600 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date, 755,327,200 shares, compared with 488,302,600 a year ago.

MEXICO, Mo., Nov. 14.—Forrest Grier of Mexico was shot accidentally in the right shoulder while hunting near here Sunday, when the rifle carried by John Schopp struck against a log and was discharged. Grier was taken to a hospital for treatment. He was not seriously wounded.

WOMAN CHARGES DOCTOR IN $25,000 SUIT MADE LOVE

She Felt Queer After Taking Medicine G. W. Tremaine Gave Her, Mrs. W. R. Wiles Says.

A charge that Dr. George W. Tremain, physician with offices and residence at 3532 Washington boulevard, gave her a medicine that made her feel "queer and dumb" and then made love to her, was made today in Circuit Court by Mrs. William R. Wiles in her husband's $25,000 alienation of affections suit against the physician.

Mrs. Wiles, a French woman whom Wiles married while he was a member of the A. E. F., declared that Dr. Tremain was kissing and hugging her at the Wiles home at 4234 Swan avenue when her husband came in and found them together.

Speaking with a marked French accent, she declared that she had ceased to love her husband after the alleged advances of Dr. Tremain, and that the more she saw of the physician the less she liked her husband. Wiles is about 35 years old and a woodworker. Dr. Tremain had previously given his own age at 55, after his attorney had remarked that he was 63.

Dr. Tremain made categorical denial of any intimacy with Mrs. Wiles, who appears to be in her early thirties. He declared that on Dec. 14, 1925, he called at the Wiles home to treat Wiles' daughter, but asserted he was in the house only eight minutes. He testified that he was casually talking to Mrs. Wiles about the imminence of Christmas when Wiles came in and accused him of trying to break up their home.

Wiles testified that he and his wife, while living under the same roof, have been estranged since the occurrence in 1925. The defense the Wiles seemed to be on good produced witnesses who testified terms, working together in the back yard and taking walks in company.

"Miserable Charlie" always has —needlessly!

Are you one of the millions who needlessly suffer irritated throat and head colds?

If you are, use Listerine systematically and see how seldom you are bothered.

Most nose, throat and mouth irritations are caused by germs. And Listerine is powerful against germs. Kills even the virulent B. Typhosus (typhoid) germs in 15 seconds as repeated tests show.

Keep Listerine handy in home and office. Use it morning and night and between times after too much smoking, exposure to drafts, bad air or sudden changes of temperature. Write for our big free book, "Personal Hygiene." Address Dept. S. 5 Lambert Pharmacal Company, St Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

To escape COLDS

Countless colds start when germs are carried to the mouth on food. By using Listerine on the hands before every meal, you attack such germs and lessen the risk of cold. Remember this, mothers, when handling baby's food.

LISTERINE

THE SAFE ANTISEPTIC

Baby was fretful, crying, feverish five minutes ago; now he's cooing, comfortable, well! And what is responsible for the quick, but gentle, transformation? The same harmless, purely-vegetable preparation our mothers used with us—which doctors say is the best thing on earth for its purpose—Fletcher's Castoria!

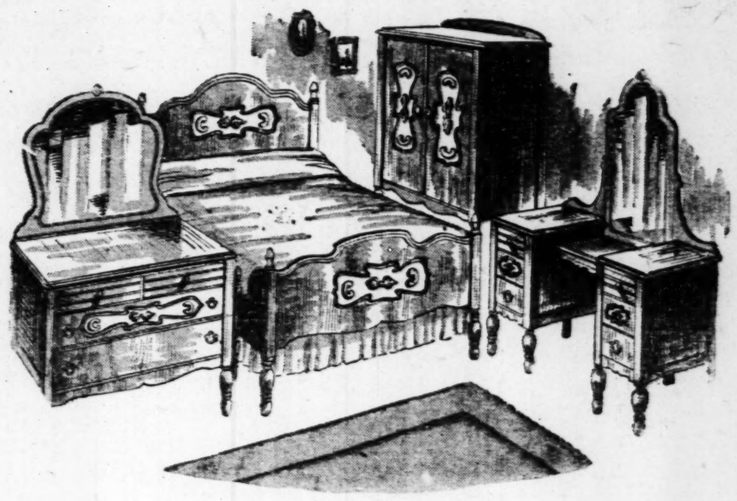

If you are one of the few mothers who haven't found out how Fletcher's Castoria relieves the common ailments, such as colic, gas, constipation, colds, diarrhea, etc.—in babies—and older children, too—you owe it to yourself to try this splendid preparation. Children love it. Twenty million bottles used a year shows its overwhelming popularity.

For your protection against doubtful imitations, the genuine Fletcher's Castoria always bears the facsimile signature of its originator, Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Wreck of the Steamship Vestris, Rescuing Survivors and Some of the Missing Passengers

Carl Schmidt, of Chicago, being saved by life rings thrown from the liner Berlin after he had been 17 hours in the water. Schmidt's head is indicated by arrow.

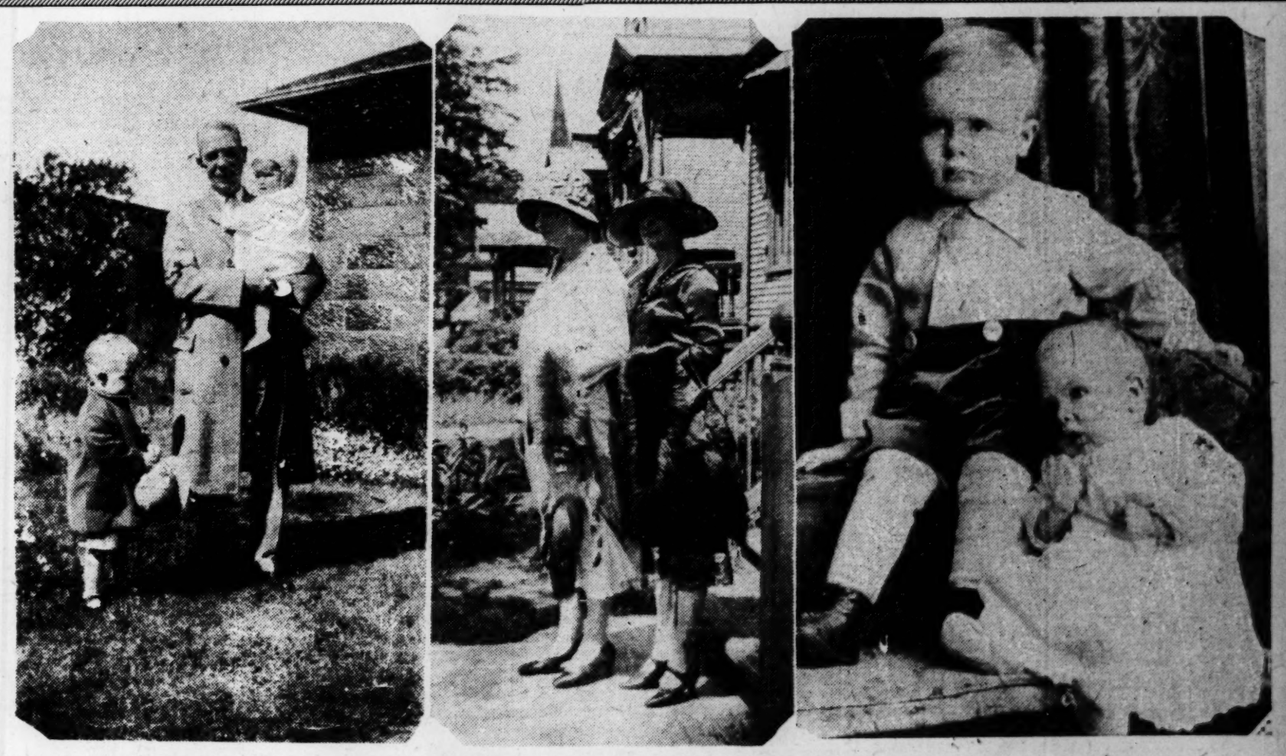

A boatload of the survivors from the sunken ship approaching the liner Berlin, which rescued them. This photograph and the one above were made by a passenger on the Berlin and sent by Associated Press wire to the Post-Dispatch.

The new Woman's Building in the west end of Washington University campus, which will be opened tomorrow. It was built at a cost of $260,000, the funds being raised at "hot dog" stands, rummage sales and individual contributions.

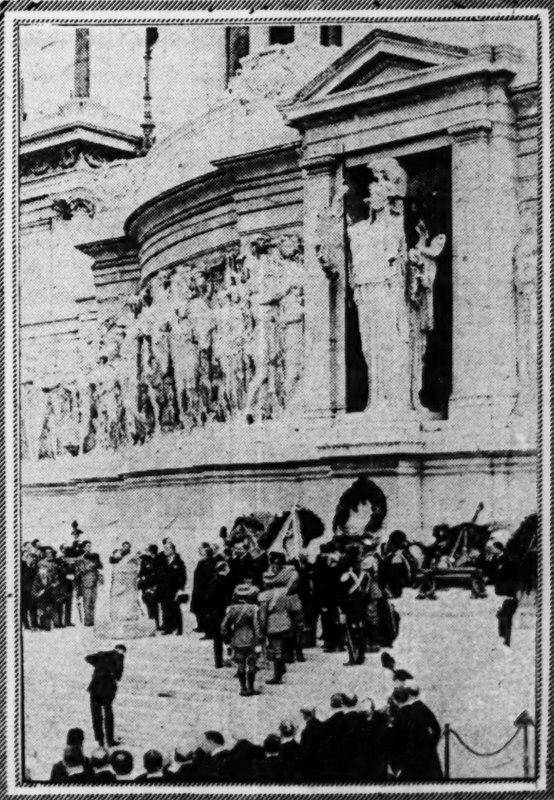

These five persons, above, are among the missing: Mrs. Margaret Daugherty of Philadelphia, aunt of Mrs. Tom Bruce of Mexico, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fletcher of San Francisco, recent visitors in Webster Groves. Earl Devore, Los Angeles, automobile race driver, and Maj. Yosho Inouye, Japanese Consul at Buenos Aires.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wilson and two children, Francis, aged three and Paul aged one, of Peoria, Ill., passengers aboard the ill-fated steamer Vestris. They were bound for Sao Paulo, Brazil, where Mr. Wilson is employed by the Brazilian Telephone Co. The entire family is listed among the missng. Mrs. Wlson is the figure at the left in the center picture above.

BRIDGE
As Played by EXPERTS

FIRST GAME.

THE winter Radio Bridge season opened yesterday afternoon with the broadcasting of the first of the series of Work-Whitehead Radio Bridge Games from Station KSD.

An innovation this year was the discussion by Mr. Work of the bidding of the Radio hand both at Auction and at Contract Bridge, the new form of the game that is becoming so popular all over America. Thus the player who follows the Radio Games will soon have an enviable knowledge of how to bid successfully at Contract.

Participants in the game with Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead were two other New York Bridge authors and players of note, Sidney S. Lenz and Wynne Ferguson.

The hands were: Mr. Work, South, dealer: Spades, 7, 6, 4, 3; Hearts, 9; Diamonds, K, Q, J, 9, 6, 2; Clubs, A, 7. Mr. Whitehead, West: Spades, 10, 9; Hearts, A, K, 10, 7, 3, 2; Diamonds, A, 7, 5; Clubs, K, 4. Mr. Lenz, North: Spades, A, K, 5; Hearts, Q, J, 8, 6; Diamonds, 10, 5; Clubs, Q, J, 9, 3. Mr. Ferguson, East: Spades, Q, J, 8, 2; Hearts, 5, 4; Diamonds, 8, 4; Clubs, 10, 8, 6, 5 2.

The bidding of the hand, at no score, was conventional: — One Diamond by Mr. Work. Dealer, South; one Heart by Mr. Whitehead, West; and one No Trump by Mr. Len, North, who held only two cards of his partner's suit, but had double stoppers in the adverse suit and strength in the remaining two suits. Mr. Ferguson, East, passed, as did also the Dealer on the second round. The Dealer, Mr. Work, did not consider his singleton Heart, a menace to his partner's No Trump, as Mr. Lenz had bid the No Trump directly over the adverse Heart bid. Moreover, Mr. Work's Diamond suit, with a re-entry in the Ace of Clubs, promised good No Trump support.

Mr. Whitehead, West, was strong enough to bid two Hearts, but considered it inadvisable to do so in the face of his partner's pass. He saw no possibility of going game without help from his partner, and he feared that to raise his own Heart bid would impel the opponents to shift from No Trump to a suit bid, probably Spades, at which they might have a better chance for game. Therefore Mr. Whitehead passed, giving the bid to Mr. Lenz, North, for one No Trump.

Mr. Ferguson, East, properly opened his partner's suit, leading the 5 of Hearts, the higher of his two small cards of the suit. Dummy's hand went down, and Declarer played from it the singleton 9 of Hearts. Mr. Whitehead, West, played the King; Declarer the 6. Had Mr. Whitehead played the Ace, he would have denied holding the King. Whereas the play of the King informed his partner that he also probably held the Ace.

The high spot of the play came in Mr. Whitehead's lead to the next trick. From the bidding he inferred that Mr. Lenz, the Declarer, had a double stopper in Hearts; therefore it would be impossible for Mr. Whitehead to establish the suit without giving Declarer two Heart tricks. These two tricks, with five probable tricks from Dummy's Diamonds and Dummy's Ace of Clubs, would leave only one more trick to be produced for game. This additional trick Declarer undoubtedly held in Spades.

Mr. Whitehead, therefore, shifted his plan of defense to a scheme for preventing Declarer from making Dummy's Diamonds. He figured that if he removed Dummy's Ace of Clubs re-entry, he could block the Diamonds by holding up his Ace, unless Declarer happened to hold four Diamonds, which was unlikely.

Therefore, at trick two, Mr. Whitehead, West, led the King of Clubs, sacrificing a sure trick in order to save three future tricks in Diamonds. Declarer played the 3 of Clubs; Mr. Ferguson the 2; and Declarer played Dummy's Ace, as he realized that holding up would merely postpone the loss of the entry one trick.

Declarer could forsee that his Diamonds would be blocked, but figured he could take two tricks, as the holder of the Ace would undoubtedly hold it up as long as possible. Therefore he took his two Diamonds, with Dummy's King and Queen. Mr. Whitehead played the 3 and 7; Declarer the 5 and 10; Mr. Ferguson the 4 and 8.

Declarer now had three tricks, with two more sure tricks in clubs and two in spades in his hand. He could also establish a heart by leading that suit; but he still would lack one trick for game. An extra trick in clubs was possible by a finesse of the 9. Moreover, if the finesse failed, Mr. Ferguson, East, winning the trick with the 10, might make the error of leading another heart, which would give Declarer two tricks in that suit and game.

Therefore Declarer led the 7 of clubs from Dummy; Mr. Whitehead played the 4; Declarer finessed the 9; and Mr. Ferguson won with the 10.

Mr. Ferguson, however, was too wily to fall into the net. He read the heart situation from his partner's failure to continue the suit. He therefore avoided hearts and also the untried spades, and led the 5 of clubs. Dummy played the 2 of diamonds; Mr. Whitehead the 3 of hearts; Declarer the jack of clubs.

Declarer then led the queen of hearts to establish a trick in the suit before losing control of clubs and spades. Mr. Ferguson played the 4; Dummy the 6 of diamonds; Mr. Whitehead won with the ace of hearts.

Mr. Whitehead led the ace of diamonds; Declarer discarded the 5 of spades; Mr. Ferguson the 2 of spades; and Dummy played the 9 of diamonds.

Mr. Whitehead then led the 10 of spades, which Declarer won with the king; Mr. Ferguson played the 8 and Dummy the 3. Declarer led the ace of spades; Mr. Ferguson played the jack, Dummy the 4, Mr. Whitehead the 9. Declarer then took his good queen of clubs and jack of hearts; Mr. Ferguson playing the 6 and 8 of clubs; Dummy the 6 and 7 of spades; and Mr. Whitehead the 2 and 7 of hearts. Declarer's final lead of the 8 of hearts of course was won by Mr. Whitehead's game-saving 10. Declarer, therefore, scored only 20 points for his two tricks. There was no honor score as aces were easy.

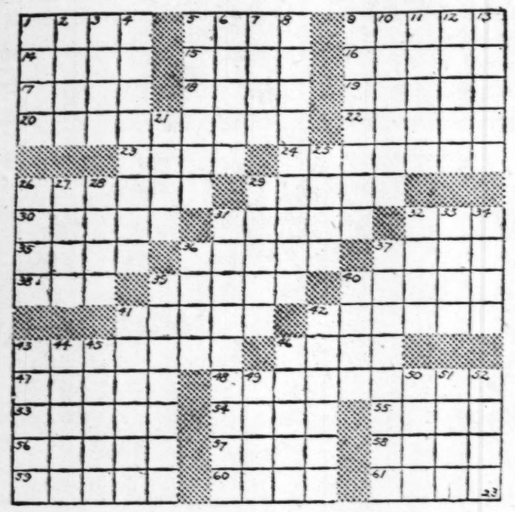

Contrasting the new game of Contract with Auction Bridge, Mr. Work said that the play of a hand, as a general thing, is the same in both games, and the bidding is not so different as many people suppose. The inherent difference is that in Auction Bridge a game may be made, if enough tricks be won, regardless of whether a smaller number were bid; but in Contract a game cannot be made unless the size of the bid is a contract to go game. For instance, a Declarer bidding two Spades and making four tricks would go game in Auction Bridge; in Contract he could score toward game only the two tricks bid. Therefore the bidding at Contract is influenced by the desire to bid game if possible.

In this Radio hand, therefore, the Contract bidding would be one diamond by Declarer, the same as in Auction; but West would bid two Hearts instead of one, to show his partner that he was stronger than a one-Heart bid would indicate, and to urge his partner, if North should pass, to jump the two Hearts to four if possible.

North, however, would bid three No Trumps, a game-going bid he could reasonably expect to make with the help promised by his partner's Diamond bid, and therefore justifiable.

North's three No Trumps probably would obtain the contract, as neither East nor West have sufficient strength to bid further or double. The play at three No Trumps in Contract would be the same as in Auction.

Germs Not Affected by A Good Cry

WEEPING women will receive no encouragement from the United States Public Health Service on the strength of the idea advanced by a British physician that tears are a powerful germicide.

The emotional value of tears is conceded by public health officials here, but they smile at the idea that a lachrymose woman has a better chance of keeping away disease with a "good cry" than her smiling sister.

"Babies get along without shedding tears until they are two months old," says an official of the United States Public Health Service. "If tears were necessary as a germicide, the baby would feel some ill effects from not crying. Bacteriologists connected with our service have not found that tears have any affect in dissolving micro-organisms. Our psychiatrists, however, do concede the value of tears in relieving emotional stress.

"Why tears are shed is a question that has never been fully answered. As a rule, they are connected with baffled rage or extreme sorrow. Tears are supposed to be restricted to human beings, yet there are instances where dogs are said to have actually shed tears."

In an article on the microbe destroying power of tears, the American Medical Journal quotes the belief of Dr. A. Fleming of London and Dr. Nakamura, a German physician, that tears contain lysozyme, one of the most powerful germicides known. Lysozyme is described as a substance present in the tissues and secretions of the body having properties capable of dissolving certain bacteria.

Tears also are supposed to be effective in "washing away" micro-organisms. Their value is enhanced, too, say the British physicians, by their microbe-destroying power.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

THE BOY AND THE GUN.

Things with pain and sorrow fraught
Are often done in name of sport.
—Old Mother Nature.

RUSTY the Fox Squirrel had left behind him the lake on which he had had his great adventure. He was still hunting for a place where there would be promise of food enough to last all winter. He was getting tired of traveling. He had had enough of it. But so far he hadn't been able to find the food supply. So there was nothing to do but to keep on. It certainly had been a bad year for nuts over a great deal of territory.

One morning Rusty came to a little group of trees. It was a little grove. There were hickory trees among them and he found a few scattered hickory nuts. They were the first hickory nuts he had found since he started on his journey. Perhaps you can guess how good they tasted to him. He was sitting up in a tree eating and and so happy that he had forgotten everything but his enjoyment. He didn't hear dry leaves below him rustling. He didn't hear the snap of a dead twig. Spang! Something knocked a nut right out of his paws. Rusty had such a fright that he nearly fell from his perch. Yes, sir, he nearly fell from the branch Rusty was sitting on. He sprang to the trunk of the tree and ran around to the other side. Then he peeped around cautiously.

Down below was a boy; in his hands was a gun.

Down below was a boy. In his hands was a gun. It wasn't one of those dreadful guns that spit fire and make a loud noise. This one made very little noise, but it shot bullets just the same. It was an air-gun—the kind of a gun that boys delight to have.

The boy was peering up excitedly. When he saw Rusty peeping around from behind the trunk of the tree, the boy took careful aim. Spang! The bullet hit the tree right under Rusty's nose. You should have seen him dodge back. This time he scrambled higher and tried to hide in the treetop. The boy walked around below. Every time he caught a glimpse of Rusty he would put that gun to his shoulder. Spang! would come a bullet. Poor Rusty! He tried another tree. The boy and the dreadful rifle followed him. You see, in hope of those trees was there a hollow big enough for a Fox Squirrel to hide in. The only thing he could do was to keep the trunk of the tree between him and the boy with that horrid gun.

At last, when Rusty was near the top of the tallest tree, one of those bullets hit him. My, how it did sting! It tore his coat so that he bled just a little. It wasn't anything serious, but it was painful. That is the trouble with those air-rifles. There was small chance that at that distance a bullet would kill Rusty, but bullets could sting and hurt at that distance, as Rusty had already found out.

After that, Rusty was more careful than ever to keep the trunk of the tree he happened to be in between himself and the boy. He had to peek around to keep watch of that boy and, of course, every time he did this he took some chance. One of those bullets might hit him in the eye. Poor Rusty! He was badly frightened. The place where he had been hit ached. He couldn't see any chance to escape. It really was very dreadful for Rusty.

Meanwhile, the boy was having a wonderful time. He imagined himself a mighty hunter. Every time he made a good shot, he was mightily pleased with himself. Yet that boy wasn't a hard-hearted boy. He was just a thoughtless boy. He didn't understand. It didn't occur to him that a squirrel would feel pain just as he would. He didn't think of Rusty as suffering dreadful fright as well as pain. He, himself, was having sport, and that was all he thought of.

CHOOSING

Care Must Be Taken to Avoid Disharmony in the Ensemble and Individual Models Are Often Necessary for Chic Effect.

By MARIE CHRISTIANE.
(Marquise di San Carlos and Mrs. Julia Thompson)

PARIS.

THE choice of a winter hat is a very different matter from deciding upon a hat or hats to go with summer frocks. In the latter case becoming simplicity is all that is required in nine cases out of ten.

On the winter hat depends the whole question of real chic. Winter is a time when the prettiest and most soignee of us are apt to get caught with a red nose occasionally, so we give up the thought of mere prettiness and settle down to questions of the sculptural qualities of the head outline when allied to the all-conquering fur collar, and the achievement of outstanding chic allied to as much becomingness as we can manage.

For the time being we will discuss the cloche. Whatever else is in fashion the cloche hat always survives competition. Other hats may be newer, but certain very chic women find the cloche more becoming than any other shape. They may have the brim a little wider one side than the other as this year; they may pull its curves forward over the face to give it the semblance of a bonnet outline. In fact they will cheat in terms of nomenclature, but they always remain faithful to the cloche because it suits them best. Also it is undefeatable for sports wear, as are the sweater and skirt. In that category it has become classic, so it requires no further discussion.

SO much for the cloche. Now let us turn to the hats that are really new. For reasons of practicability the winter hats are small. There is no doubt that during the years that have passed since the war women have made tremendous strides in taste. They no longer choose the different items of their wardrobe haphazardly—a hat because it becomes them, a bag because it is pretty, a pair of shoes because they are original.

Now they study their ensemble as a whole. It is the only safe thing to do when all articles of dress are as costly as present economic conditions make them. Women simply cannot afford to have failures, for to insist upon wearing an unbecoming hat or dress just because it was expensive might ruin one's whole career, and few of us, fortunately, are sufficiently foolhardy to risk such disaster.

When choosing their ensemble some women build round their dresses, making accessories of all kinds subservient, spending hours matching materials for hats and shoes, seeing that gloves and stockings are just the right tone, choosing the right jewelry, and so on. They are quite right. That is how you get successful results.

Some women, however, especially women with particularly beautiful faces, consider the hat the most important part of the ensemble, choose that on individual lines that are becoming to their type and adapt the rest of their outfit to accompany the hat. In other words they mold fashion to suit themselves without becoming its slave.

OF COURSE women of this type make the modiste's life much more difficult, but also much more interesting. It is no longer possible for us to produce one or two models and say: "This is the fashion for this season. You must take these models or be out of the picture." On the contrary, there is so much variety that many of the hats that are designed in the Marie Christiane salons never appear as models to be copied. Our fitters make them directly on the heads of our clients, deciding upon certain details as they turn and twist the felt in front of the mirror. When the hat is charming, which we believe is nearly always the case, we should like to repeat it. But there are always so many women ordering ten, fifteen, twenty hats that we have very little time to produce models to hang on the stands in the salons.

Indeed, the secret of the truly becoming hat is that it should be inspired by the physiognomy of the client. True, there are certain dominating inspirations that decide the general line each season. This winter we have the choice of two main types—the toque and the beret, with the former in a great variety of forms easily first favorite.

The toque, or brimless hat, is bound to be a trump card in the winter, because the increasing height of fur collars makes brims a nuisance. But the toque of this season is very different from the skull cap of last year. It has a number of methods of introducing something that will pass as a brim but that clings caressively to the outline of the head and gives it the necessary small silhouette that is essential to good proportions.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT WINTER HAT IS A DIFFICULT TASK

Care Must Be Taken to Avoid Disharmony in the Ensemble and Individual Models Are Often Necessary for Chic Effect.

OF COURSE women of this type make the modiste's life much more difficult, but also much more interesting. It is no longer possible for us to produce one or two models and say: "This is the fashion for this season. You must take these models or be out of the picture." On the contrary, there is so much variety that many of the hats that are designed in the Marie Christiane salons never appear as models to be copied. Our fitters make them directly on the heads of our clients, deciding upon certain details as they turn and twist the felt in front of the mirror. When the hat is charming, which we believe is nearly always the case, we should like to repeat it. But there are always so many women ordering ten, fifteen, twenty hats that we have very little time to produce models to hang on the stands in the salons.

Indeed, the secret of the truly becoming hat is that it should be inspired by the physiognomy of the client. True, there are certain dominating inspirations that decide the general line each season. This winter we have the choice of two main types—the toque and the beret, with the former in a great variety of forms easily first favorite.

The toque, or brimless hat, is bound to be a trump card in the winter, because the increasing height of fur collars makes brims a nuisance. But the toque of this season is very different from the skull cap of last year. It has a number of methods of introducing something that will pass as a brim but that clings caressively to the outline of the head and gives it the necessary small silhouette that is essential to good proportions.

WING pieces of a symmetrical design curve down over the cheek and give allure and mystery to the little close-fitting toque. Then there is a hint of Directoire in some of the style brims that are rolled up in front and curve out moderately at the sides.

One of the characteristics of the season is the infinite variety of the materials used. We have a new ironed Austrian velour that is just like astrachan in its effect. This is used with a plain velour rolled-up brim in a toque. Then there is plain felt with large irregular dots of self color with an Angora surface. This is particularly effective for sports hats. Another kind of ironed velour that is reserved exclusively to Marie Christiane has a kind of laurel leaf appearance with the surface worked diagonally in opposite directions.

Hats are trimmed with flat fur, such as breitschwantz on black felt, when they are worn with a breitschwantz coat. Here we have the emphasis of the ensemble idea.

A beret may be made of felt or cloth to match the coat it accompanies, and there are also instances when the beret is made of flat fur like shaved lamb, caracul or astrachan.

In some seasons hats match the fur with which a dress ensemble is trimmed. This winter we are very sober and restrained in our effects and the hat matches the ground color of the ensemble. Black is by far the most fashionable of all ensemble colors and it is so frequently trimmed either with black astrachan or black caracul or breitschwantz that black hats are more frequently seen than any others.

THE contrasting hat is confined exclusively to sports ensembles. Many women like a note of bright color on the golf links in the winter months, and a red hat with scarf and sweater to match brightens up a beige or gray sports suit and looks quite delightful. When a colored ensemble is chosen for town wear, however, the hat matches it as if it were dyed in the same vat. One of the most successful colored ensembles we have completed with a matching hat is one in elephant mole cloth made by Cheruit for the Baronne de Styrcea. The hat is of Austrian velour, cut with a charming curved line on the forehead, twisted and draped in such a manner that although the general head silhouette is clearly defined the hat is far from being a sample stock shape and has much character. It is finished with a tiny bow of the velour on the right side.

It cannot be too often repeated that the only certain means of having really becoming hats, suited to the face and personality of the wearer, is to have them made on the head of the client. That is why we never try to launch a special hat and say: "This is the Marie Christiane success of the season." Nearly all our hats are different. They may have a certain basic idea, but this idea is modified and altered on each client as she comes to try on her hat.

There are certain shapes, especially those on cloche lines, that suit all Anglo-Saxon types of beauty. We always make a certain number of these, but our aim this season, and one which we have hitherto achieved with no small measure of success, is to make hats that bear the unmistakable hallmark of Paris—hats with character and originality and yet showing that restraint that is nine-tenths of the secret of distinction which is one of the chief qualities the real elegante demands when she orders her hats from the grande modiste.

(Copyright, 1928.)

—Numbers of the smartest women in Paris have ordered this original hat in plain taupe felt which has a slightly cloche brim in front while the back is turned sharply up passing under a fold in the crown.

—This hat of black taupe felt, with soft crown, has the taupe brushed into a rough surface while the upturned brim is smooth. A tiny black satin bow forms the only trimming.

—The striped velour taupe is used again with great effect in this semi-Directoire toque made for Mrs. Rice, formerly Miss Marcella Duggan, daughter of the Marchioness Curson of Kedleston.

—Black taupe ironed into an astrakhan pattern is used for this pretty draped toque worn by the Marquise San Carlos, who founded the house of Marie Christiane.

This delightful toque outlines the head in a becoming manner, and the low-cut drapery on the right side coming up in a tiny tab through a fold in the crown gives it great originality.

—This original hat of black taupe felt is ironed into stripes by the nap being pushed in opposite diagonal directions. The plain brim rolls up in front.

—This delightful toque of beige chenille is flexible and light in weight as well as very becoming. Its only trimming is a knot of beige velvet that holds up the folds on left.

—The charm of the asymmetrical brim is demonstrated cleverly by Marie Christiane in this brown felt hat that is trimmed with a swathed band of velvet in light and dark brown checks. A flat fur trimming can be adapted on the same hat.

CARING FOR THE BABY

By Claire Morton

THE PERFECT BABY IS THE ACTIVE BABY

IT IS never necessary to give a baby exercise in order to develop his muscles. Nature has so arranged things that, given the opportunity, a baby will strengthen his own muscles as he needs them.

A healthy child is in constant activity. He opens and shuts his hands, stretches his arms, moves them this way and that, until finally he can get his hands into focus, and plays with his fingers for hours at a time. He begins to move his head to one side and then to the other, learning to use his neck. In time he finds it is strong enough for him to hold up his head without aid.

His legs are constantly flexing and stretching until he can bring his toes into view. Playing with them he develops his thighs and knees and torso. It won't be long before he tries to crawl. In crawling he learns to make use of his feet. Soon he will make the first attempt to bear his weight upon them. Shortly he will stand precariously, holding tightly to the bars of his bed or play pen. Then comes the thrilling moment when he takes his first step.

In order to be able to make the most of this activity, the baby must never be cramped by the smallness of his bed, nor by the clothing and covering in which fond mothers love to swaddle their infants.

A bassinet has its uses when a baby is tiny. But it should never be used beyond the time when the child has grown too long for it. He may be able to lie comfortably so long as he doesn't stretch out his legs. But as soon as he shoots them out in spasms of energy, he jolts his whole body with the impact of his heels on the end of the bed. It won't take him long to realize this. Soon he will restrain his energy as much as possible. It is never good to deprive a baby of the desire to exercise.

A baby's clothes should never cramp him. Tight nightgowns, long close-fitting petticoats, weighty covers are taboo. Short dresses and petticoats, wide sleeping bags, covers of the lightest weight possible allow a child freedom to move.

During his airing in a carriage a baby should be as free to move as it is possible within the limitations of the carriage space. Never—even for the sake of looking well—should he be covered with unnecessary coverlets.

In summer, after the baby is six weeks old, he should be accustomed gradually to riding in his carriage without any cover of any sort on him. He should lie flat. Babies who are propped up by pillows long before their backs are strong enough to sit up without too great a strain not only grow weary in the cramped position, but are hampered from moving freely. Lying flat, his airing will be no more wearing than if he were resting in his own bed.

Winter or summer, a child should never be kept so warm that he grows too weak and listless to move.

Science Finds Reducer For Over-Fat People

By Dr. Theodore Beck

Scientific minds have delved into the secrets of the ductless glands of the human body, and some are so bold as to declaim that with the further study of this subject man or woman can be thin or fat, ugly or beautiful, dull or brilliant, old or youthful, etc. One outstanding fact is that obesity (over-fatness) can often be controlled when we know that one of the important glands of the body is causing the abnormal fleshiness. Impaired secretions of the thyroid gland does cause many to become quickly fat. By supplying this element, aiding the process of nature, as it were, many pounds of superfluous fat can be banished.

I confidently recommend five grain Arbolone tablets as a home remedy (non-secret as to ingredients) to those men and women who wish to reduce successfully.

I print by permission some of the letters I regularly receive from those who rejoice when free from the embarrassing, annoying condition.

If directions are followed there are no harmful results from the use of Arbolone. The formula on the package may be submitted to your own physician.

Reduced 10 Pounds in Two Weeks

Dear sir: "I have followed directions, and lost 10 pounds in two weeks, thanks to Arbolone tablets. Please send me your Health and Beauty Book." (Signed) Mrs. Geo. H——, —— St. Clair St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Did Not Gain After Reducing

"Most of all, I thank you for the benefit I have received from the use of Arbolone Tablets. I reduced from 138 to 125 pounds. Then I quit taking them for two weeks to see if I would regain. I did not gain an ounce. Am taking them again to reduce to 115 pounds." (Signed) Mrs. W. L. S——, St. Joseph, Mo.

Now Has Better Health.

"It is with great pleasure that I tell you of the benefit derived from Arbolone. I am reduced to the desired weight as well as enjoying better health. Very truly," (Signed) Mrs. H. F ——, El Dorado, Ark.

Lost 35 Pounds—New Way.

DETROIT, MICH., Mrs. T. H.—, —Dix Ave., writes: "I am more than pleased with Arbolone Tablets. I have taken other medicine, but never had any good results. I weighed 230 when I started to take Arbolone Tablets. I am down to 195 and expect to lose more. The tablets do not harm me in any way. Etc."

On sale at Wolff-Wilson's and all good druggists.

REMOVE MAKE-UP with PALM and OLIVE OILS

The surest way to combat coarse skin, blemishes, blackheads. These beauty oils embodied in a true complexion soap

HERE is a way to make washing your face an actual beauty treatment. Women are amazed at the softness of their skin, by the fine texture of their pores, as a result of this complexion habit.

If the skin is regularly cleansed each day—if make-up and grime are thoroughly removed—natural charm results. The most effective means to do this, in gentle safety to the skin, is by daily use of Palmolive Soap.

Its rich, luxurious lather embodies two famed beauty oils—the oil of olive and the oil of palm. They gently penetrate and cleanse the pores when applied in the following way and keep your skin radiantly clear, gloriously soft and charming:

Each night wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive. With your two hands massage the magic lather of its oils into your pores, cleansing them thoroughly. Then rinse, first with warm, then cold, water. Dry by gently patting with a soft towel. Add a little cold cream for dryness, perhaps, but that is all.

Remember—always remove make-up before you sleep. If left on it dries skin, fills pores and brings unsightly blemishes and blackheads. Always use Palmolive. 10c a cake, everywhere.

Swiss Women Protest Disrespect Toward Sex

ADVERTISEMENTS which portray women in costumes extra-negligee have encountered the ire of Swiss feminist organizations.

Six or more associations have addressed a public protest to the newspapers decrying the increasing habit of representing women in newspapers or in shop windows in a state of semi-nudity. They hold that it strikes a blow at the dignity of womanhood and is demoralizing to the youth of the country.

"A nation is strong only in proportion to its morality," says the protest, which urges the imposing of a boycott on stores, newspapers and magazines which persist in showing lack of respect to womanhood.

This Cream Insures Lasting Make-Up

No truly smart woman likes to be constantly applying rouge and powder after she leaves her dressing table. Nor need she! Black and White Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream holds make-up on for hours with natural beauty.

This quickly-vanishing cream leaves an invisible film of protection which prevents the darkening, coarsening effect of weather, softens and whitens the skin and enhances beauty.

Black and White Beauty Creation are of a quality acceptable to those who seek the best, at prices within the reach of all —25c and 50c.

A Good Indian

BY E. J. RATH

INSTALLMENT XXV.

LOST—ONE GIRL, TWO TEMPERS.

He seized one of her wrists.

YES, we will, too," declared Cassie. "You've been wanting her ever since you set eyes her. I don't blame you; she's a girl and she could do a lot se than you. Well, if you want the thing to do is to go after You won't get her by waiting her to come to you."

ostpone the request, anyhow, Louis. I'm not going to get hurt; I can handle myself—and him."

He nodded reluctantly; he was quite sure of that.

Yet he did not like the business any better because of it.

"How long will it take to get out of the woods?" she asked, changing the subject abruptly, now that she appeared to have had her way for a while.

"Depends on which way we go. There's a short route, but some of it is rough going."

"The way that Pierre and I came in?"

"No; it's even shorter than that. But it has a lot of portages; one of them is nearly four miles long, over a mountain. It's a dog's job."

"Everybody has to turn to and work, I suppose?"

"Absolutely."

"That would mean Putnam, too?"

"I had that in mind," he admitted.

"Then let's go that way," said Cassie, promptly. "I'd love to see him work."

Louis produced his tattered map and showed her the three different routes back to Deepwater Station. She asked many questions and they talked for several minutes, consulting as seriously as though Cassie herself were an expert whose opinion was a matter of value. She noticed another crumpled paper in his hand; it had come out of the pocket along with the map.

"Another map?" she asked, casually, knowing that it was not.

He appeared to notice it for the first time.

"Oh, that's nothing," he answered, thrusting it hastily back into his pocket. He wore a faint air of embarrassment, having sensed that she had seen it.

But Cassie had identified it. It was a piece of stationery from the office of Biggs and Biggs.

"What's he carrying my letter around for?" she wondered to herself. "He's a queer duck."

She asked him no questions about it, however. The conference came to an end when they heard the voice of Mrs. Putnam calling:

"Oh, Louis! Please come here a minute."

As he turned to go, Cassie said in a low tone:

"Am I still fired, Louis?"

"You're reinstated," he laughed. "That is, if you'll withdraw your resignation."

"Withdrawn," she said, with alacrity. "It seems good to be back on the payroll."

Active Half a Century In Christian Endeavor

MRS. BETTY CRAIG, 70 years old, of Shreveport, La., widow of a Christian minister, has been a member of the Christian Endeavor society for 47 years.

Among the first churches to organize an Endeavor society was the First Christian church of Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Craig was an attendant of that church and became a charter member of its young people's organization nearly half a century ago.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope.

R. S.—There are no official requirements to become a public stenographer. If you are a good stenographer as you say, the main requirement is to find a location where there will be plenty of work offered you. Advertising is a help in any location.

MANY WORKERS AND INVALIDS.—It is suggested that you file complaint with the circulation department of the newspaper concerned. The selling effort you complain of is probably regarded as a necessary service, but it is also probable that it is not necessary that it be carried to the lengths of annoyance you complain of. If you will write and give your location in a complaint to the circulation department of the Post-Dispatch, effort will be made to correct the cause of the complaint.

O. J. L.—Dr. Hugo Eckener, president of the Zeppelin works, was in command of the ZR3 (later the Los Angeles) when the dirigible was brought from Germany to America. Capt. George W. Steele, later in command, was on board. Dr. Anton Heinen helped in the design of the ZR1 (the Shenandoah) built by the United States Navy, and the navy also had the recommendations of outside technicians appointed by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. Accounts of the time do not mention anyone as supervising the building, other than the United States Navy. 3. Capt. Heinen was in command of the Shenandoah when she broke away from a mooring mast at Lakehurst in 1924, ad was piloted back after nine hours.

E. J. G.—To say what states were wet at the time Congress voted to submit the eighteenth emendment to the state legislatures, Dec. 17, 1917, one would have to have a definite meaning for the word "wet." Liquor sales were regulated by license only, in the following: Indiana, Missouri, Montana (which had a prohibition law passed, effective in 1919), Nevada, New Mexico (the Legislature was pledged to statewide prohibition at the time), New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah (Legislature pledged to statewide prohibition), Wyoming. The other states were dry, or wet, in degrees ranging from statewide prohibition to local option in various sections. 2. Barring the recent election, none of the Southern states went Republican in the last 10 elections, if you mean Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association)

MACK JR.—You have been legally married in marrying the young woman under the name she gave.

DEMOCRAT.—Consult a lawyer, as your liability in the case depends on various facts and circumstances.

F. H. M.—Write to a lawyer at the county seat of the Indiana county. If you do not know the name of any lawyer, write to the County Recorder at the county seat and ask him to give you the names of lawyers.

J. D. R.—Ordinarily you would not be liable in the case of injury to a roofer from falling off your house.

FAITHFUL.—You could put the person you say is a pauper in jail for slander, if it was a criminal slander. 2. You could not, through court action, collect damages from a firm or individual who sues you for a bill that you have paid.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

JACK.—Itching of the feet such as you mention should be relieved by this powder: Powdered alum, 5 grains; naphthol, 5 grains; borax, 10 grains; powdered starch, 10 grains; salicylic acid, 3 grains; violet talcum powder, 60 grains. Mix, and dust on the feet night and morning, after they have been held in water as hot as can be borne comfortably and dried thoroughly. Have a change of socks daily, and wear properly fitting shoes to avoid any possible irritation.

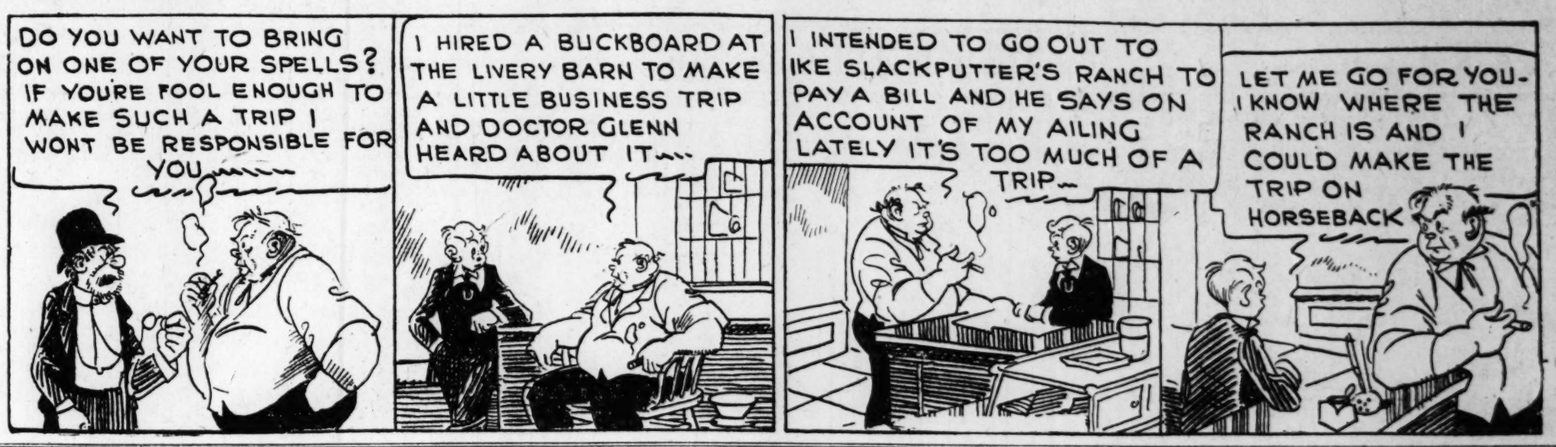

S. R.—For sciatica, or neuritis, such as you mention, the application of heat, local and general, is recommended. Experience and long observation has shown it to be the most reliable remedy. It is not possible to have it administered properly at home in the systematic use of hot water and vapor baths, electric light rays, current, etc. Apply to an institution properly equipped for this, such as the hydrotherapeutic department of Barnes Hospital.

E. J. W.—Ringing in the ears may be caused by blocking the eustachian tube which leads from the back part of the nasal cavity into the middle ear cavity. This blocking may be caused by a catarrhal condition, or other causes. Ringing might also be due to disturbed circulation of the blood, hardening of arteries, etc. Have a competent specialist examine the ear. Examination will be made and treatment given free of charge at the city dispensary or clinics of the large hospitals, such as Barnes, St. Mary's and others. If in need of the names of specialists, send a stamped, addressed envelope for these.

W. B. M.—A change of climate, involving as it does, change of scene, surroundings, food, mode of life, exercise, etc., is almost always helpful in the kind of trouble you have, as in others. Arizona and New Mexico would furnish a more uniform and a warmer climate than ours in the coming winter. This would permit more outdoor life for you, more sunshine and exercise, all of which should prove beneficial in your case. In connection with what you say about medicine having little effect, you may find that caroid and bile salts is better for you than purgatives. It is taken in five-grain tablets, one after meals three times daily, or two at bedtime. You should have systematic outdoor exercise, regular habits and plenty of sleep.

A Bank Surplus Won't Meet a Body Deficit

MONEY may do many things but only sleep will nourish your nerves and sound nerves require regular nightly deposits of sleep. Regardless of what you may be willing to invest in efficient rest the IDEAL SPRING is within your easy reach—waiting to give you, at little cost, finer spine support, and better nerve nourishment than the most costly of bedsprings. There's a very logical reason why. Our pamphlet, "The Common Sense of Sleep", explains it. Write for your copy.

The Distinguishing Marks of The Genuine Foster Ideal Spring

(1) The Foster trade mark on the top of the spring, (2) 99 super tempered extra tall spirals, (3) flexible band center supports—not tie wires, (4) a swedged bar foundation—not cut bars, (5) an interlocked lateral spring-tied top, (6) a handsome enamel finish.

The Foster Ideal is made in St. Louis and sold at most furniture and department stores

Two Black Crows

By CHARLES MACK.

Moran: Is you goin' to call on the NEW president?
Mack: Boy, I aint called on th' OLD one yet.
Moran: What's that got to do with it? COOLIDGE ain't president no more.
Mack: If you don't think so, try to get a BILL through Congress.
Moran: I thought the new head man was down there.
Mack: No, Coolidge is the head man.
Moran: What's the new president?
Mack: He's just a SPARE TIRE.
Moran: When DOES the new head man take charge?
Mack: He goes down in March when the weather gets bad.
Moran: Say, I don't understand this politics business.
Mack: I guess you don't. If BRAINS was SILK, you'd be a RAG DOLL.
Moran: Well, that ain't gettin' me no TURKEY for THANKSGIVIN'.
Mack: Boy, you certainly is gettin' choice on your birds. You is asking for TURKEY when you ain't even up to SPARROWS.

STEWART LOSES FIGHT TO BAR STORY OF BONDS

Court Overrules Objection of Defense to Admitting Oil Man's Testimony at Inquiry in April.

SENATOR NYE IS U. S. WITNESS

Says Defendant Was Not Under Oath, but Judge Rules Session of Committee Was Continuous.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Over the protest of the defense in the perjury trial of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, Justice Jennings Bailey today permitted testimony given by the oil man to the Senate Public Lands Committee last April 24 to go before the jury.

With Senator Nye of North Dakota on the stand, Government counsel brought up the April meeting, when Stewart had disclosed that $759,600 of the Continental Trading Co. bonds had been received by him and turned over to as trustee. The Court inquired whether Stewart had been sworn on that occasion, as he was on Feb. 2 and 3, when it is charged that he perjured himself in denying knowledge of any distribution of bonds by the company.

"No, he was not," said Nye, explaining that it was not the custom to swear Senate committee witnesses when they appeared a second time.

The objection of Frank J. Hogan, defense counsel, against admission of the April testimony was overruled by the Court. Justice Bailey took the position that the April meeting was a continuance of those of February and it was not necessary to swear Stewart a second time.

With this, the Government excused Nye temporarily for the introduction into evidence of corrections to be made in the printed record of Stewart's April testimony to make it conform with the stenographic report taken then. Reading of the record of Stewart's testimony then was resumed.

Elliott Thurston of the New York World and Paul Y. Anderson of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, both testified that they had heard Stewart deny knowledge of the distribution of the Continental Company bonds.

Then Government counsel examined Roy J. Barrett, tax commissioner for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, about the trust agreement reached between him and Stewart in November, 1921, regarding the $759,000 of bonds the oil man had sent by H. H. Osler, president of the Continental Company, from the profits made by that company. He said Stewart had personally drawn up the agreement after telling him he wanted the money so taken care of until he had decided whether it should properly go to his company or to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co.

NEW HEAD OF Y. M. C. A. QUITS ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

F. W. Ramsey of Cleveland Says He Is Not in Accord With Its Political Practices.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 15.—Fred W. Ramsey, newly appointed general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has severed his connection with the Anti-Saloon League because, he said, he is not in accord with that organization's political practices.

The Cleveland philanthropist announced last night that he recently sent a letter canceling his membership and his position on the Executive Committee of the Dry Maintenance League, local branch of the Anti-Saloon League. Ramsey said he believed that other organizations for the furtherance of prohibition were now accomplishing and would accomplish more than the league.

George C. Southwell, secretary of the Dry Maintenance League, said Ramsey's resignation had not been accepted.

CITY COMMISSION MEETS IN AIR

By the Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Nov. 15.—The Beaumont City Commission, headed by the Mayor and City Manager, held a session yesterday in the cabin of a monoplane while the plane was 1200 feet above the city. Creation of a 240-acre airport was discussed and a resolution calling for the purchase of the tract was read.

Legality of an official session above the city has been established, the city attorney said, by court rulings that city limits extend above the corporation as well as on the earth's surface.
